proposing to her As she feels that she cannot love anyone unless he is impervious to her charms however she rejects all her suitors doing the same with the astonished Duke The Duke quickly discovers that Noaks another Oxford student also claims to have fallen in love with her without ever having even interacted with her Apparently men immediately fall in love with her upon seeing her As the first to have his love reciprocated by her for however brief a time the Duke decides that he will commit suicide to symbolise his passion for Zuleika and in hopes that he will raise awareness in her of the terrible power of her bewitching beauty as she innocently goes on crushing men s affections Zuleika is able to interrupt the Duke s first suicide attempt from a river boat but seems to have a romanticised view of men dying for her and does not oppose the notion of his suicide altogether The Duke instead pledging to kill himself the next day which Zuleika more or less permits has dinner that night with his social club where the other members also affirm their love for Zuleika Upon telling them of his plan to die the others unexpectedly agree to also commit suicide for Zuleika This idea soon reaches the minds of all Oxford undergraduates who inevitably fall in love with Zuleika upon first sight their targets the book takes some surprising and dark twists on its way to a truly startling ending an ending so striking that readers will understand why Virginia Woolf said that Mr Beerbohm in his way is perfect ZULEIKA DOBSON Max Sir Beerbohm, 1872-1956,2016-08-27 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant Zuleika Dobson, Or, an Oxford Love Story Max Beerbohm,2017-06-09 I That old bell presage of a train had just sounded through Oxford station and the undergraduates who were waiting there gay figures in tweed or flannel moved to the margin of the platform and gazed idly up the line Young and careless in the glow of the afternoon sunshine they struck a sharp note of incongruity with the worn boards they stood on with the fading signals and grey eternal walls of that antique station which familiar to them and insignificant does yet whisper to the tourist the last enchantments of the Middle Age At the door of the first class waiting room aloof and venerable stood the Warden of Judas An ebon pillar of tradition seemed he in his garb of old fashioned cleric Aloft between the wide brim of his silk hat and the white extent of his shirt front appeared those eyes which hawks that nose which eagles had often envied He supported his years on an ebon stick He alone was worthy of the background Came a whistle from the distance The breast of an engine was descried and a long train curving after it under a flight of smoke It grew and grew Louder and louder its noise foreran it It became a furious enormous monster and with an instinct for safety all men receded from the platform s margin Yet came there with it unknown to them a danger far more terrible than itself Into the station it came blustering with cloud and clangour Ere it had yet stopped the door of one carriage flew open and from it in a white travelling dress in a toque a twinkle with fine diamonds a lithe and radiant creature slipped nimbly down to the platform A cynosure indeed A hundred eyes were fixed on her and half as many hearts lost to her The Warden of Judas himself had mounted on his nose a pair of black rimmed glasses Him spying the nymph darted in his direction The throng made way for her She was at his side Grandpapa she cried and kissed the old man on either cheek Not a youth there but would have bartered fifty years of his future for that salute My dear Zuleika he said welcome to Oxford Have you no luggage Heaps she answered And a maid who will find it Then said the Warden let us drive straight to College He offered her his arm and they proceeded slowly to the entrance She chatted gaily blushing not in the long avenue of eyes she passed through All the youths under her spell were now quite oblivious of the relatives they had come to meet Parents sisters cousins ran unclaimed about the platform Undutiful all the youths were forming a serried suite to their enchantress In silence they followed her They saw her leap into the Warden s landau they saw the Warden seat himself upon her left Nor was it until the landau was lost to sight that they turned how slowly and with how bad a grace to look for their relatives Through those slums which connect Oxford with the world the landau rolled on towards Judas Not many youths occurred for nearly all it was the Monday of Eights Week were down by the river cheering the crews
