

The background of the book cover is a photograph of a river flowing over a series of large, stacked, rounded stones. The water is white and turbulent as it cascades over the stones, creating a sense of movement and power. The stones are a warm, earthy brown color, and the overall scene is captured in a slightly desaturated, naturalistic style.

Why Psychology Needs Theology 05 By Dueck Lee Paperback 2005:

Why Psychology Needs Theology Dueck, Cameron Lee, 2005-05-09 Why Psychology Needs Theology shows how Christian insights into human nature can be integrated with psychological theory and suggests ways that a basic understanding of faith might positively impact the therapeutic process In the first part of the book Nancey Murphy explores the core assumptions of psychology from the vantage point of her expertise in the philosophy of science Psychology needs theology and ethics she argues to help it address the question of what constitutes a good life Taking an Anabaptist or Radical Reformation perspective that emphasizes Jesus vulnerable love for his enemies and renunciation of power Murphy challenges psychology to take seriously the goodness of self renunciation In the second part of the book other scholars extend and challenge Murphy s model discussing such topics as gender and culture All those who work at the intersection of religion and psychology teachers pastors specialists and professional care providers will find this exchange fruitful and valuable Contributors Mari L Clements Alvin Dueck Cynthia Neal Kimball Cameron Lee J Derek McNeil Alexandra E Mitchell Nancey Murphy Kevin Reimer Frank C Richardson Brent D Slife Psychology, Religion, and Spirituality James M. Nelson, 2009-02-17 Over a century ago psychologists who were fascinated with religion began to study and write about it Theologians and religious practitioners have responded to this literature producing a fascinating dialogue that deals with our fundamental understandings about the human person and our place in the world This book provides an introduction to the important conversations that have developed out of these interchanges The dialogue between psychology and religion is difficult to study for a number of reasons First it requires knowledge of both psychology and religion People with a background in psychology often lack a solid understanding of the religious traditions they wish to study and theologians may not be up to date on the latest developments in psychology Second it requires conceptual tools to organize the material and understand the basic problems involved in any attempt to connect the science of psychology with religion These concepts can be found in many places for instance in the writings of philosophers of science but they are complex and often hard to follow for those without a proper theological and philosophical background Finally authors who write on the topic come to the study of psychology and religion from a variety of academic and personal backgrounds This makes for wonderful diversity in conversations but it makes understanding and mastery of the material quite difficult A Peaceable Psychology Alvin Dueck, Kevin Reimer, 2009-11-01 In the past century psychology has been practiced in the manner of medical science working from the assumption that therapy can transcend particular ethnic and religious traditions Seeking to move the conversation forward this book argues for a theologically culturally and politically sensitive psychotherapy whereby the Christian psychologist treats the patient according to the particulars of the patient s political situation and ethnic and religious tradition while acknowledging the role of his or her own Christian story in therapeutic dialogue The authors point to the life of Jesus as the foundation on which to build a therapeutic ethic appropriating the story of his life to bring healing

Christian Counseling Ethics Randolph K. Sanders, 2013-03-08 Editor Randolph K Sanders assembles a team of scholar practitioners to forge a comprehensive ethical approach to Christian counseling Christian psychotherapists pastors and others in the counseling profession will find here a ready resource for a wide array of contemporary clinical scenarios

Embracing Diversity Maureen Miner, Kirsty Beilharz, 2023-07-01 Christian schools and colleges that include spiritual formation and Christian maturity within their mission are facing challenges The challenge of being a Christian college within a secular society is well recognized There are intellectual clashes of secular versus religious worldviews to be negotiated and clashes of social imaginaries where habitual ways of responding come into conflict These challenges are difficult enough for staff of a Christian college when most students have a Christian background and there may be a common language and assumptions Even more difficult are the challenges faced by Christian staff of a Christian college when most students identify with non Christian religions What does a college's mission of forming mature Christians mean when students are largely Muslim Hindu Buddhist Sikh or other non Christian faiths Should staff modify curricula to reduce cognitive clashes Should teaching practices be changed to reduce the dissonance of different social imaginaries How can staff draw from Christian values of tolerance and respect to support non Christian students in their formation of values and ethics while still respecting diversity This volume draws together the work of scholars and researchers who have pondered the nature purpose and means of formation It offers an analysis of the scope context and methods of formation of mature people without denying or downplaying the difficulties of formation It offers hope that people who are mature in all areas of life including the spiritual domain can be formed and urges educators to encompass all domains in their formative work Gregorianum, 2005 El
