Tropical Babylons Sugar And The Making Of The Atlantic World 1450 168:

Tropical Babylons Stuart B. Schwartz, 2004 Tropical Babylons explores the early development of the sugar industry across the Atlantic world using case studies from Iberia Brazil islands of the Caribbean of the Atlantic itself to illustrate the differences in technology plantation management the social consequences of the sugar revolution Tropical Babylons Sugar and the Making of the Atlantic World, 1450-1680 Stuart B. Schwartz, 2022 The Apocalypse of Settler Colonialism Gerald Horne, 2018-03-12 Account of of the slave trade and its lasting effects on modern life based on the history of the Eastern Seaboard of North America the Caribbean Africa and what is now Great Britain Merchants and Trading in the Sixteenth Century Jeroen Puttevils, 2015-10-06 Sixteenth century Europe was powered by commerce Whilst mercantile groups from many areas prospered those from the Low Countries were particularly successful This study based on extensive archival research charts the ascent of the merchants established around Antwerp Inflamed Rupa Marya, Raj Patel, 2025-09-23 Raj Patel the New York Times bestselling author of The Value of Nothing teams up with physician activist and co founder of the Do No Harm Coalition Rupa Marya to reveal the links between health and structural injustices and to offer a new deep medicine that can heal our bodies and our world The Covid pandemic and the shocking racial disparities in its impact The surge in inflammatory illnesses such as gastrointestinal disorders and asthma Mass uprisings around the world in response to systemic racism and violence Rising numbers of climate refugees Our bodies societies and planet are inflamed Boldly original Inflamed takes us on a medical tour through the human body our digestive endocrine circulatory respiratory reproductive immune and nervous systems Unlike a traditional anatomy book this groundbreaking work illuminates the hidden relationships between our biological systems and the profound injustices of our political and economic systems Inflammation is connected to the food we eat the air we breathe and the diversity of the microbes living inside us which regulate everything from our brain s development to our immune system s functioning It s connected to the number of traumatic events we experienced as children and to the traumas endured by our ancestors It s connected not only to access to health care but to the very models of health that physicians practice Raj Patel the renowned political economist and New York Times bestselling author of The Value of Nothing teams up with the physician Rupa Marya to offer a radical new cure the deep medicine of decolonization Decolonizing heals what has been divided reestablishing our relationships with the Earth and one another Combining the latest scientific research and scholarship on globalization with the stories of Marya s work with patients in marginalized communities activist passion and the wisdom of Indigenous groups Inflamed points the way toward a deep medicine that has the potential to heal not only our bodies but the world The ^A Boundless Sea David Abulafia, 2019-09-16 A sweeping history of the world through its oceans and seas and their interconnections Africans in East Anglia, 1467-1833 Richard Maguire, 2021 What were the lives of Africans in provincial England like during the early modern period How where and when did they arrive in rural counties How were they perceived by their contemporaries This book examines the population of Africans in Norfolk and Suffolk from 1467 the date of the first documented reference to an African in the region to 1833 when Parliament voted to abolish slavery in the British Empire It uncovers the complexity of these Africans historical experience considering the interaction of local custom class structure tradition memory and the gradual impact of the Atlantic slaving economy Richard C Maguire proposes that the initial regional response to arriving Africans during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries was not defined exclusively by ideas relating to skin colour but rather by local understandings of religious status class position ideas about freedom and bondage and immediate local circumstances Arriving Africans were able to join the region s working population through baptism marriage parenthood and work This manner of response to Africans was challenged as local merchants and gentry begin doing business with the slaving economy from the mid seventeenth century onwards Although the racialised ideas underpinning Atlantic slavery changed the social circumstances of Africans in the region the book suggests that they did not completely displace older more inclusive ideas in working communities

The Caribbean and the Atlantic World Economy Adrian Leonard, D. Pretel, 2016-01-12 This collection of essays explores the inter imperial connections between British Spanish Dutch and French Caribbean colonies and the Old World countries which founded them Grounded in primary archival research the thirteen contributors focus on the ways that participants in the Atlantic World economy transcended imperial boundaries

The Sugar Industry and the Abolition of the Slave Trade, 1775-1810 Selwyn H. H. Carrington, 2002 Selwyn Carrington analyzes the complex state of the British West Indian economy at the end of the 18th century crucial years for the Caribbean colonies and the slave trade Drawing on a wealth of primary materials from plantation records and estate day books to correspondence among plantation owners merchants and overseers his book presents a detailed portrait of an economic system in decline for 30 years prior to the British abolition of the slave trade Carrington explores planter flight lack of investment in the older sugar islands and failed attempts to rationalize sugar production and to reduce sugar imports to England He marshals an abundance of statistical evidence to trace other factors in the shift from one slave system to another such as trade relations debt crises hired labor management techniques and local and foreign sugar markets and their impact on the slave trade slavery and the British West Indian economy He concludes that with the arrival of what Eric Williams called mature capitalism the sugar colonies once at the core of the Atlantic economy became irrelevant to the new economic life and their labor system in the eyes of British policy makers and political commentators became a millstone to be cast off Utilizing primary material and statistical data never before presented Carrington provides a rich source for those interested in the Caribbean economy between the American Revolution and the Industrial Revolution His study will also add a meticulous and insightful chapter to the history of the Atlantic slave trade and its demise
