Negotiating Hospitality Emily Höckert, 2018-05-11 How do hosts and guests welcome each other in responsible encounters This book addresses the question in a longitudinal ethnographic study on tourism development in the coffee cultivating communities in Nicaragua The research follows the trail of development practitioners and researchers who travel with a desire to help teach and study the local hosts On a broader level it is a journey exploring how the conditions of hospitality become negotiated between these actors The theoretical approach bases itself on the ethical subjectivity as responsibility and receptivity towards the other The ideas put forward in the book suggest that hospitality responsibility and participation all require a readiness to interrupt one's own ways of doing knowing and being This book provides a conceptual tool to facilitate reflection on alternative ways of doing togetherness and will be of interest to students and researchers of hospitality tourism development studies cultural studies and anthropology

Steel and Steelworkers John Hinshaw, 2012-02-01 Steel and Steelworkers is a fascinating account of the forces that shaped Pittsburgh big business and labor through the city's rapid industrialization in the mid nineteenth century its lengthy era of industrial maturity its precipitous deindustrialization toward the end of the twentieth century and its reinvention from hell with the lid off to America's most livable post industrial city Hinshaw examined a wide variety of company union and government documents oral histories and newspapers to reconstruct the steel industry and the efforts of labor business and government to refashion it A compelling report of industrialization and deindustrialization in which questions of organization power and politics prove as important as economics Steel and Steelworkers shows the ways in which big business and labor helped determine the fate of steel and Pittsburgh
