Understanding Ourselves A Review Of 17 More Psychology Experiments And Concepts:

Measurement in Sport and Exercise Psychology Gershon Tenenbaum, Robert C. Eklund, Akihito Kamata, 2011-11-18
Measurement in Sport and Exercise Psychology provides a complete analysis of the tools and methods used in sport and exercise psychology research. Each chapter of this accessible text presents key measurement variables and concepts including their definitions, an evaluation of the measurement constructs and tools available, and an explanation of any controversies in each topic. The text includes access to an online resource that presents 14 measurement instruments in their entirety. This resource also contains additional web links to many other measurement instruments. Drawing on their experience as leading researchers in the field, editors Tenenbaum, Eklund, and Kamata have selected a team of recognized scholars to bring both breadth and depth to this essential resource. By thoroughly examining each measurement tool, Measurement in Sport and Exercise Psychology assists readers in determining strengths and limitations of each tool and discovering which tools are best suited to their research projects. Readers will also gain critical knowledge to expand the field by recognizing opportunities for new methods of measurement and evaluation. The text begins with a historical review of measurement in sport and exercise psychology, followed by a comprehensive description of theories and measurement issues. It provides detailed information regarding ethical and cultural issues inherent in the selection of specific testing protocols, as well as issues in interpreting meta-analysis. This is followed by discussion of the commonly used constructs and inventories in three areas: cognition, perception, and motivation; measurement of emotion, affect, and coping; measurement of social and behavioral measurement. Recommendations for researchers and practitioners included at the end of each chapter provide starting points for considering ways to incorporate chapter content into research projects and professional practice. Tables located at the end of each chapter summarize key information for quick reference and provide online sources when available, so that readers can access each measurement tool. Original source information is provided for those tools not available online. Measurement in Sport and Exercise Psychology assists readers in evaluating the effectiveness of specific measurement tools. As the most complete and up-to-date directory of tools and inventories in the field of sport and exercise, this text offers a thorough explanation of considerations, controversies, recommendations, and locations for accessing these measurement tools.

The Oxford Handbook of Multicultural Identity Veronica Benet-Martinez, Ying-Yi Hong, 2015-08-01 Multiculturalism is a prevalent worldwide societal phenomenon Aspects of our modern life such as migration economic globalization multicultural policies and cross border travel and communication have made intercultural contacts inevitable High numbers of multicultural individuals 23.43% of the population by some estimates can be found in many nations where migration has been strong e.g. Australia U.S. Western Europe Singapore or where there is a history of colonization e.g. Hong Kong Many multicultural individuals are also ethnic and cultural minorities who are descendants of immigrants majority individuals with extensive multicultural experiences or people with culturally mixed families all people for whom identification and/or involvement with multiple cultures is the norm Despite the prevalence of multicultural identity and experiences until the publication of this volume there has not yet been a comprehensive review of scholarly research on the psychological underpinning of multiculturalism The Oxford Handbook of Multicultural Identity fills this void It reviews cutting edge empirical and theoretical work on the psychology of multicultural identities and experiences As a whole the volume addresses some important basic issues such as measurement of multicultural identity links between multilingualism and multiculturalism the social psychology of multiculturalism and globalization as well as applied issues such as multiculturalism in counseling education policy marketing and organizational science to mention a few This handbook will be useful for students researchers and teachers in cultural social personality developmental acculturation and ethnic psychology It can also be used as a source book in advanced undergraduate and graduate courses on identity and multiculturalism and a reference for applied psychologists and researchers in the domains of education management and marketing

SELF - A Multidisciplinary Concept Theresa Dicke, Herbert Marsh, Rhonda G. Craven, Dennis M. McInerney, 2021-01-01 Research on the self relates to various phenomena including self esteem self concept self verification self awareness identity self efficacy passion self determination and goals Moreover research on self is multidisciplinary and of interest to a broad range of areas such as education economics social psychology neurosciences motivation physical activity and behavior sciences philosophy and learning sciences Chapters in this volume will illustrate some of the best of the research within these disciplines examining different aspects of self from various perspectives A feature of this volume is that we will explore not only positive aspects of high perceived levels of self determination and competence or self concept on achievement motivation and wellbeing but also the dark side of an uncertain and negative self on identity and wellbeing We learn from this that the self is a dynamic and powerful yet fragile and highly amenable construct that needs self care and constant reassurance SELF A Multidisciplinary Concept thus highlights the broad application of self research and its diversity This volume is intended to develop both theoretical and methodological ideas and to present empirical evidence of various disciplines and applications dealing with self The scope of this seventh volume of the International Advances in Self Research series started in 2000 by Herbert W Marsh Dennis M McInerney and Rhonda G Craven is thus very broad Keeping within the tradition of the series this volume will highlight the applicability of a multitude of empirical approaches and methods to self research We also aimed to maintain a balance between discussing theoretical research in SELF and deriving implications for effective practice This volume thus includes chapters covering self related topics within an educational social emotional psychological physiological managerial and health context
