3. In the first paragraph of the book, the class is over. What is the subject?

The last class of my old professor's life took place some a week in his house, by a window in the study where he could watch a small hibiscus plant shed its pink leaves. The class was on Tuesdays. It began after breakfast. The subject was The Meaning of Life. It was taught three repetitions.

4. How many students were in Morrie's last class? What would the final graduation ceremony be?

A funeral was held in time of graduation. Although no final exam was given, you were expected to produce one long paper on what was learned. That paper is presented later. The last class of my old professor's life had only one student. I was the student.

"The Spleen"

5. Morrie's "death sentence" was pronounced in the summer of '84. How did Morrie know that something really bad was happening to him? What did he have to stop doing?

His death sentence came in the summer of 1984. Looking back, Morrie knew something bad was coming long before that, the leave in the day he gave up dancing.

6. On page 11, Morrie's bodily functions quickly deteriorated. Was he embarrassed all the time, or was he open and even light-hearted about his problems? Did he quit seeing visitors? What was the thing he feared the most about his illness?

He was not embarrassed. Very light-hearted and happy. He kept seeing visitors. When Koppel asked, did Morrie dread the most about his slow, hellish decay? Morrie passed. He asked if he could say this while being on television. Koppel said go ahead. Morrie looked straight into the eyes of the most famous interviewer in America. "Well, hell, one day even, someone's gonna have to wipe my ass."

7. On pages 12-13, Morrie had a special ceremony or gathering with a lot of his friends and family. What was this special event, and how did Morrie and the invited guests handle it?

Sunday afternoon, he was joined in his home by a small group of friends and family for a "living funeral." Each of them spoke and paid tribute to my old professor. Some cried. Some laughed. One woman read a poem:
