Why Punish How Much A Reader On Punishment:

Why Punish? How Much? Michael H. Tonry, 2011 Punishment like all complex human institutions tends to change as ways of thinking go in and out of fashion Normative political social psychological and legal ideas concerning punishment have changed drastically over time and especially in recent decades Why Punish How Much collects essays from classical philosophers and contemporary theorists to examine these shifts Michael Tonry has gathered a comprehensive set of readings ranging from Kant Hegel and Bentham to recent writings on developments in the behavioral and medical sciences Together they cover foundations of punishment theory such as consequentialism retributivism and functionalism new approaches like restorative communitarian and therapeutic justice and mixed approaches that attempt to link theory and policy This volume includes an accessible introduction that chronicles the development of punishment systems and theorizing over the course of the last two centuries Why Punish How Much provides a fresh and comprehensive approach to thinking about punishment and sentencing for a broad range of law sociology philosophy and criminology courses

Proportionality of Criminal Penalties in EU Law Lorenzo Grossio, Stefano Montaldo, Valsamis Mitsilegas, 2025-02-06 This book develops a systematic analysis of the principle of proportionality of penalties in EU law Until now the principle has been mainly assessed from a criminological point of view By departing from existing literature the book advances an original EU law perspective on proportionality of penalties which underlies the analysis of its theorisation place and influence on domestic criminal systems Building upon this approach scholarly contributions in the book systematically delve into the various implications of the principle in EU law while paying particular attention to its profound interaction with criminal law concepts

Discourses on Violence and Punishment Krešimir Petkovic, 2017-07-27 This book brings together various discourses concerned with violence and punishment paying special attention to the extreme variations of these phenomena Starting from a narrow definition of violence as an infliction of physical harm paired with a broad discussion of its causes and a wide definition of punishment as an authority claim to retribution or reform the book maps and interprets political theoretical discourses on the death penalty historical explanations of the changes of violence and punishment and comparative differences in punishment It also puts violence and punishment into perspective with political power world religions literature and film and criminological theory The final chapter changes the perspective taken in the bulk of the book dealing with discourses of theodicy in the face of cases of extreme violence and suffering By juxtaposing many unusual discourses the book attempts to fulfill three primary functions First it skeptically probes numerous discourses explaining and legitimizing violence and punishment in the light of extreme cases The book is a map of violence and punishment Second it invites the reader to confront choose and combine these discourses when thinking about facts and norms of punishment The book provides an analytical toolbox for research of violence and punishment Third the book presents wider sense seeking strategies employed to deal with suffering such as irony redemption or rationalization

Punishment in World History

Peter N. Stearns,2023-10-02 This book focuses on major changes in punishment patterns during the principal phases of world history tracing continuities reforms and regional differences Punishment in World History studies the official penalties enacted by governments throughout time chronicling the limited courses of action in hunting and gathering civilizations the array of punishments in early agricultural societies and the various efforts to reform these patterns since the 17th and 18th centuries There is also discussion on community sanctions and disciplinary patterns applied to children A secondary emphasis involves analyzing different regional traditions including the impact of the principal religions varying definitions of punishable crime and in the modern period differing levels of reliance on physical punishments and imprisonment The regional analysis also pays close attention to the effects of colonialism imperialism and the slave trade Ending with an assessment of the contemporary period the book considers the efforts to develop and apply global standards to punishment With far reaching coverage of a variety of human civilizations in history this book is a core resource for students and scholars of the history of corrections world history and criminal justice Rethinking Punishment Karol M Lucken,2017-02-10 There are visible signs that the get tough era of punishment is finally winding down A get smart agenda has emerged that aims to reduce costs and crime by reducing the incarceration of non violent drug offenders expanding use of community based corrections revising sentencing structures and supporting offender re entry into the community This change in policy affords an opportunity to re examine and challenge certain other conventions in the study and practice of punishment Each chapter of Rethinking Punishment examines a convention and posits arguments that challenge that convention and expand the conversation These arguments are based on the prior literature existing and original data and historical documents These conventions and arguments for rethinking punishment are framed accordingly Justifying Penal Policy Defining the Attributes of Punishment Measuring the Scope and Severity of Punishment Evaluating Effectiveness in Punishment Finally the author provides specific recommendations for research and policy based on these original arguments Drawing on underlying philosophical empirical and political issues and offering a critical discussion of the relationship between research policy and practice this book makes compelling and instructive reading for students taking courses in criminal justice corrections philosophy of punishment the sociology of punishment and law and justice The Oxford Handbook of Criminal Process Darryl K. Brown,Jenia Iontcheva Turner,Bettina Weissner,2019-02-22 The Oxford Handbook of Criminal Process surveys the topics and issues in the field of criminal process including the laws institutions and practices of the criminal justice administration The process begins with arrests or with crime investigation such as searches for evidence It continues through trial or some alternative form of adjudication such as plea bargaining that may lead to conviction and punishment and it includes post conviction events such as appeals and various procedures for addressing miscarriages of justice Across more than 40 chapters this Handbook provides a descriptive overview of the subject sufficient to serve as a durable reference source and more importantly to offer contemporary critical or analytical perspectives on those subjects by leading scholars in the field Topics covered include history procedure investigation prosecution evidence adjudication and appeal The End of Prisons. Mechthild E. Nagel,Anthony J. Nocella,2013-05-01 This book brings together a collection of social justice scholars and activists who take Foucault s concept of discipline and punishment to explain how prisons are constructed in society from nursing homes to zoos This book expands the concept of prison to include any institution that dominates oppresses and controls Criminologists and others who have been concerned with reforming or dismantling the criminal justice system have mostly avoided to look at larger carceral structures in society In this book for example scholars and activists question the way patriarchy has incapacitated women and imagine the deinstitutionalization of people with disabilities In a time when popular sentiment critiques the dominant role of the elites the one percenters the state s role in policing dissenting voices school children LGBTQ persons people of color and American Indian Nations needs to be investigated A prison as defined in this book is an institution or system that oppresses and does not allow freedom for a particular group Within this definition we include the imprisonment of nonhuman animals and plants which are too often overlooked Deserved Criminal Sentences Andreas von Hirsch,2017-02-09 This book provides an accessible and systematic restatement of the desert model for criminal sentencing by one of its leading academic exponents The desert model emphasises the degree of seriousness of the offender s crime in deciding the severity of his punishment and has become increasingly influential in recent penal practice and scholarly debate It explains why sentences should be based principally on crime seriousness and addresses among other topics how a desert based penalty scheme can be constructed how to gauge punishments seriousness and penalties severity what weight should be given to an offender s previous convictions how non custodial sentences should be scaled and what leeway there might be for taking other factors into account such as an offender s need for treatment The volume will be of interest to all those working in penal theory and practice criminal sentencing and the criminal law more generally Confronting Penal Excess David Hayes,2019-11-14 This monograph considers the correlation between the relative success of retributive penal policies in English speaking liberal democracies since the 1970s and the practical evidence of increasingly excessive reliance on the penal State in those jurisdictions It sets out three key arguments First that increasingly excessive conditions in England and Wales over the last three decades represent a failure of retributive theory Second that the penal minimalist cause cannot do without retributive proportionality at least in comparison to the limiting principles espoused by rehabilitation restorative justice and penal abolitionism Third that another retributivism is therefore necessary if we are to confront penal excess The monograph offers a sketch of this new approach late retributivism as both a theory of punishment and of minimalist political action within a democratic society Centrally criminal punishment is approached as both a political act and a policy choice Consequently penal theorists must take account of contemporary political contexts in designing and advocating for their theories Although this inquiry focuses primarily on England and Wales its models of retributivism and of academic contribution to democratic penal policy making are relevant to other jurisdictions

EU Competition Law Peter Whelan, 2023 Parental Liability in EU Competition Law assesses the shortcomings of the EU doctrine of parental antitrust liability and proposes a new framework for imposing liability that is theoretically robust effective in practice fair in substance and legally sound

Legal and Ethical Retributivism Halil Cesur, 2025-07-31 This book explores a foundational philosophical tension in contemporary retributivism revealing ambiguities in its approach to punishment between two conflicting conceptions of restoration legal justice and ethical love Through an analysis of the three parties involved in a crime the victim the offender and the state it argues that neo retributivism has not sufficiently incorporated the ethical face of punishment into its theoretical framework The pull of legal justice is often so strong that the voice of ethical love is silenced neo retributivism is at an impasse To navigate this the book engages with contemporary critical criminal justice scholarship introducing the ideal of loving justice while highlighting an unresolved tension between penal reformism and abolitionism The book will be of interest to academicians and researchers working in the areas of philosophy of punishment criminal law theory criminal justice restorative justice philosophy of law political philosophy and Hegel scholarship

Treatment for Crime David Birks, Thomas Douglas, 2018 Traditional means of crime prevention such as incarceration and psychological rehabilitation are frequently ineffective This collection considers how crime preventing neurointerventions CPNs could present a more humane alternative but on the other hand how neuroscientific developments and interventions may threaten fundamental human values

The Punisher's Brain Morris B. Hoffman, 2014-04-14 Why do we punish and why do we forgive Are these learned behaviors or is there something deeper going on This book argues that there is indeed something deeper going on and that our essential response to the killers rapists and other wrongdoers among us has been programmed into our brains by evolution Using evidence and arguments from neuroscience and evolutionary psychology Morris B Hoffman traces the development of our innate drives to punish and to forgive throughout human history He describes how over time these innate drives became codified into our present legal systems and how the responsibility and authority to punish and forgive was delegated to one person the judge or a subset of the group the jury Hoffman shows how these urges inform our most deeply held legal principles and how they might animate some legal reforms

Criminal Justice in America Carla Lewandowski, Jeff Bumgarner, 2020-11-17 This authoritative set provides a comprehensive overview of issues and trends in crime law enforcement courts and corrections that encompass the field of criminal justice studies in the United States This work offers a thorough introduction to the field of criminal justice including types of crime policing courts and sentencing landmark legal decisions and local state and federal corrections systems and the key topics and issues within each of these important areas It provides a complete overview and

Civilising Criminal Justice David J. Cornwell, John R. Blad, Martin Wright, 2013 Probably the best collection there is Civilizing Criminal Justice is an inescapable resource for anyone interested in restorative justice truly international and packed with experience while combining history theory developments and practical advice This volume of specially commissioned contributions by widely respected commentators on crime and punishment from various countries is a break through in bringing together some of the best arguments for long overdue penal reform An increasingly urgent need to change outmoded criminal processes even in advanced democracies demands an end to those penal excesses driven by political expediency and damaging notions of retribution deterrence and punishment for its own sake Civilising criminal justice will make it fairer more consistent understandable and considerate towards victims of crime currently largely excluded from participation Principles of reparative and restorative justice have become increasingly influential in the quest to provide justice which tackles harm compensates victims repairs relationships resolves debilitating conflicts and calls offenders to account And in any case what real justification is there for subjecting more and more people to the expensive but hollow experience of prison especially at a time of economic stringency Civil justice in its various forms can be swifter cheaper and more effective in court or through mediated processes focusing on the harmful consequences of offences rather than inflicting punishment that may satisfy a baying media but come home to haunt the community This brave and generous book 600 pages illustrates the many different ways in which criminal justice can be civilised and how lessons can be learned from practical experience across the world and shared expertise It is a volume that every politician should read every criminal justice professional should possess and that every student of criminology and penology will find invaluable David Cornwell John Blad and Martin Wright are three of the leading international experts on this topic with many publications to their names individually Contributors Serge Gutwirth and Paul De Hert Belgium Federico Reggion Italy Bas van Stokkom The Netherlands Lode Walgrave Belgium Susan Easton and Christine Piper UK Louis Blom Cooper QC UK Tapio Lappi Seppä Finland Thomas Trenczek Germany Jean Pierre Bonaf Schmitt France Per Andersen Norway Claire Spivakovsky Australia Ann Skelton Republic of South Africa Borbála Fellegi Hungary Judge Fred McElrea New Zealand and the editors John Braithwaite is a Distinguished Professor at the Australian National University author of ground breaking works on restorative justice and recipient of various awards

Penal Censure Antje du Bois-Pedain, Anthony E Bottoms, 2019-04-04 This exploration of penal censure is inspired by the 40th anniversary of the publication of Andreas von Hirsch's Doing Justice which opened up a fresh set of issues in theorisation about punishment that eventually led von Hirsch to ground his proposed model of desert based sentencing on the notion of penal censure. Von Hirsch's work thus provides an obvious starting point for an exploration of the importance of censure for the justification of punishment both within his theory of just deserts and from the perspectives of other theoretical approaches. It also provides an opportunity for engaging with censure more broadly from philosophical, sociological, anthropological and individual psychological perspectives. The essays in this collection map the conceptual territory of censure from these different perspectives, address issues for desert theory that arise from fuller understandings of censure and consider afresh the role of censure within the jurisprudence of punishment. They show that analyses of censure from different vantage points can significantly enrich punishment theory, not least by providing a conceptual basis for perceiving common ground between and thus connecting different strands of penal theory.
