Inducing Immunity? Roland Pierik,Marcel Verweij,2024-03-26 Why immunization must be made mandatory in times of vaccine hesitancy and how we can design and implement immunization policies in a practical trustworthy and democratic way We live in perilous times when a significant number of citizens are either defiantly antivaccination or hesitant to accept vaccinations for themselves or for their children In Inducing Immunity legal philosopher Roland Pierik and bioethicist Marcel Verweij explore ways to regulate collective immunization in as democratic a manner as possible Approaching the problem as a matter of a conflict between the responsibility of government to protect public health and the basic right to freedom of citizens Pierik and Verweij argue that John Stuart Mill s harm principle the idea that individuals should be free to act so long as their actions do not harm others offers a strong basis for coercive immunization policies Covering childhood immunization policies as well as vaccination programs aimed at adult citizens the authors argue that a coercive immunization policy in any liberal democracy must first satisfy the principle of proportionality This leads them to an in depth exploration of the role of exemptions the nature of coercion and the contents of vaccination programs In the final part of the book the authors also discuss the importance and scope of freedom of speech given how the current spread of misinformation has undermined confidence in vaccines Offering an in depth analysis in bioethics and legal philosophy Inducing Immunity is a sensible and applicable guide for health professionals policymakers and academics alike on how we can and must do better with our immunization policies

CIOMS guide to vaccine safety communication Council for International Organizations of Medical Sciences (CIOMS),2018-05-05 The CIOMS Guide to Vaccine Safety Communication provides an overview of strategic communication issues faced by medicines regulators those responsible for vaccination policies and programmes and other stakeholders when dealing with the launch of newly developed vaccines for the first time to market the introduction of current or underutilized vaccines into new countries regions or populations and the handling of any new safety issue arising during the life cycle of a vaccine Sourcing from existing guidance documents and compiling recommendations relevant from a regulatory perspective the Guide provides a common ground in a way that has not been achieved otherwise at global level The Guide stresses the fundamental importance of regulatory bodies having a system in place with skilled persons who can efficiently run vaccine safety communication in collaboration with stakeholders It presents information and examples with colour coding for quick access to three levels of guidance and offers a CIOMS template to use to create a Vaccine Safety Communication Plan In 2017 the CIOMS Working Group on Vaccine Safety WG issued a report CIOMS Guide to Active Vaccine Safety Surveillance Guide AVSS offering a practical step by step approach and a graphic algorithm to aid immunization professionals and decision makers in determining the best course of action when confronting such challenges This new CIOMS Guide to Vaccine Safety Communication stemmed from topic group 3 of the same WG which brought together in a unique forum pharmacovigilance specialists and other experts from regulatory and public health authorities the World Health Organization and academia as well as manufacturers in emerging and industrialized countries It presents recommendations for vaccine safety communication with a specific focus on regulatory bodies A number of communication guidance documents already exist for immunization programmes covering how to manage communication when an adverse event occurs Few have thus far been issued addressing the specific needs of regulatory bodies whether they be established authorities in high income countries or developing authorities in resource limited countries Little has been published for these groups in relation to communication about risks uncertainties safety and safe use of the vaccine products they license This CIOMS report aims to fill this gap
