

SOLDIERS OF THE ALLIED ARMIES IN ITALY

When the Allied Armies in Italy launched the attack on May 11th, the object was twofold:

First: to destroy the German forces opposing us, free Rome and drive the enemy far to the North.

Second: to strike the first blow in the liberation of Europe and give our comrades in arms in the West and in the East a good start by presenting them with a first-class victory.

The first object has been largely achieved. The second has been wholly fulfilled. To you, the soldiers of the Armies in Italy, belongs the honour and glory of this great victory, and I, as your Commander-in-Chief, send to each and every one of you my heartfelt congratulations and deepest appreciation for the magnificent way in which you have carried out your task, and in this hour we do not forget our comrades who have fallen in battle. We honour their name and mourn their loss.

Now we are completing an extensive regrouping in order to bring about the final collapse of the enemy. This is taking place according to plan, and it is my intention to proceed with the second and perhaps final stage of the destruction of the German armed forces in Italy.

These are great days. The Italian campaign has already made history and victory lies clearly ahead of us, but as good and experienced soldiers we know that the path is not an easy one and final success can only be won by fighting for it.

The eyes of the world and the hopes of all at home are upon us—we shall not disappoint them. We shall continue as we have begun to destroy the enemy wherever we find him and to march along the road to the last battles where final victory awaits us.

Richard Doherty,2007-10-18 Eighth Army Britain's most famous field army of the twentieth century landed in Italy in September 1943 and fought continuously until the defeat of the Germans in early May 1945 This book studies the experience of Eighth Army in the Italian campaign examining how a force accustomed to the open spaces of North Africa adjusted to the difficult terrain of Italy where fighting became much more a matter for the infantry than for the armour It also compares the qualities of the commanders of Eighth Army in Italy Montgomery Leese and finally McCreery The book uses official records at various levels personal accounts some never before published and published material to present a picture of an army that although defined as British was one of the war's most cosmopolitan formations Its soldiers came from the UK Canada India
Ireland Nepal New Zealand Poland and South Africa as well as from Palestine the Jewish Brigade and from Italy itself
