Livres hebdo, 2009 The Last Orphan Train Mike Lapinski, 2014-10-28 Clint Henley's atonement began on a sultry Chicago night in 1937 when a cherry red Ford coupe eased to the curb at Maxwell Street's infamous Runaway Central George Yustice eyed his prey through the windshield as two frightened young girls edged closer Yustice leaned across the seat and said Hey girls ya wanna But the words died in his throat as the windshield exploded and he gaped at the powerfully built young man axe in hand a berserk look in his eye And Yustice was never seen again Optimists claimed he probably left town in a hurry that night while pessimists smirked that he probably ended up in a nearby rendering vat But Clint wasn't always a raving maniac Once he was innocent and loving a momma's boy But when his mother died the bewildered lad was discarded by a callous stepfather to an orphanage where his life became a nightmare He desperately sought to escape aboard one of the last Orphan Trains headed West even allowed himself to hope for a good family Instead he got a monster And it built in him a seething anger that exploded into a rage so great that he could not forgive himself for the vengeance he'd wrought but God did Orphan Train Trials Rachel Wesson, 2019 Bella Jones and Kathleen Collins are as close as sisters and that's how they want things to stay But fate intervenes Kathleen's brothers have disappeared they traveled from New York on the Orphan Train and nobody has heard from them since She can't shed her gut feeling something awful has happened to them She goes looking for them but is she prepared for what she will find Twins Megan and Eileen Doyle have lost so much already Bella can't let them travel on the Orphan Train alone She must confront her fears and deal with her past Can she keep the girls safe or will they too fall victim to abuse Both Bella and Kathleen are tested in ways they never dreamed possible Will Justice prevail and allow both girls to get their happy ever after Or is the cost simply too high

Children of the Orphan Trains Holly Littlefield,2001-01-01 Recounts the experiences of abandoned orphaned or homeless children from city orphanages in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries who were sent out by the trainload to find families that would adopt them or take them as workers Bridie's Daughter Robert Noonan,2011-07 From 1854 to 1929 more than 200 000 homeless children left New York City on orphan trains to find new lives across the country Some found loving homes others experienced physical and mental abuse Bridie's Daughter brings that world to life in this second novel in Robert Noonan's Orphan Train Trilogy Bridie's Daughter is an eye opening tale that follows four teen aged children who are filled with hope concern and uncertainty as they ride the rails to an unknown future Once the train stops however it's a roll of the dice where they'll each end up Bridie McDonald a wealthy spinster finds in Catherine the daughter she has always wanted Catherine learns to love Bridie and her new elegant home but is concerned about Bridie's relationship with Jack her mentally challenged handyman Though most of the citizens of Newberry Illinois befriend these children some are not so welcoming believing all the orphans from New York City are bastards and should be treated as such Orphan Train James Magnuson,Dorothea Petrie,1979-12 The Orphan Train Trilogy Jane Peart,1990 In 1890 three 8 year old orphan girls head west on the Orphan Train Laurel Toddy and Kit go to live in Meadowridge The Orphan Train Trilogy Jane Peart,Dreams of a longing heart,Quest for lasting love,Homeward the seeking heart,1990 In 1890 three 8 year old orphan girls head west on the Orphan Train Laurel Toddy and Kit go to live in Meadowridge Orphan Train Magnuson,1980-05-01 Orphan Train James Magnuson,Dorothea G. Petrie,1978 Abandoned Michael Keene,2017-04-29 The history of orphanages in New York and the Orphan Train Movement The Orphan Train John Furia,1979 Last Train Home Renée Wendinger,2014-10 A Dickensian novella based on true life facts and characters regarding the largest mass migration of children known as the orphan trains History culture and geography celebrate the survival of these children by weaving the individual stories of two children into triumph over tribulation building strength of mind and character into an incredible reserve The Orphan Train Shirley Dummer,2006-02-01 The Orphan Train Movement Charles River Charles River Editors,2017-01-07 Includes pictures Includes accounts of the Orphan Trains written by kids in the program Includes online resources and a bibliography for further reading The Orphan Trains were needed at the time they happened They were not the best answer but they were the first attempts at finding a practical system Many children that would have died lived to have children and grandchildren It has been calculated that over two million descendants have come from these children The trains gave the children a fighting chance to grow up D Bruce Ayler By the middle of the 19th century New York City's population surpassed the unfathomable number of 1 million people despite its obvious lack of space This was mostly due to the fact that so many immigrants heading to America naturally landed in New York Harbor well before the federal government set up an official immigration system on Ellis Island At first the city itself set up its own immigration registration center in Castle Garden near the site of the original Fort Amsterdam and naturally many of these immigrants who were arriving with little more than the clothes on their back didn't travel far and thus remained in New York Of course the addition of so many immigrants and others with less money put strains on the quality of life Between 1862 and 1872 the number of tenements had risen from 12 000 to 20 000 the number of tenement residents grew from 380 000 to 600 000 One notorious tenement on the East River Gotham Court housed 700 people on a 20 by 200 foot lot Another on the West Side was home incredibly to 3 000 residents who made use of hundreds of privies dug into a fifteen foot wide inner court Squalid dark crowded and dangerous tenement living created dreadful health and social conditions It would take the efforts of reformers such as Jacob Riis who documented the hellishness of tenements with shocking photographs in How the Other Half Lives to change the way such buildings were constructed While the Melting Pot nature of America is one of its most unique and celebrated aspects the conditions also created a humanitarian crisis of sorts In the 19th century child labor was still the norm especially for poor families and no social welfare systems were in place to provide security for people As a result if a child was abandoned or orphaned they were at the mercy of an ad hoc system of barely tolerable orphanages with little to no centralization Minorities and immigrants were also discriminated against on the basis of ethnicity and religion Into this issue stepped the Children's Aid Society led by Charles Loring Brace who determined he could improve abandoned kids' futures by helping relocate them further to the West which would also help Americans settle the frontier By coordinating with train companies Brace was able to transport dozens of children at a time to places in the heartland of America or further out west where they would end up in new homes decades before the existence of foster care Genealogist Roberta Lowrey a descendant of one of these orphans noted that the situations for many of those on the Orphan Trains were vastly different but in all the system worked Many were used as strictly slave farm labor but there are stories wonderful stories of children ending up in fine families that loved them cherished them and educated them They were so much better off than if they had been left on the streets of New York They were just not going to survive or if they had their fate would surely have been awful In time the success of the system led to coordination between dozens of agencies across multiple cities including Boston and Chicago helping move thousands of endangered children from the East Coast to other parts of the nation Nearly 1 000 children were being transported a year at the height of the program which lasted into the 1920s
