Time in Africa David Price, 2023-07-21 Time in Africa Flying and Fun from 1963 to 1983 covers 20 amazing years of David Price's life as a pilot working primarily in Africa. Although filled with personal adventures and humorous anecdotes, Time in Africa is much more than an autobiography. It is also an amazing glimpse of a time in aviation before computerized flight controls and when some older planes were still made of plywood and canvas. Having flown planes such as a DC3, Dove, Comet 4, Viscount, B737, and B707, the author shares stories of near-disaster, having to make mechanical repairs and adjustments while flying, including once with a fire, ax, and landing and taking off in the desert without a runway. Adding further interest to these stories is the setting: Libya, Kenya, Tanzania, Uganda, Cameroon, Zambia, Guinea, and Nigeria in their early days of independence post-colonization. A natural storyteller, David portrays what life was like in Africa both for the privileged Whites and the native Blacks, along with providing insight into the politics and attitudes of the time. From starting an airplane with car batteries strapped to a baggage trolley to having to put out a charcoal fire started in the aisle of a plane to brew a cup of tea, it is clear that there were few dull moments during David's time as a pilot in Africa. It is also evident that he enjoyed every minute there, as will his readers, as he takes them back to an amazing place in an interesting time.

Predicasts F & S Index International Annual, 1989 Panics Without Borders Gregory Mitchell, 2022-09-13 We are living in a time of great panic about sex trafficking, an idea whose meaning has been expanded beyond any real usefulness by evangelicals, conspiracy theorists, anti-prostitution feminists, and politicians with their own agendas. This is especially visible during events like the FIFA World Cup and the Olympic Games when claims circulate that as many as 40,000 women and girls will be sex trafficked. Drawing on extensive fieldwork in Brazil, as well as interviews with sex workers, policymakers, missionaries, and activists in Russia, Qatar, Japan, the UK, and South Africa, Gregory Mitchell shows that despite baseless statistical claims to the contrary, sex trafficking never increases as a result of these global mega-events, but police violence against sex workers always does. While advocates have long decried this myth, Mitchell follows the discourse across host countries to ask why this panic so easily embeds during these mega-events. What fears animate it? Who profits? He charts the move of sex trafficking into the realm of the spectacular: street protests, awareness-raising campaigns, telenovelas, social media, and celebrity spokespeople, where it then spreads across borders. This trend is dangerous because these events happen in moments of nationalist fervor during which fears of foreigners and migrants are heightened and easily exploited to frightening ends. West Africa, 1977 Predicasts F & S Index, 1989 Crash Landing Christopher Brown, 2009 This is the inside story of the collapse of Guinness Peat Aviation in the early 1990s. White Supremacy, Racism and the Coloniality of Anti-Trafficking Kamala Kempadoo, Elena Shih, 2022-09-15 Global efforts to combat human trafficking are ubiquitous and reference particular ideas about unfreedom, suffering, and rescue. The discourse has, however, a distinct racialized legacy that is lodged specifically in fears about white slavery, women in prostitution, and migration, and the defilement of white womanhood by the criminal and racialized Other White Supremacy Racism and the Coloniality of Anti Trafficking centers the legacies of race and racism in contemporary anti trafficking work and examines them in greater detail A number of recent arguments have suggested that race and racism are not only visible but vital to the success of contemporary anti trafficking discourses and movements The contributors offer recent scholarship grounded in critical anti racist perspectives that reveal the historical and contemporary racial working of anti trafficking discourses and practices globally and how these intersect with gender citizenship sexuality caste and class formations and the global political economy
