Spain, 2013-11-21 During the past five years increased awareness of environmental contamination by nitroaromatic compounds has led to a dramatic increase in research on their biodegradation The resulting discoveries have markedly extended our understanding of degradation mechanisms and pathways in bacteria and fungi Furthermore this new basic knowledge promises the development of field applications of biodegradation systems for nitroaromatic compounds In May of 1994 an International Symposium on the Biodegradation of Nitroaromatic Compounds was held in Las Vegas Nevada This symposium brought together the scientists at the frontiers of research into the biodegradation of nitroaromatic compounds The invited speakers were asked to review their area of expertise and write a critical comprehensive synthesis of their work and related work by others This book is the result of their efforts The emphasis of the reviews is on basic research in biodegradation and biotransformation Therefore the reactions of nitroaromatic compounds in plants animals bacteria fungi soil and even nonbiological systems are considered The goal of the work is to provide the reader with an appreciation of the tremendous range of possibilities for metabolism of aromatic nitro compounds and the experimental approaches used to understand them This volume should be of interest to biochemists microbiologists engineers toxicologists and anyone interested in the behavior of synthetic chemicals in the environment or in living systems Furthermore a variety of commercial applications can be envisioned for some of the reactions described here Toxicological Profile for 2,4- and 2,6- Dinitrotoluene, 1989 Hamilton and Hardy's Industrial Toxicology Raymond D.
