Williams,Tony Evans,Moorhead Wright,1993 This reader has been assembled in response to increasing dissatisfaction among a growing number of international relations scholars with the currently dominant theory of realism as well as in recognition of the large number of newly independent states which are having to write new constitutions and develop foreign relations The book includes excerpts and essays from political theory and international relations which provide a starting point for further study of these subjects It draws together writings representing two distinct traditions and demonstrates their interconnections In political theory excerpts are drawn from classical texts which have an important bearing on problems of international relations In international relations the collection includes essays which have had a seminal influence on the development of this discipline That Dangerous Figure Joseph E. Riehl,1998 The English poet Charles Lamb 1775 1834 stimulates reactions that often lie outside the boundaries of literary criticism reactions that are often motivated by ideological cultural or political concerns He poses particularly difficult even unanswerable questions that often provoke intemperate anger or great affection in readers Historically the first critical misunderstanding of Lamb is to see him as a radical later he is canonized a domestic saint in the 1930s he is a reactionary bourgeois More recently he is understood as a conscious artist first by New Critics as a transcendent optimist then in the post structuralist version as a tormented soul creating his artifice out of the limitations of human life This study a comprehensive history of reactions to Lamb proposes that perhaps Lamb is a literary trickster who delights in raising just those contradictions of modern life which those who attempt a systematic style of criticism would like to ignore The Church in the Long Eighteenth Century David Hempton, 2011-09-16 David Hempton's history of the vibrant period between 1650 and 1832 engages with a truly global story that of Christianity not only in Europe and North America but also in Latin America Africa Russia and Eastern Europe India China and South East Asia Examining eighteenth century religious thought in its sophisticated national and social contexts the author relates the narrative of the Church to the rise of religious enthusiasm pioneered by Pietists Methodists Evangelicals and Revivalists and by important leaders like August Hermann Francke Jonathan Edwards and John Wesley He places special emphasis on attempts by the Spanish Portuguese French Dutch and British seaborne powers to export imperial conquest commerce and Christianity to all corners of the planet This leads to discussion of the significance of Catholic and Protestant missions including those of the Jesuits Moravians and Methodists Particular attention is given to Christianity's impact on the African slave populations of the Caribbean Islands and the American colonies which created one of the most enduring religious cultures in the modern world Throughout the volume changes in Christian belief and practice are related to wider social trends including rapid urban growth the early stages of industrialization the spread of literacy and the changing social construction of gender families and identities
