Unspeakable Love Gay And Lesbian Life In The Middle East:

Unspeakable Love Brian Whittaker, 2011-08-16 Homosexuality is a taboo subject in the Arab world While clerics denounce it as a heinous sin newspapers write cryptically of shameful acts and deviant behaviour Amid the calls for reform in the Middle East homosexuality is one issue that almost everyone in the region would prefer to ignore In this absorbing account Guardian journalist Brian Whitaker calls attention to the voices of men and women who are struggling with gay identities in societies where they are marginalised and persecuted by the authorities He paints a disturbing picture of people who live secretive fearful lives and who are often jailed beaten and ostracised by their families or sent to be cured by psychiatrists Deeply informed and engagingly written Unspeakable Love reveals that while deeply repressive prejudices and stereotypes still govern much thinking about homosexuality there are pockets of change and tolerance This updated edition includes new material covering developments since the book's first publication

The Greenwood Encyclopedia of LGBT Issues Worldwide Chuck Stewart, 2009-12-18 This set has an ambitious scope with the goal of offering the most up to date international overview of key issues in the lives of lesbian gay bisexual and transgender individuals HIV AIDS has been a major media focus but this set fosters a broader understanding of the status of LGBT individuals in their society More than 70 countries are represented The clear accessible prose is appropriate for high school student research on up The material is especially needed in a cultural climate that increasingly supports and requires information about LGBT populations The content is useful for a paper on a hot topic health classes discussion groups and gay straight alliance groups

Islam and Homosexuality Samar Habib, 2009-11-12 An extensive collection of essays that examines the place of homosexuality in the contemporary and classical Muslim world The place of sexual and gender minorities in the contemporary Islamic world is the subject of fascinating new directions in research and scholarly thought Islam and Homosexuality gathers together 20 experts exploring these issues to provide an expansive look at the treatment of same sex interactions in Muslim cultures today Islam and Homosexuality offers one volume on the specific experiences of gay Muslims today and a second volume viewing the issue from a global perspective Essays explore the lives of LGBTIQ persons in both Islamic nations and Muslim communities in non Islamic countries Additional writings explore the roots of homophobia in the theology of Islam the various judgments against homosexuality in the different schools of Islamic law and the potential scriptural basis for including LGBTIQ persons in the Muslim community No other resource on the relationship between LGBTIQ persons and the world's largest religion covers the topic with anything approaching this work's range or depth

Sapphistries Leila J Rupp, 2009-10-28 A lyrical and meticulously researched mapping of the ways in which diverse societies have shaped female same sex sexuality across time and geography From the ancient poet Sappho to tomboys in contemporary Indonesia women throughout history and around the globe have desired loved and had sex with other women In beautiful prose Sapphistries tells their stories capturing the multitude of ways that diverse societies have shaped female same sex sexuality across time and place Leila J Rupp reveals how from the time of the very earliest societies the possibility of love between women has been known even when it is feared ignored or denied We hear women in the sex segregated spaces of convents and harems whispering words of love We see women beginning to find each other on the streets of London and Amsterdam in the aristocratic circles of Paris in the factories of Shanghai We find women s desire and love for women meeting the light of day as Japanese schoolgirls fall in love and lesbian bars and clubs spread from 1920s Berlin to 1950s Buffalo And we encounter a world of difference in the twenty first century as transnational concepts and lesbian identities meet local understandings of how two women might love each other Giving voice to words from the mouths and pens of women and from men s prohibitions reports literature art imaginings pornography and court cases Rupp also creatively employs fiction to imagine possibilities when there is no historical evidence Sapphistries combines lyrical narrative with meticulous historical research providing an eminently readable and uniquely sweeping story of desire love and sex between women around the globe from the beginning of time to the present

The Homoerotics of Orientalism Joseph A. Boone, 2014-03-18 The place of the Middle East in European heterosexual fantasy is well documented in the works of Edward Said and others yet few have considered the male Anglo European and later American writers artists travelers and thinkers compelled to represent what to their eyes seemed to be an abundance of erotic relations between men in the Islamic world Whether feared or desired the mere possibility of sexual contact with or between men in the Middle East has covertly underwritten much of the appeal and practice of the enterprise of Orientalism frequently repeating yet just as often upending its assumed meanings Traces of this undertow abound in European and Middle Eastern fiction diaries travel literature erotica ethnography painting photography film and digital media Joseph Allen Boone explores these vast representations linking European art to Middle Eastern sources largely unfamiliar to Western audiences and in some cases reproduced in this volume for the first time

A War of Colors Nadine A. Sinno, 2024-04-02 Demonstrates the role of Beirut s postwar graffiti and street art in transforming the cityscape and animating resistance Over the last two decades in Beirut graffiti makers have engaged in a fierce war of colors seeking to disrupt and transform the city s physical and social spaces In A War of Colors Nadine Sinno examines how graffiti and street art have been used in postwar Beirut to comment on the rapidly changing social dynamics of the country and region Analyzing how graffiti makers can reclaim and transform cityscapes that were damaged or monopolized by militias during the war Sinno explores graffiti's other roles including forging civic engagement commemorating cultural icons protesting political corruption and environmental violence and animating resistance In addition she argues that graffiti making can offer voices to those who are often marginalized especially women and LGBTQ people Copiously illustrated with images of graffiti and street art A War of Colors is a visually captivating and thought provoking journey through Beirut where local and global discourses intersect on both scarred and polished walls in the city

Queering Social Work Education Susan Hillock, Nick J. Mulé, 2017-01-17 Until now there has been a systemic failure within social work education to address the unique experiences and concerns of LGBTQ individuals and communities Queering Social Work Education the first book of its kind in North America responds to the need for theoretically informed inclusive and sensitive approaches in the field This completely original collection of essays combines history and personal narratives with much needed analyses and recommendations It opens with chapters contextualizing LGBTQ history theory and issues It then offers first hand accounts of oppression resistance and celebration Finally it reflects on the current state of social work education and makes essential recommendations for improvement By equipping readers with a new awareness of and sensitivity to queer issues this book contributes positively to the future of social work education research policy and practice
