Because the Cat Purrs Janet Lembke,2008-05-17 A new book by Janet Lembke is always a cause for celebration Sue Hubbell We share our lives for better or worse with a multitude of animals white tailed deer and white tailed eagles hens and wrens frogs and guppies and last but hardly least bugs and bacteria For the most part we drift along separately with neither man nor animal affecting the other s way of life Sometimes however we fall in love as in the case of the cat in the title or otherwise encounter our animal neighbors in ways that change both of us Lembke challenges her readers to consider the idea that all creatures are conscious with the ability to make choices exercise awareness and seek pleasure while shunning pain Rarely has a book of natural history covered such a broad range of subjects from the everyday bargains we make with our pets and other domestic creatures to descriptions of bungee cord snail sex and the purpose of a honeybee s sting Lembke explores the evolution of her subjects and draws on literature and myth to paint gorgeous wide ranging portraits of everyday and more unusual encounters such as that of a gardener and a groundhog or a chicken egg and Augustus Caesar s wife This is a sensitive and timely appraisal of how we treat the creatures we share our planet with and how we ought to It is a book that no lover of intelligent writing about the natural world will want to miss 20 b w illustrations
