Politics, Identity, and Mobility in Travel Writing Miguel A. Cabañas, Jeanne Dubino, Veronica Salles-Reese, Gary Totten, 2015-06-26 This collection examines the intersections between the personal and the political in travel writing and the dialectic between mobility and stasis through an analysis of specific cases across geographical and historical boundaries The authors explore the various ways in which travel texts represent actual political conditions and thus engage in discussions about national transnational and global citizenship how they propose real world political interventions in the places where the traveler goes what tone they take toward political or socio political violence and how they intersect with political debates Travel writing can be viewed as political in a purely instrumental sense but as this volume also demonstrates travel writing's reception and ideological interventions also transform personal and cultural realities This book thus examines the ways in which politics material effects inform and intersect with personal experience in travel texts and engage with travel s dialectic of mobility and stasis In spite of globalization and efforts to eradicate the colonial vision in travel writing and in travel writing criticism this vision persists in various and complex ways While the travelogue can be a space of discursive and direct oppression these essays suggest that the travelogue is also a narrative space in which the traveler employs the genre to assert authority over his or her experiences of mobility This book will be an important contribution for interdisciplinary scholars with interests in travel writing studies global and transnational studies women s studies multicultural studies the social sciences and history

Passing and the Fictions of Identity Elaine K. Ginsberg,1996-04-29 Passing refers to the process whereby a person of one race gender nationality or sexual orientation adopts the guise of another Historically this has often involved black slaves passing as white in order to gain their freedom More generally it has served as a way for women and people of color to access male or white privilege In their examination of this practice of crossing boundaries the contributors to this volume offer a unique perspective for studying the construction and meaning of personal and cultural identities These essays consider a wide range of texts and moments from colonial times to the present that raise significant questions about the political motivations inherent in the origins and maintenance of identity categories and boundaries Through discussions of such literary works as Running a Thousand Miles for Freedom The Autobiography of an Ex Coloured Man Uncle Tom's Cabin The Hidden Hand Black Like Me and Giovanni's Room the authors examine issues of power and privilege and ways in which passing might challenge the often rigid structures of identity politics Their interrogation of the semiotics of behavior dress language and the body itself contributes significantly to an understanding of national racial gender and sexual identity in American literature and culture Contextualizing and building on the theoretical work of such scholars as Judith Butler Diana Fuss Marjorie Garber and Henry Louis Gates Jr Passing and the Fictions of Identity will be of value to students and scholars working in the areas of race gender and identity theory as well as U S history and literature Contributors Martha Cutter Katharine Nicholson Ings Samira Kawash Adrian Piper Valerie Rohy Marion Rust Julia Stern Gayle Wald Ellen M Weinauer Elizabeth Young The Sum of Our Parts Teresa Williams-León, Cynthia L. Nakashima, 2001 Largely as a result of multiracial activism the U S Census for 2000 offers people the unprecedented opportunity to officially identify themselves with more than one racial group Among Asian heritage people in this country and elsewhere racial and ethnic mixing has a long but unacknowledged history According to the last U S Census nearly one third of all interracial marriages included an Asian descent spouse and intermarriage rates are accelerating This unique collection of essays focuses on the construction of identity among people Asian descent who claim multiple heritages In the U S discussions of race generally center on matters of black and white Asian Americans usually figure in conversations about race as an undifferentiated ethnic group or as exotic Eurasians The contributors to this book disrupt the standard discussions by considering people of mixed Asian ethnicities They also pay particular attention to non white multiracial identities to decenter whiteness and reflect the experience of individuals or communities who are considered a minority within a minority With an entire section devoted to the Asian diaspora The Sum of Our Parts suggests that questions of multiracial and multiethnic identity are surfacing around the globe This timely and provocative collection articulates them for social scientists and students Their Own Receive Them Not Horace L. Griffin, 2010-11-01 In Their Own Receive Them Not Griffin provides a historical overview and critical analysis of the black church and its current engagement with lesbian and gay Christians and shares ways in which black churches can learn to reach out and confront all types of oppression not just race in order to do the work of the black community
