Untamed Urbanisms Adriana Allen, Mark Swilling, Andrea Lampis, 2015-08-24 One of the major challenges of urban development has been reconciling the way cities develop with the mounting evidence of resource depletion and the negative environmental impacts of predominantly urban based modes of production and consumption This book aims to re politicise the relationship between urban development sustainability and justice and to explore the tensions emerging under real circumstances as well as their potential for transformative change For some cities are the root of all that is unsustainable while for others cities provide unique opportunities for sustainability oriented innovations that address equity and ecological challenges This book is rooted in the latter category but recognises that if cities continue to evolve along current trajectories they will be where the large bulk of the most unsustainable and inequitable human activities are concentrated By drawing on a range of case studies from both the global South and global North this book is unique in its aim to develop an integrated social ecological perspective on the challenge of sustainable urban development Through the interdisciplinary and original research of a new generation of urban researchers across the global South and North this book addresses old debates in new ways and raises new questions about sustainable urban development It will be of interest to researchers city managers and a wide range of policy actors in government civil society and the private sector An electronic version of this book is available Open Access at www.tandfebooks.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 3.0 license Sustainable Urban

Transitions Zaheer Allam, 2023-07-18 This book aims to explore how sustainability transitions can be explored in current and future cities and how research and policy approaches can be applied to change urban life as we know it hence aligning the two thematic of urban science and future science for achieving deep decarbonization On this the discourse on philosophy ethics and morality appertaining to sustainable cities and urban transitions across disciplines are also welcomed as it provides a deeper understanding of humanity in future scenarios Chapter 08 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link.springer.com Explorations in Urban and Regional Dynamics

Joel Dearden, Alan Wilson, 2015-03-27 The task of modelling the evolution of cities the dynamics is one of the major challenges of the social sciences This book presents mathematical and computer models of urban and regional dynamics and shows how advances in computer visualisation provide new insights Models of non linear systems in general have three characteristics multiple equilibria path dependence over time and phase transitions that is abrupt change at critical parameter values These phenomena all exhibit themselves in reality and it is an ongoing task to match model based analysis with real phenomena There are three key features of cities and regions to be represented in models activities at a location residence health education work and shopping flows between locations spatial interaction and the structures that carry these activities buildings transport and communications networks Spatial interaction and many elements of activities location can be modelled by statistical averaging procedures which are related to Boltzmann's methods in statistical mechanics This is while the evolution of structure can be represented in equations that connect to the Lotka Volterra equations in ecology Within this broad framework alternative approaches can be brought to bear This book uses entropy maximising versions of spatial interaction models The authors explore the dynamics in more detail using advanced visualisation techniques These ideas have wide potential uses and the book illustrates this with applications in history and archaeology Housing in African Cities Margot Rubin, Sarah Charlton, Neil Klug, 2023-11-27 This edited collection from across the African continent offers a diverse set of analytical accounts that engage with the urban governance dynamics drivers and impacts of a wide variety of housing initiatives These include insights into the relationships between parties and actors undertaking developments or whose housing activities impact on the city The book illustrates issues of power distribution the visions or agendas motivating these actions and the instruments used to advance them It considers the rise of mega housing projects private sector driven residential developments unobtrusive transformations of existing building stock establishment and upgrading of informal settlements and state driven low cost housing schemes It surfaces the contestation collaborations and conflicts as well as the power relations that operate within cities and which are made visible on cityscapes Housing and human settlement scholars as well as those interested in urban politics and governance dynamics in the global south and across the African continent will find much to appreciate in this volume Chicago John F. McDonald, 2015-08-14 Chicago went from nothing in 1830 to become the second largest city in the nation in 1900 while the Midwest developed to become one of the world's foremost urban areas This book is an economic history of the Chicago metropolitan area from the 1820s to the present It examines the city in its Midwestern region and compares it to the other major cities of the North This book uses theories of the economics of location and other economic models to explain much of Chicago's history Chicago maintained its status as the second largest city through the first decades of the 20th century but rapid growth shifted to the Sunbelt following World War II Since the 1950s the city's history can be divided into four distinct periods growth with suburbanization 1950 1970 absence of growth continued suburbanization and central city crisis 1970 1990 rebound in the 1990s and financial crisis and deep recession after 2000 Through it all Chicago has maintained its position as the economic capital of the Midwest The book is a synthesis of available literature and public data and stands as an example of using economics to understand much of the history of Chicago This book is intended for the college classroom urban scholars and for those interested in the history of one of world's foremost urban areas Human Aspects of IT for the Aged explores the dynamics of place location and territories from the perspective of an experience based economy It offers a valuable contribution to this new approach and the planning and management challenges it faces This book emphasises three key avenues to understanding the experience economy First the book reconsiders innovation processes and the relationship between the consumption and production of experience value Second it considers emerging forms of governance related to experience based development in businesses and cities Third it examines the role of place as a value resource and outcome of experiential innovation and planning This book will be of interested to researchers concerned with urban and regional development

Knowledge Intensive Business Services and Regional Competitiveness João J. M. Ferreira, Mário L. Raposo, Cristina I. Fernandes, Marcus Dejardin, 2016-04-20 Research interest in the service sector has boomed in recent years as deindustrialisation became entrenched Instead of being regarded as merely supplementary to traditional industry and manufacturing services have generated progressively rising levels of growth in developed economies while at the same time coming to be recognised as major drivers of innovation Among the factors which have helped service companies notch up swifter growth rates than all other sectors are the outsourcing of such services by other sectors including the development of information and communication technologies and changes to the regulatory legal and market frameworks as well as globalisation and internationalisation The result is a cluster of highly innovative firms which can loosely be grouped under the heading of Knowledge Intensive Business Services KIBS Knowledge Intensive Business Services and Regional Competitiveness charts the development of these firms and explores their success through four mutually linked parts KIBS and industrial dynamics KIBS and their context KIBS and their contribution to regional competitiveness and economic development and finally KIBS and public policy This book is suitable for researchers and policy makers interested in the rise of these influential actors and their influence on regional competitiveness

Broadband Telecommunications and Regional Development Tony H. Grubestic, Elizabeth A. Mack, 2015-09-07 Broadband is one of the most transformative technologies of the 21st century yet our understanding of its regional impacts remains somewhat rudimentary Not only are issues of broadband pricing and speed relevant in this context but the overall quality of service for broadband can often dictate its impacts on regional development This book illuminates the regional impacts of this pervasive and important technology The principle aim of this book is to deepen our understanding of broadband and its connections to regional development First it uses a geospatial lens to explore how the relationship between broadband and regional development influences access to technology platforms dictates provision patterns and facilitates the shrinkage of space and time in non uniform and sometimes unexpected ways Second it book provides a comprehensive guide that details the strengths and weaknesses of publically available broadband data and their associated uncertainties allowing regional development professionals and researchers to make more informed decisions regarding data use analytical models and policy recommendations Finally this book is the first to detail the growing importance of broadband to digital innovation and entrepreneurship in regions This book will be of interest to regional development professionals and researchers in economics public policy geography regional science and planning

Quality of Life in Cities Alessandra Michelangeli, 2015-03-27 In the last few decades urban quality of life has received increasing interest from policy makers who aim to make cities better places to live In addition to the aim of improving quality of life sustainable and equitable development is also often included in the policy agendas of decision makers This book aims to link quality of life to related issues such as sustainability equity and subjective well being While less than one third of the world's population lived in cities in 1950 about two thirds of humanity is expected to live in urban areas by 2030 This dramatic increase in the number of people living in urban areas serves as the backdrop for this book's analysis of cities This book will be useful to students and researchers in economics architecture and urban planning sociology and political sciences as well as policy makers

Tourist Clusters, Destinations and Competitiveness Francesco Capone, 2015-12-14 Tourism has become one of the largest and fastest growing sectors in the world economy Increasingly research on tourism destinations has been at the centre of debates concerning destination competitiveness governance policies and destination management and marketing This book investigates tourist destinations from two different perspectives First it approaches destinations using the concept of tourist clusters and investigates their role in competitiveness and firm performances The second perspective studies the development of models of competitiveness and governance It also develops an international benchmarking system of 15 EU countries with an additional focus on Italy UK and United States The book will appeal to academics scholars and practitioners in tourism studies management urban and regional studies and economic geography etc

Knowledge Economy in the Megalopolis T. R. Lakshmanan, William P. Anderson, Yena Song, 2015-10-05 In recent decades urban regions around the world have engaged in a new process of development based on the creation of new knowledge Amidst the globalization of economic activities and the arrival of transformative technologies knowledge has become the key driver of competitiveness and is profoundly reshaping the patterns of economic growth and activity This book offers a comprehensive new model of the rise of a Knowledge Economy and its evolutionary development in the Megalopolis These regions are developing new institutions and governance mechanisms to adapt disseminate and utilize available knowledge to promote continuing development of their Knowledge Economies However such developments are accompanied by increasing inequalities in incomes and in urban services This book examines the resilience of some urban regions and their recent emergence as vibrant Knowledge Economies It also reviews the recent renewal and growth in the Megalopolis stretching along the Atlantic Seaboard along the metropolitan areas of Boston New York Philadelphia Baltimore and Washington DC This book will appeal to researchers and professionals interested in urban and regional development and to business groups interested in economic development

Regional Disparities in the Enlarged European Union Valentina Meliciani, 2015-10-14 The last twenty years have seen an increase in European integration and the emergence of the technological revolution Although tighter integration coupled with technological innovation should facilitate cross regional convergence some European regions have managed to jump ahead while others have been left behind This book examines the regional characteristics that favour growth and analyses the relevance of innovation socio economic and structural factors in shaping regional economic disparities In this book particular attention is devoted to the EU enlargement towards the East to its consequences on Europe s traditional North South divide and to the increasing regional disparities in new member states after the transition It demonstrates the growing importance of innovation and human capital in explaining the increase in income and employment disparities in old EU members particularly after the 2008 financial crisis It also shows that for newcomers regional disparities are essentially linked to socio economic factors as capital regions approach Western standards while others mainly old industrial regions and peripheral ones lag behind This book integrates theoretical discussion with empirical evidence and will appeal to regional scientists interested in regional inequalities and to policy makers concerned with devising effective strategies to tackle regional disparities in Europe

Regional Development in Australia Robyn Eversole, 2015-12-22 In Australia regions are not just geographic locations they are also cultural ideas Being regional means being located outside the nation s capital cities and in the periphery of its centres of power and influence Regional development in Australia is thus significantly different than its European or American counterparts However surprisingly little has been written about the unique dynamics of development in Australia s regions this book has been written to fill this gap In recent decades the Australian government has made repeated policy efforts to achieve sustainable development in its non metropolitan areas Over the same period those who live and work outside the nation s capital cities have come to identify as regional Australians This book takes an anthropological approach to understanding the particularities of regional development in Australia It draws upon rich on the ground observations of towns industries universities development organisations and communities across different settings to provide an in depth understanding of the subject This book will be of interest to researchers and practitioners concerned with regional development and policy

The SAGE Handbook of the 21st Century City Suzanne Hall, Ricky Burdett, 2017-10-16 The SAGE Handbook of the 21st Century City focuses on the dynamics and disruptions of the contemporary city in relation to capricious processes of global urbanisation mutation and resistance An international range of scholars engage with emerging urban conditions and inequalities in experimental ways speaking to new ideas of what constitutes the urban highlighting empirical explorations and expanding on contributions to policy and design The handbook is organised around nine key themes through which familiar analytic categories of race gender and class as well as binaries such as the urban rural are readdressed These thematic sections together capture the volatile processes and intricacies of urbanisation that reveal the turbulent nature of our early twenty first century Hierarchy Elites and Evictions Productivity Over investment and Abandonment Authority Governance and Mobilisations Volatility Disruption and Adaptation Conflict Vulnerability and Insurgency Provisionality Infrastructure and Incrementalism Mobility Re bordering and De bordering Civility Contestation and Encounter Design Speculation and Imagination This is a provocative inter disciplinary handbook for all academics and researchers interested in contemporary urban studies

Regional Development and Forgotten Spaces María del Carmen Sánchez Carreira, Paulo Jorge Reis Mourão, Bruno Blanco-Varela, 2023 This book constitutes a novel contribution combining recent theoretical developments and empirical contributions as well as the recent and latest trends and challenges on the issue of Forgotten Spaces Forgotten Spaces like the Forgotten Regions in particular are spaces that in potential can and do create significant value if their resources are properly rediscovered and create many potential costs if these spaces are increasingly neglected by economic agents The editors have identified a gap in current research because there is not enough empirical evidence about these places as well as about the role of their actors Abandoning regions can lead to for example pollution uncontrolled forest fires vandalism heritage deterioration and potentially untreated industrial facilities carrying potential costs not only in environmental sustainability but also in values such as landscape aesthetics Thus this book reflects on the dimensions of the identification of such Forgotten Spaces on the design of policies focused on minimizing associated costs and on the scope of programs to promote these areas not only for upgrading them but also for promoting their environmental sustainability The comparative approach of the empirical part also allows knowledge and experience from diverse longitudes and latitudes The editors highlight the richness of the experience of Latin American countries the polarization and interesting experiences from several sector rediscovered in Europe as well as the holistic cases coming from several African experiences This book will attract the attention of academicians politicians and ultimately the attention of all decision makers who most likely are forgetting many of the Spaces around them

Planning and the Multi-local Urban Experience Kimmo Lapintie, 2022-05-11 The starting point of this book is the observation that there is a discrepancy between the lived reality of human beings and the fabricated planned and governed reality of the state apparatus at both the local and national level The book posits multi locality as an emerging spatial configuration The author draws from various theoretical sources such as Deleuze and Guattari s concepts of state or royal science the Nietzschean critique of idealism H gerstrnad s time geography Hintikka s theory of modalities Lefebvre s urban society Castel s network society Foucault s concept of heterotopia and Bhaskar s and Sartre s theories of presence and absence He also discusses the implications of Faludi s post territorialist critique of planning and governance and of the failure to operationalise the concept quantitatively basing his arguments in the lived experiences of multi locals as well The novelty of the book is how it analyses multi locality from such a wide theoretical perspective what is the nature and meaning of the different multiple and coexistent places for people and how is this spatial transformation related to their mobility everyday practices and work How does the presence and absence of places form their identity and their citizenship He also addresses the inconsistency between multi locality and traditional statistics and the planning and governance practices based on the assumption of unilocality and discusses the implications of this incongruity The book will be of interest to scholars in urban studies and planning theory as well as practitioners developing more adequate practices replacing outdated ones

Urbanism, Colonialism, and the World-Economy Anthony King, 2015-03-27 Recent years have witnessed a surge in public awareness concerning the impact of world economic forces on cities. In this challenging book, the author argues that though the consciousness is new, the phenomena themselves are not. For the past two centuries at least, world economic, political, and cultural forces have been major factors shaping cities, patterns of urbanization, and the physical and spatial forms of the built environment. Anthony King believes that the historical context of contemporary global restructuring must be recognized if present-day urban and regional change is to be properly understood. He explores and documents the cultural and spatial links between metropolitan core and colonial periphery and examines the historical foundations of the world urban system. He also looks at the social production of building and urban form and demonstrates their potential for understanding economic, political, social, and cultural change on a global scale.
