Etherington, Peter Midgley, 2010-01-01 This volume contributes rich new material to provide insights into indigenous responses to the colonial empires of Great Britain South Africa Swaziland Botswana Zimbabwe Rhodesia and Germany Namibia and explore the complex intellectual cultural literary and political borders and identities that emerged across these spaces Contributors include distinguished global scholars in the field as well as exciting young scholars The essays link global national local forces in history by analysing how indigenous elites not only interacted with colonial empires to absorb adapt and re cast new ideas forms of discourse and social formations but also networked with ordinary people to forge new social ethnic and political identities and viable social forces Translated and other primary texts in appendices add to the insights Historical Dictionary of the Zulu Wars John Laband, 2009-05-18 Between 1838 and 1888 the recently formed Zulu kingdom in southeastern Africa was directly challenged by the incursion of Boer pioneers aggressively seeking new lands on which to set up their independent republics by English speaking traders and hunters establishing their neighboring colony and by imperial Britain intervening in Zulu affairs to safeguard Britain's position as the paramount power in southern Africa. As a result the Zulu fought to resist Boer invasion in 1838 and British invasion in 1879. The internal strains these wars caused to the fabric of Zulu society resulted in civil wars in 1840, 1856 and 1882, 1884 and Zululand itself was repeatedly partitioned between the Boers and British. In 1888 the old order in Zululand attempted a final unsuccessful uprising against recently imposed British rule. This tangled web of invasions, civil wars and rebellion is complex. The Historical Dictionary of the Zulu Wars unravels and elucidates Zulu history during the 50 years between the initial settler threat to the kingdom and its final dismemberment and absorption into the colonial order. A chronology, an introductory essay, a bibliography, maps, photos and over 900 cross-referenced dictionary entries that cover the military, politics, society, economics, culture and key players during the Zulu Wars make this an important reference for everyone from high school students to academics.

Chicorel Index to Poetry in Anthologies and Collections in Print: A-Ex Marietta Chicorel, 1974 Jihadism, Online Discourses and Representations Rüdiger Lohker, 2013. Jihadi online media try to mobilize, recruit and disseminate the messages of jihadi subcultures. Understanding the mechanisms and structures of the products of these online media is essential for understanding jihadism in general. Original research into visual representations of jihadi media outlets, the subtleties of jihadi videos, the specific ways jihadis use Islamic religious language into jihadi poetry and the ways jihadis stage their concepts in videos of kangaroo trials is presented in this volume. Jihadis as part of the imagery of global media production is another aspect of representations of jihadism described in one of the contributions. Chicorel Index to Poetry in Anthologies and Collections in Print Marietta Chicorel, 1975 Writing and Translating Francophone Discourse Paul F. Bandia, 2014-01-01. This book is a much needed contribution to interdisciplinary research on the intersection of French and Francophone Studies and Translation Studies. It highlights the symbiotic relationship between the two disciplines whereby theories and concepts developed in translation studies provide useful models and paradigms for studying francophone literature while major concepts that hold sway in the francophone world provide a solid basis for elucidating and understanding translation phenomena. The book is at once a contribution to the growing field of postcolonial francophone studies and the sub area of postcolonial translation theory. Contributors are experts from a variety of disciplines and hail from various regions across the globe. What unites them is their interest in translation and its conceptualization both as an interlinguistic practice and a metaphor for intercultural communication and transcultural relations. The contributions draw on literature, film, historical documents and critical theories by French and francophone thinkers highlighting the significance of translation for African, Caribbean and migrant francophone discourse. Yeats and Modern Poetry Edna Longley, 2013-11-11. The Poem in the Story Harold Scheub,2002-12-05 Fact and fiction meet at the boundaries the betwixt and between where transformations occur This is the area of ambiguity where fiction and fact become endowed with meaning and this is the area where ambiguity irony and metaphor join forces that Harold Scheub exposes in all its nuanced and evocative complexity in The Poem in the Story In a career devoted to exploring the art of the African storyteller Scheub has conducted some of the most interesting and provocative investigations into nonverbal aspects of storytelling the complex relationship between artist and audience and most dramatically the role played by poetry in storytelling This book is his most daring effort yet an unconventional work that searches out what makes a story artistically engaging and emotionally evocative the metaphorical center that Scheub calls the poem in the story Drawing on extensive fieldwork in southern Africa and decades of experience as a researcher and teacher Scheub develops an original approach a blend of field notes diary entries photographs and texts of stories and poems that guides readers into a new way of viewing even experiencing meaning in a story Though this work is largely focused on African storytelling its universal applications emerge when Scheub brings the work of storytellers as different as Shakespeare and Faulkner into the discussion

Death and Compassion Dan Wylie,2018-10-01 Traces the literary history of the elephant and its role in South Africa s cultural imaginary Elephants are in dire straits again They were virtually extirpated from much of Africa by European hunters in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries but their numbers resurged for a while in the heyday of late colonial conservation efforts in the twentieth Now according to one estimate an elephant is being killed every 15 minutes This is at the same time that the reasons for being especially compassionate and protective towards elephants are now so well known that they have become almost a cliché their high intelligence rich emotional lives including a capacity for mourning caring matriarchal societal structures that strangely charismatic grace Saving elephants is one of the iconic conservation struggles of our time As a society we must aspire to understand how and why people develop compassion or fail to do so and what stories we tell ourselves about animals that reveal the relationship between ourselves and animals This book is the first study to probe the primary features and possible effects of some major literary genres as they pertain to elephants south of the Zambezi over three centuries indigenous forms early European travelogues hunting accounts novels game ranger memoirs scientists accounts and poems It examines what these literatures imply about the various and diverse attitudes towards elephants about who shows compassion towards them in what ways and why It is the story of a developing contestation between death and compassion between those who kill and those who love and protect
