War and Displacement in the Twentieth Century

Sandra Barkhof,Angela K. Smith,2014-03-14 Human displacement has always been a consequence of war written into the myths and histories of centuries of warfare However the global conflicts of the twentieth century brought displacement to civilizations on an unprecedented scale as the two World Wars shifted participants around the globe Although driven by political disputes between European powers the consequences of Empire ensured that Europe could not contain them

Soldiers traversed continents and civilians often followed them or found themselves living in territories ruled by unexpected invaders Both wars saw fighting in Europe Africa the Middle East and the Far East and few nations remained neutral Both wars saw the mass upheaval of civilian populations as a consequence of the fighting Displacements were geographical cultural and psychological they were based on nationality sex gender or age They produced an astonishing range of human experience recorded by the participants in different ways This book brings together a collection of inter disciplinary works by scholars who are currently producing some of the most innovative and influential work on the subject of displacement in war in order to share their knowledge and interpretations of historical and literary sources The collection unites historians and literary scholars in addressing the issues of war and displacement from multiple angles Contributors draw on a wealth of primary source materials and resources including archives from across the world military records medical records films memoirs diaries and letters both published and private and fictional interpretations of experience

Modern English War Poetry Tim Kendall, 2006-07-20 Modern English War Poetry ranges widely across the twentieth century incorporating detailed discussions of some of the most important poets of the period It emphasizes the influence of war and war poetry even on those poets usually considered in other contexts such as Ted Hughes and Geoffrey Hill
