A. H. Alderson, 2017-12-22 Excerpt from With the Mounted Infantry And the Mashonaland Field Force 1896 On arriving home from South Africa in March last I had no intention whatever of writing a book and it was not till May when writing a brief account of the operations in Mashonaland in 1896 for the Intelligence Department of the War Office that it struck me that there were many points of general interest which had no place in an official account This idea assumed definite form when Colonel R S Baden Powell s book The Campaign in Matabeleland 1896 and Lieut Colonel Plumer s An Irregular Corps in Matabeleland appeared and the thought Why not Mashonaland too cropped up About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses

The Mounted Infantry had a short life spanning from the mid 1880 s until disbanded in 1913 To continue the camaraderie of the corps past surviving members formed the M I Club and in 1936 decided to publish a short history based on Regimental records and personal reflections An appeal elicited responses and work was begun by Major Tomlin The manuscript was almost complete at the start of the Second World War when an enthusiastic cull of papers by Tomlin s family during a wastepaper salvage drive included much of the work he had completed This would have been the end of the project but Brigadier Standish G Craufurd intervened and undertook to rewrite the work using what material remained and his own resources When the draft was substantially completed Sir Ian Hamilton then in his 91st year was approached to write the foreword he responded that he felt this was a makeshift history that would best be left until the end of the war when access to records would be easier and the manuscript could be improved upon This archive including the unpublished manuscript letters and reminiscences came up for sale on an online auction recently and provides a unique and interesting record of the Mounted Infantry Considering that history of this corps is sparsely documented it would be as Craufurd put it a great pity to let slip an account of a side issue of the old Army a very distinct phase just before the great change brought by the Great War

The British Army Regular Mounted Infantry 1880-1913 Andrew Winrow,2016-11-03 The regular Mounted Infantry was one of the most important innovations of the late Victorian and Edwardian British Army Rather than fight on horseback in the traditional manner of cavalry they used horses primarily to move swiftly about the battlefield where they would then dismount and fight on foot thus anticipating the development of mechanised infantry tactics during the twentieth century Yet despite this apparent foresight the mounted infantry concept was abandoned by the British Army in 1913 just at the point when it may have made the transition from a colonial to a continental force as part of the British Expeditionary Force Exploring the historical background to the Mounted Infantry this book untangles the debates that raged in the army Parliament and the press between its advocates and the supporters of the established cavalry With its origins in the extemporised mounted detachments raised during times of crisis from infantry battalions on overseas imperial garrison duties Dr Winrow reveals how the Mounted Infantry model unique among European armies evolved into a formalised and apparently highly successful organisation of non cavalry mounted troops He then analyses why the Mounted Infantry concept fell out of favour just eleven years after its apogee during the South African Anglo Boer War of 1899 1902 As such the book will be of interest not only to historians of the nineteenth century British army but also those tracing the development of modern military doctrine and tactics to which the Mounted Infantry provided successful if short lived inspiration Church and Settler in Colonial Zimbabwe Pamela Welch, 2008 A history of the Anglican diocese of Mashonaland Southern Rhodesia 1890 925 which provides a fresh general narrative and a particular study of the church s work with white settlers and their religion examined against both an imperial and a world wide ecclesiastical background General Catalogue of the Public Library of Detroit, Mich Detroit Public Library, 1899
