Worlds of Women Leila J. Rupp, 2020-12-08 Worlds of Women is a groundbreaking exploration of the first wave of the international women's movement from its late nineteenth century origins through the Second World War. Making extensive use of archives in the United States, England, the Netherlands, Germany, and France, Leila Rupp examines the histories and accomplishments of three major transnational women's organizations to tell the story of women's struggle to construct a feminist international collective identity. She addresses questions central to the study of women's history: how can women across the world forge bonds, sometimes even through conflict, despite their differences; and questions central to world history: is internationalism viable, and how can its history be written? Rupp focuses on three major organizations that were technically open to all women: the broadly based and cautious International Council of Women, founded in 1888; the feminist International Alliance of Women, originally called the International Woman Suffrage Alliance, founded in 1904; and the vanguard Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, which grew out of the International Congress of Women that met at The Hague in 1915. The histories of these organizations and their stories of cooperation and competition shed new light on the international women's movement. They also help us to understand the different but connected story of the second wave of international feminism that emerged from the ashes of World War II.

Secret Paths: Women in the New Midlife Terri Apter, 1997-01-17 The author of Altered Loves now turns her analytical eye toward middle-aged women. The result is both lively and revealing. New York Times Book Review: In this groundbreaking and insightful study, Terri Apter traces women's midlife course, drawing on detailed interviews with women in their forties and fifties. Apter finds that women experience a renewed sense of themselves and see the second half of life as an opportunity for psychological growth and fulfillment, instead of a time of despair over lost youth and beauty. She divides midlife women into four categories: traditional, innovative, expansive, protesting, and shows the cause for the midlife crisis and the path toward resolution for each type.

A Look Backward and Forward at American Professional Women and Their Families Rita James Simon, 2000 This edited volume contains the thoughtful and often inspiring papers that were presented at the Fourth Annual Conference of the Women's Freedom Network in 1997. Written by scholars, homemakers, entrepreneurs, professionals, and military personnel, the articles in this collection address the status of women, their careers, and their families now and in the past. The volume is divided into four sections, each devoted to a particular area where women have played a significant role. The first section focuses on the family, with papers describing the difficult choices women must make to meet the demands of home and career, the changing role of fathers, and the impact of divorce on children. In section two, several women discuss their successful careers as entrepreneurs and CEOs in a variety of businesses. The papers in section three deal with the topic of women in the military, addressing issues ranging from physical fitness and injury to pregnancy and sexual scandal. The last section offers insiders

Christian Sisterhood, Race Relations, and the YWCA, 1906-46 Nancy Marie Robertson,2007 As the major national biracial women s organization the Young Women s Christian Association YWCA provided a unique venue for women to respond to American race relations during the first half of the twentieth century In Christian Sisterhood Race Relations and the YWCA 1906 46 Nancy Marie Robertson shows how women of both races employed different understandings of Christian sisterhood in their responses Although the YWCA was segregated at the local level African American women were able to effectively challenge white women over YWCA racial policies and practices Robertson argues that from 1906 through 1946 many white women in the association went from seeing segregation as compatible with Christianity and democracy to regarding it as a contradiction of those values These struggles laid the groundwork for the subsequent civil rights movement Her analysis relies not only on a large body of records documenting YWCA women at the national and local levels but also on autobiographical accounts and personal papers from women associated with the YWCA including Dorothy Height Lugenia Burns Hope Alice Dunbar Nelson Abby Aldrich Rockefeller and Lillian Smith A volume in the series Women in American History edited by Anne Firor Scott Susan Armitage Susan K Cahn and Deborah Gray White

Women Entrepreneurs and the Myth of 'Underperformance' Shumaila Yousafzai, Alain Fayolle, Adam Lindgreen, Colette Henry, Saadat Saeed, Shandana Sheikh, 2018-02-23

A must read for all entrepreneurship scholars because it helps us to understand and appreciate the real and many roles of women entrepreneurs, their relevance and importance to societies across the World as well as the challenges and issues women entrepreneurs can face. An exciting and interesting read which presents us with critical questions for the future. Thank you Sarah Jack Lancaster University Management School UK.

Taking a fresh look at how performance is defined by examining the institutional power structures and policies, eminent scholars herein explore ways to overcome constrained performance and encourage women's entrepreneurial activities through a variety of methodological approaches and geographical contexts. Significantly, this book adds a critical perspective to defining success and performance, shattering misconceptions of underperformance in women-owned enterprises. The contributing authors raise questions on the limiting concept of the entrepreneur and have valuable insights into policies to facilitate female entrepreneurs. Instead of taking a one-sided and narrow approach with regards to understanding the entrepreneurship performance phenomenon, this book argues that future researchers should take a fresh look at business performance considering structural constraints, definitions of success and other socio-political factors. Scholars in the fields of entrepreneurship, gender studies and institutional theory as well as those who have a general interest in critical research will benefit from this progressive step in entrepreneurship research.

A Map of the New Country Sara Maitland, 2014-10-03

Most feminists have turned away from the Christian churches regarding both Catholicism and the Protestant denominations as bastions of sexism and patriarchal oppression. However, Christian feminists committed to improving the position of Christian women and to the spiritual renewal of their respective churches are drawing inspiration for their struggles from the contemporary Women's Movement. In this study, Sara Maitland looks at what has been happening to Christian women in general and Christian feminists in particular over the last fifteen to twenty years. She sets their experiences in the framework of the history of the churches and reviews it in the light of events such as the Second Vatican Council, the ordination of Baptist and Episcopal women ministers in America and Britain, and the debate about the ordination of women in the Anglican communion. She argues that the insights gained by Christian feminists put them in a unique position to prophesy to their respective churches, leading them back to the Gospel imperatives.

of love justice and freedom and that an understanding and acceptance of this role of women is crucial to the well being of the whole Church As well as studying the history theology and institutional structures of the denominational churches the book uses a wealth of interview material from both sides of the Atlantic to describe the experiences of women from many different backgrounds including nuns women priests and lay workers Sara Maitland concludes that Christianity can and must pass beyond the long centuries of oppression and division into a new country a country in which women and men are equally made in the image of God First published in 1983 International Perspectives on Gender and Higher Education Christine
