Turkey S Water Policy Turkey S Water Policy:

Turkey's Water Policy Aysegul Kibaroglu, Waltina Scheumann, Annika Kramer, 2011-08-19 Water is a strategic natural resource of vital importance to all nations As such it has been the cause of several international disputes For Turkey especially water is crucial to social and economic development Turkey s current national water regime that emphasises water resources development and management for productive uses however faces growing environmental concerns and international criticism regarding transboundary water cooperation Furthermore EU accession requires Turkey to adopt an extensive and ambitious body of EU water law To understand Turkey s position to international water law the national policies and socio economic circumstances that impact water resources management need to be considered This book fills the existing knowledge gap through a broad perspective and analysis of the current state of Turkey s water policy and its management of both national and transboundary waters It is a unique undertaking that brings together Turkish and international authors practitioners and academics covering all aspects of water management Irrigation in the Mediterranean François Molle, Carles Sanchis-Ibor, Llorenç Avellà-Reus, 2019-05-09 Mediterranean irrigation is diverse due to among other factors the relative importance of water in the economy of each country varied levels of aridity heterogeneous levels economic social and technological levels of development and differences in political and social organization However most of the Mediterranean countries face similar problems to meet their water demands because of the scarcity and variability of renewable resources growing water requirements from non agricultural sectors increasing environmental concerns related to water quality and environmental degradation a social demand for larger public participation and important technological changes The time has come to reconsider the not one drop lost to the sea philosophy of yesteryears largely and to live within limits This book focuses on eight selected countries Tunisia Morocco Spain France Italy Turkey Israel and Egypt and provides a comparative perspective that both thoroughly explores their specificities and identifies the common challenges faced by the irrigation sector in these countries The book has been written at a critical moment when the continued application of a supply side water management model is revealing its unsustainable nature in numerous places when significant technological changes are taking place in the irrigation sector when new forms of management and governance are widely held as badly needed and finally when climate change is compounding many of the difficulties that have characterized irrigation policies and practices in the past decades This complicated future context makes Mediterranean irrigation face various political dilemmas on water management raising social tensions triggering territorial and land conflicts and stimulating new technological developments This book provides a timely analysis of the particular trajectory of eight Mediterranean countries in these uncertain transformations and attempts to identify the best strategies to avert or overcome future risks

Turkey-Syria Relations Özlem Tür, 2016-02-17 In 1997 Turkey and Syria were on the brink of war engaged in a very real power struggle Turkey was aligned with Syria s main enemy Israel and there were seemingly intractable differences on the issues of borders the sharing of river waters and trans border communities In less than a decade relations were transformed from enmity to amity Border issues and water sharing quarrels were moving towards amicable settlement and the two states policies toward the Kurdish issue converging Turkey undertook to mediate the Syrian Israeli conflict and close political and economic relations were developing rapidly between the two states Yet with the Syrian Uprising relations returned to enmity What explains these remarkable changes Given that Turkey and Syria are two pivotal states in the region what are the implications of this changing relationship for the international politics of the Middle East the balance of power and regional stability In this internationally collaborative work co edited by Raymond Hinnebusch and zlem T r British Syrian and Turkish scholars address these questions and examine the various domestic and international drivers in this key regional relationship They discuss what theories best help us understand these seismic realignments and explore the impact of economic interdependence identity changes and power balances on the evolving relationship between these two key regional powers

Evolution of Dam Policies Waltina Scheumann,Oliver Hensengerth,2014-03-11 The World Commission on Dams WCD report 2000 Dams and Development A New Framework for Decision Making set a landmark in the ongoing controversy over large dams Now that more than ten years have passed one has to realize that the WCD norms matter However their real chance of becoming implemented relies on whether their core values strategic priorities and guidelines are accepted by national decision makers and are translated into official policies and practices The book s major concern is whether the big hydropower states have improved their standards for environment and resettlement and whether international standards are applied or exist only on paper The introductory and synthesis chapters present the methodological approach and discuss the findings Other chapters analyze changes in dam policies in the big hydropower states Brazil China India and Turkey the role of non governmental organizations in advocating against the Turkish Ilisu Dam project on the Tigris River the strategies of International Rivers and World Wildlife Fund for Nature in the global hydropower game the policies of the German government and its positioning in the dam debate and the engagement of Chinese actors in building the Bui Dam Ghana and the Kamchay Dam Cambodia

Sustainability of Engineered Rivers In Arid Lands Jurgen Schmandt,Aysegül Kibaroglu,Regina Buono,Sephra Thomas,2021-09-16 This interdisciplinary volume examines how nine arid or semi arid river basins with thriving irrigated agriculture are doing now and how they may change between now and mid century The rivers studied are the Colorado Euphrates Tigris Jucar Limar Murray Darling Nile Rio Grande S o Francisco and Yellow Engineered dams and distribution networks brought large benefits to farmers and cities but now the water systems face multiple challenges above all climate change reservoir siltation and decreased water flows. Unchecked they will see reduced food production and endanger the economic livelihood of basin populations. The authors suggest how to respond to these challenges without loss of food production, drinking water or environmental health. The analysis of the political, hydrological and environmental conditions within each basin gives policymakers, engineers and researchers interested in the water sustainability nexus a better understanding of engineered rivers in arid lands. Turkey's Water Diplomacy Aysegül Kibaroglu, 2025-04-15

Turkey's Water Diplomacy presents the legal and institutional foundations of Turkey's water diplomacy within its historical and geographical contexts. It analyses the evolving position of Turkey vis-à-vis the international water law. Delineating actors and processes in transboundary water policy making, Turkey's Water Diplomacy utilizes the Water Diplomacy Framework in making policy relevant recommendations for tackling future challenges in Turkey's water diplomacy. Turkey's Water Diplomacy Aysegül Kibaroglu, 2021-02-15. Turkey's Water Diplomacy delineates the institutional and legal foundations of transboundary water policy making in Turkey, paying special attention to the evolution of transboundary water politics in the Euphrates-Tigris river basin. The book also analyses how Turkey's harmonization with the European Union has impacted the transboundary water policy discourses and practices and how these changes have been reflected in its relations with its Middle Eastern neighbours. Turkey was one of the three countries that rejected the UN Watercourses Convention in 1997. Yet since the voting of the convention there have been changes in Turkey's stance vis-à-vis international water law, which the book studies. Turkey's water diplomacy embodies complex water management problems which can be best understood as a product of competition, feedback and interconnection among natural and societal variables in a political context. Hence the book adopts the Water Diplomacy Framework with its key elements in making policy relevant recommendations specifically for Turkey's water diplomacy. Turkey's Water Policy as Part of the Political Strategy Hayk Gabrielyan, 2024-03-26

This book investigates water issues in the Euphrates-Tigris basin between Turkey, Syria and Iraq/Iran. It presents the importance of water in the world and especially for the countries of the Euphrates-Tigris basin, the water resources of the three riparian countries, their advantages and disadvantages, the amount of reservoir construction in the three riparian countries, their water disagreements and conflicts, international water law. The importance of water in the Ottoman period is presented, the evolution of Turkey's water policy in the 20th and 21st centuries, the connection and interdependence of Turkey's water policy with its foreign and domestic policies are shown in detail. Separate reference is made to non-state actors such as the Kurds of Turkey, Syria and Iraq. The work emphasizes that Turkey is a unique country in the world with its water policy in the Euphrates-Tigris basin; no other country is able to use water in such a multi-purpose way to achieve various goals. Turkey World, 1927. International Labour Documentation.
