Truth And Reconciliation Commission Of South Africa Report 2:

Truth and Reconciliation in South Africa Hugo van der Merwe, Audrey R. Chapman, 2008-02 Of the truth commissions to date the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC has most effectively captured public attention throughout the world and provided the model for succeeding bodies Although other truth commissions had preceded its establishment the TRC had a far more expansive mandate to go beyond truth finding to promote national unity and reconciliation to facilitate the granting of amnesty to those who made full factual disclosure to restore the human and civil dignity of victims by providing them an opportunity to tell their own stories and to make recommendations to the president on measures to prevent future human rights violations

Truth and Reconciliation in South Africa Lyn S. Graybill, 2002 Graybill mind and human interaction U of Virginia provides students not only the facts about the South African Truth and Reconciliation Commission but also the broader context in which it operated She asks whether it led to reconciliation and healing what criteria were used to decide whether to pardon or punish whether politics necessitated the compromise and other questions Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Post-TRC Prosecutions in South Africa Ole Bubenzer, 2009-10-31 After the transition to democracy in 1994 South Africa implemented an innovative scheme at the Truth and Reconciliation Commission granting perpetrators conditional amnesty It essentially calls for the prosecution of those who did not receive amnesty for the crimes they committed during the apartheid conflict This book provides the first comprehensive analysis of prosecutions after the amnesty process Drawing on interviews with key protagonists and largely unpublished documents the volume analyses trials and the political background It scrutinises the issue in the normative framework of national and international human rights law and addresses whether the prosecutions were adequately carried out The study thus allows a concluding evaluation of the justice and consistency of South Africa s internationally acclaimed amnesty process

Healing the Wounds Marie-Claire Foblets,Trutz von Trotha,2004-10

In recent decades the world has experienced the rise of so called low intensity conflicts Unlike conventional wars these very bloody armed conflicts are no longer the affair of state governments and their armies In their place appear police like armed units security services and secret services groups and organizations of religious political and social fanatics ready to resort to violence militias bands of mercenaries or just gangs of thugs led by the condottiere of the 21st century consisting of militant charismatics militia generals drug barons and warlords of various kinds They conduct wars in which the soldiers no longer wear uniforms and there is no meeting of armies in open battle The armed organizations fight in urban agglomerations and in difficult inaccessible regions The combatants fight for religion and quasi religious ideologies for the rights of the people or national liberation for power gain and booty and above all for recognition For the practice of peace this kind of war has far reaching consequences In this book the authors examine various paths to peace and reconciliation in low intensity conflicts They look at processes of peace making from South Africa and the North of Mali to Indonesia and South East Asia Common to most studies is that they stress the particular local contexts of peace making tied to the highly localized nature of most low intensity conflicts The logic of peace has become a logic of local and regional power The articles shed new light not only on ways and chances of interventions by the international community but also on the role of nongovernmental organisations in violent conflicts

History, Memory, and State-Sponsored Violence Berber Bevernage,2013-02-14

Modern historiography embraces the notion that time is irreversible implying that the past should be imagined as something absent or distant Victims of historical injustice however in contrast often claim that the past got stuck in the present and that it retains a haunting presence History Memory and State Sponsored Violence is centered around the provocative thesis that the way one deals with historical injustice and the ethics of history is strongly dependent on the way one conceives of historical time that the concept of time traditionally used by historians is structurally more compatible with the perpetrators than the victims point of view Demonstrating that the claim of victims about the continuing presence of the past should be taken seriously instead of being treated as merely metaphorical Berber Bevernage argues that a genuine understanding of the irrevocable past demands a radical break with modern historical discourse and the concept of time By embedding a profound philosophical reflection on the themes of historical time and historical discourse in a concrete series of case studies this project transcends the traditional divide between empirical historiography on the one hand and the so called theoretical approaches to history on the other It also breaks with the conventional analytical philosophy of history that has been dominant during the last decades raising a series of long neglected big questions about the historical condition questions about historical time the unity of history and the ontological status of present and past programmatically pleading for a new historical ethics

The Aftermath of the Cassinga Massacre Vilho Shigwedha, 2017-04-03 It took the former South African Defence Force SADF less than four hours to kill more than eight hundred Namibian refugees at Cassinga on May 4 1978 Thousands of survivors were left with irreparable physical and emotional injuries The unhealed trauma of Cassinga a Namibian civilian camp in southern Angola before the massacre is beyond the worst that the victims of the attack experienced on the ground Unacceptable layers of pain and suffering continue to grow and multiply as the victims grievances and other issues arising out of the aftermath of the massacre have been ignored particularly following Namibia's political independence In this book the afterlife of the victims traumatic memories and their aspiration for justice vis vis the perpetrators enjoyment of blanket impunity from prosecution in spite of their ongoing denial of killing and maiming innocent civilians at Cassinga are explored with the aim to create public awareness about the unfortunate circumstances of the Cassinga victims

Guarantees of Non-Repitition in International Human Rights Law and Transitional Justice

Nita Shala, 2024-06-07 This book examines the understudied yet increasingly applied concept of Guarantees of Non

Repetition under international human rights law and transitional justice Guarantees of Non Repetition GNRs are measures taken to ensure that human rights abuses do not recur They are especially crucial in post war contexts marked by severe and systematic violations However although they are increasingly invoked GNRs are not well understood and they have so far received only limited theoretical and practical analysis Tracing their development to the influence of international human rights law this book considers what GNRs are how and why they have come about and how GNRs are implemented Through an explication of the history law and jurisprudence of GNR s in regional mechanisms in Latin America Europe and Asia as well as in international bodies the book maintains the increasing importance and as yet unfulfilled potential of this legal obligation in transitional justice settings This first book to analyse the development of GNRs and their application will appeal to scholars in the areas of law and transitional justice public policy and socio legal studies as well as lawyers and policy makers working in post conflict situations

Agency and Ownership in Reconciliation Caitlin Mollica,2024-04-01 The importance of youth s substantive participation for the realization of inclusive reconciliation practices has rarely been acknowledged Agency and Ownership in Reconciliation provides a comprehensive nuanced and empirical account of the contribution of young people s voices to the success of transitional justice and peacebuilding practices Caitlin Mollica illustrates the role of political will and agency in the development of transitional justice mechanisms that are substantively inclusive of those traditionally marginalized by post conflict institutions most notably youth In doing so she highlights the importance of youth to lasting peace and meaningful justice She does so by looking specifically at how truth and reconciliation commissions from South Africa to the Solomon Islands engage with the voices of youth and the meanings youth self ascribe to their experiences during truth and reconciliation commission processes In a field which traditionally prioritizes stories about youth Agency and Ownership in Reconciliation looks to center stories by youth

Trading Justice for Peace? Sigríður Guðmarsdóttir,Paulette Regan,Demaine Solomons,2022-03-01 Conflict in its various manifestations continues to be a defining feature in many places throughout the world In an attempt to address such conflict various forms of a Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC have been introduced to facilitate the transition from social conflict to a new dispensation The introduction and subsequent proceedings of TRCs in South Africa Canada and Norway are widely regarded as good examples of this approach Against this background a number of researchers from VID Specialized University and the University of the Western Cape had an exploratory meeting in Oslo in 2018 where the possibility for a joint research project under the broad theme of discourses on reconciliation was first discussed This led to two further research symposia in Cape Town and Troms in 2019 With the inclusion of specialists working on the Canadian Truth and Reconciliation process these meetings demonstrated common ground and a shared understanding of the issues at stake Moreover it pointed to the differences between the South African Canadian and Norwegian Commissions In comparing the South African Canadian and Norwegian experiences researchers identified that these countries were in fact at different stages of their respective truth and reconciliation processes This has prompted scholars to revisit and problematise these processes in relation to ongoing societal challenges In all cases it is quite apparent that reconciliation between individuals and groups remains a significant challenge
