When sufficient vacuum is produced, fuel flows through the main jet and into the carburetor main well. The fuel is then partially vaporized by the air entering through the main well or high speed air bleed in the lower skirt of the venturi. The air enters the main well through the main well tube.

This fuel and air mixture is discharged out of the main discharge nozzle where it is vaporized further by the air passing through the venturi. As the throttle plate is opened wider, the idle system begins to fade and the main metering system continues to supply a greater portion of the fuel.

POWER SYSTEM

The power system, Figure 5, is controlled by vacuum and is operated by a synthetic rubber valve attached to the bottom end of the accelerator pump piston assembly. During normal load operation, the high manifold vacuum on the top of the pump piston is sufficient to compress the pump spring and hold the synthetic rubber valve off of the channel restriction seat. This will also prevent the fuel to flow in through the pump inlet orifice, through the channel restrictor and into the main well, supplementing the fuel entering the main jet.

The power system is open and in operation during high and intermediate manifold vacuum conditions and is closed at wide open throttle or extremely low vacuum operation.
