Zwarte Theologie In Zuidafrika:

Zwarte theologie in Zuid-Afrika Basil Moore, 1975 Children of the Waters of Meribah Allan Boesak, 2019-10-30 In the decades since Black liberation theology burst onto the scene it has turned the world of church society and academia upside down. It has changed lives and ways of thinking as well. But now there is a question: What lessons has Black theology not learned as times have changed? In this expansion of the 2017 Yale Divinity School Beecher Lectures, Allan Boesak explores this question. If Black liberation theology had taken the issues discussed in these pages much more seriously, struggled with them much more intensely, thoroughly and honestly, would it have been in a better position to help oppressed black people in Africa, the United States, and oppressed communities everywhere as they have faced the challenges of the last twenty-five years? In a critical, self-critical engagement with feminist and especially African feminist theologians in a transdisciplinary conversation, Allan Boesak as Black liberation theologian from the Global South offers tentative but intriguing responses to the vital questions facing Black liberation theology today, particularly those questions raised by the women.

'Maar we wisten ons door de Heer geroepen' Caspar Dullemond, Barbara Henkes, James Kennedy, 2017. Nederlanders emigreerden naar Zuid-Afrika en sloten zich aan bij een plaatselijke kerk of ze stichtten er zelf een. Zuid-Afrikaanse theologiestudenten volgden in Nederland een deel van hun opleiding. Nederlandse zendelingen werkten onder de Bantoes, Zoeloes en andere Afrikaanse volkeren. Kerken en kerkelijke groeperingen in beide landen onderhielden contacten met elkaar, soms in een breder internationaal verband. Tussen protestanten, christelijk Nederland en Zuid-Afrika bestond een levendige uitwisseling van personen en ideeën, ook of misschien wel juist tijdens de jaren dat Zuid-Afrika een repressief politiek systeem van apartheid kende. Hoe heeft deze culturele en religieuze transfer het debat over apartheid in beide landen beïnvloed? In deze bundel behandelen zeven historici, twee theologen en een antropoloog aspecten van dit vraagstuk, waarbij zowel de steun voor apartheid als de strijd ertegen aan bod komt. Want in dit conflict wisten beide partijen zich door de Heer geroepen.

Farewell to Innocence Allan Aubrey Boesak, 2015-05-01. While we acknowledge that all expressions of liberation theology are not identical, we must protest very strongly against the false divisions that some make between black theology in South Africa and black theology in the United States, between black theology and African theology, and between black theology and Latin American liberation theology. But moving away from the illusioned universality of western theology to the contextuality of liberation theology is a risky business, one that cannot be done innocently. In the search for theological and human authenticity in its own situation, black theology does not stand alone. It is but one expression of this search going on within many different contexts. Until now, the Christian church had chosen to move through history with a bland kind of innocence, hiding the painful truths of oppression behind a facade of myths and real or imagined anxieties. This is no longer possible. The oppressed who believe in God, the Father of Jesus Christ, no longer want to believe in the myths created to subjugate them. It is no longer possible to innocently accept history as it happens silently, hoping that God would take the responsibility for human failure The theology of liberation spells out this realization For the Christian church it constitutes in no uncertain terms farewell to innocence
