Diski,2011-01-01 What does novelist essayist and memoirist Jenny Diski know about animals She wasn't really sure as she began to write this book and she may not be sure now But of this she is certain our relationships with and attitudes toward animals are really worth thinking about In What I Don't Know About Animals she shows why Diski sets out on her wide ranging investigation by remembering the stuffed cuddly creatures from her childhood the animal books she read the cartoons she watched the strays she found She considers the animals who have lived and still live with her most especially Buntie the cat animals she has encountered close up and those she has feared She examines human beings too and how they have looked at studied treated and written about the non human creatures of our shared planet Ranging still further the author interviews scientists discusses Derrida and his cat and observes elephants in Kenya always seeking the key to the complex relationship we in the modern West have with animals Subtle intelligent and always engaging this book is a brilliant exploration of what it means to be human and what it means to be animal and the uncertainty of what we can know about either Haida Monumental Art George F. MacDonald,2011-11-01 The Haida of the Queen Charlotte Islands in British Columbia constructed some of the most magnificent houses and erected some of the most beautifully carved totem poles on the Northwest Coast During the last quarter of the nineteenth century images of the Haida's immense cedar houses and soaring totem poles were captured first on glass plates and later on film by photographers who travelled to then remote villages such as Masset and Skidegate to marvel at and record what they saw there Haida Monumental Art initially published as a limited edition hardcover and now available in paperback includes a large number of these remarkable photographs selected from a collection of over 10 000 original prints and photographic plates They depict the Haida villages at the height of their glory and record their tragic deterioration only a few decades later As well this edition contains the complete text from the first edition including site plans and detailed descriptions of fifteen major villages and several smaller sites which are catalogued by house and pole By combining archeology and ethnohistory George MacDonald presents an integrated framework for understanding the physical structure of a Haida village He explains how the houses and poles are part of a fascinating web of myth family history and Haida cosmology which provides a unique insight into Haida culture Animals,1906 The Revised Statutes, Codes and General Laws of the State of New York New York (State),1901
