Müller, 2024-10-24 The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies 2nd Edition offers a comprehensive re evaluation of the recent developments conceptual theoretical and empirical debates and critical issues in this field of study Reflecting on and building from its original aim of rethinking geographical approaches to tourism the volume explores contemporary tourism contexts and concepts as marked by the present era of polycrises setting out renewed and reoriented perspectives on tourism geographies into the mid 2020s Across its diverse range of contributions the Handbook navigates the complexities of tourism as a shifting construct situating tourism geographies within the socio spatial economic and environmental implications of tourism leisure and mobilities in the new contexts of global change ecological transition and digital transformation The volume aims to provide a nuanced and detailed analysis of established and emerging discourses and debates within tourism geographies underscoring the field s inherent criticality and ideal positioning for understanding and catalysing complex global and local scenarios in contemporary tourism leisure and mobilities Written by leading scholars in the tourism geographies field this text is an invaluable resource for students researchers and scholars working in the areas of tourism geography and related disciplines encouraging dialogue across areas of study

A Research Agenda for Tourism Geographies Dieter K. Müller, 2019 In recent years tourism geographies have developed into a vibrant field of research at the intersection of geography and tourism studies The book presents a unique collection of individual research agendas aiming to inspire the pursuit of new avenues of research Although there have been arguments to apply post disciplinary perspectives within tourism research this book highlights the interest and potential of tourism geographers to contribute to a geographical tradition and influence the future content of geography as a discipline

Proximity and Intraregional Aspects of Tourism Jelmer Jeuring, Inmaculada Diaz Soria, 2018-10-18 Tourism research often tends to overlook both the mundane of the exotic and the exotic of the everyday However when acknowledging that exoticism is not necessarily linked to geographical distance it is similarly possible to attribute touristic otherness to and experience unfamiliarity in a geographically proximate environment This entails a need to rethink the intertwining relationships of meanings of the exotic and the mundane as well as the ways people make meaning of their everyday environment through processes of territorialization and identification in a tourism context The articles collected in this book cover a range of examples of tourism practices in a context of geographical proximity where home and away everyday life and tourism intersect While the settings methodologies and concepts vary considerably each contribution is an attempt to rethink the hegemonic linear framing of tourism in dichotomies such as familiar and unfamiliar nearby and far host and guest mundane and exotic The examples findings and conclusions of the various authors contribute to an understanding of tourism that is multiple and relative to an open minded and critical attitude towards the institutionalized anchors of our society in which tourism takes such a prominent place that it has almost become ordinary This book was originally published as a special issue of the Tourism Geographies journal

Handbook on Tourism and Social Media Gursoy, Dogan, Kaurav, Rahul P.S., 2022-02-11 This comprehensive Handbook offers an overview of current research on the use of social media within the tourism industry investigating a range of social media practices and proposing strategies to address key challenges faced by tourist destinations and operators

Affect and Emotion in Tourism Dorina-Maria Buda, Jennie Germann Molz, 2023-03-31 Bringing affect and emotion to the forefront of tourism studies this book presents a new generation of scholars who consolidate emerging affective approaches and establish a route for scholarship that examines the roles of emotion and affect in tourism Attuning to affect and emotion this book steers the affective turn to encompass touring bodies and tourism places Engaging the concept of affect as a constitutive element of social life often leaves academics grasping for terminology to describe something that is by its very nature beyond words For this reason as evident in the four interconnected sections of this volume studying affect poses a significant and fruitful challenge to the status quo of social scientific method and analysis From African American emotional labour while travelling to visiting Banksy's Dismaland park to affective heritagescapes self love and travelling mittens and across socio spatial theories of emotions decolonial feminist theory and atmospheric politics this book demonstrates the epistemic and empirical richness of affective tourism Along with the contributors to this volume the editors make a case for thinking about emotions and affects through collective and individual practices as interrelated shaping tourism encounters in and with places That is to break it down as doing and as shared between bodies and places through the doing The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies

Overtourism and Cruise Tourism in Emerging Destinations on the Arabian Peninsula Manuela Gutberlet, 2023-07-31 Cruise tourism is one of the fastest growing sectors worldwide This book is the first of its kind to provide in depth insights into the emergence of mega cruise tourism in destinations on the Arabian Peninsula and its impacts on local communities their spaces cultures identities and tourist experiences It offers a micro sociological analysis calling for holistic participatory mindful approaches and to rethink current exploitative tourism planning and development It assumes a high political social and economic importance within globalization It draws on a long term field study in an under researched region in Asia that developed large scale tourism recently to diversify the economy The book provides insights on the destination development from a state of continuous growth to a sudden fall in tourism activities due to a sudden shock caused by the global health pandemic and its resilience It explores the sociocultural economic and spatial challenges faced in international tourism development and its power relations analysed from different perspectives and within time It analyses time space compression overtourism urban tourism nature based tourism enclavization social capital imaginaries Cultural Ecosystem Services slow tourism as well as just tourism The book provides an innovative contribution to the planning and development of tourism destinations communities and their spaces in which tourism operates in a fast pace It will be of interest to academics undergraduate and postgraduate students in the field of tourism and hospitality management geography sociology anthropology urban planning and environmental sciences Moreover the book will be useful for practitioners and policymakers around the globe as well as all those interested in the fast emergence and the impacts of mega cruise tourism Tourism, Tourists and Society Richard Sharpley, 2018-05-01

Tourism Tourists and Society provides a broad introduction to the inter relationship between tourism and society making complex sociological concepts and themes accessible to readers from a non sociological academic background It provides a thorough exploration of how society influences or shapes the behaviours motivations attitudes and consumption of tourists as well as the tourism impacts on destination societies The fifth edition has been fully revised and updated to reflect recent data concepts and academic debates New content on mobilities paradigm and the emotional dimension of tourist experiences New chapter Tourism and the Digital Revolution looking at the ways in which the Internet and mobile technology transform both tourist behaviour and the tourist experience New end of chapter further reading and discussion topics Accessible yet critical in style this book offers students an invaluable introduction to tourism tourists and society Tourism Geography Stephen Williams, Alan A. Lew, Tourism Geography Stephen Williams, 2009-06-02

Tourism is an intensely geographic phenomenon It stimulates large scale global movement of people and forges distinctive relationships between people and the places they visit It shapes processes of physical development and resource exploitation whilst the presence of visitors exerts a range of economic social cultural and environmental impacts that often have important implications for local geographies This second edition of Tourism Geography develops a critical understanding of how different geographies of tourism are created and maintained Drawing on both historical and contemporary perspectives the discussion which is in three main parts connects tourism to key geographical concepts relating to globalization mobility new geographies of production and consumption and post industrial change Part one examines how spatial patterns of tourism are formed and evolve through time Part two offers an extended discussion of how tourism relates to places that are toured examining physical and economic development socio cultural and environmental relations and the role of tourism planning Part three develops a range of new material for this second edition that considers important contemporary influences upon tourism geographies including place promotion new forms of urban tourism heritage identity and embodied forms of tourism Featuring international case studies and supported by up to date statistics the text offers a concise yet comprehensive review of tourism geography and how geographers can interpret this important contemporary process Written primarily as a student text each chapter includes guidance for further study and summary bibliographies that form the basis for independent work

Index to Theses with Abstracts Accepted for Higher Degrees by the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland and the Council for National Academic Awards ,2006      The Geography of Tourism and Recreation C. Michael Hall,Stephen J. Page,2014-05-09 This fourth edition of The Geography of Tourism and Recreation provides students with a comprehensive introduction to the interrelationship between tourism leisure and recreation from geographical and social science perspectives It still remains the only book to systematically compare and contrast in a spatial context tourism and recreation in relation to leisure time offering insight into the demand supply planning destination management and impacts of tourism and recreation Whilst retaining its accessible style and approach this edition has been significantly updated to reflect recent developments and new concepts from geography which are beginning to permeate the tourism and recreational field New features include Content on the most recent developments climate change sustainability mobilities and crisis management in time and space as well as trends such as low cost airlines and the control of land transport by transnational operators in the EU such as Arriva More attention to management issues such as innovation and the spatial consequences for tourism and leisure development New case studies and examples to showcase real life issues from both developed and developing countries especially the US China and South Africa Completely revised and redeveloped to accommodate new user friendly features case studies insights summary points and learning objectives Written by leading academics this is essential reading for all tourism geography leisure and recreation students      Tourism Spaces Alan A. Lew,2021-07-19 Geographic space is a fundamental and essential construct of the physical reality within which we live move and construct our world Through space we create others anything that is any distance from us and we experience time by moving from one place point to another Because it is so fundamental to our experience we often take geographic space for granted Tourism Spaces Environments Locations and Movements shows some of the ways that geographers and other social scientists bring spatial considerations to the forefront of our research and understanding of tourism This is seen through the spatial arrangements and distributions of tourism phenomena such as attractions destinations and in the spatial behaviour of tourists themselves Today these spatial arrangements and patterns are increasingly being captured analysed and understood through various forms of formal and informal digital data The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies      New Research Paradigms in Tourism Geography Alan A. Lew,2017-10-02 This collection of papers from Tourism Geographies emphasizes new and emerging research paradigms in the geographic study of tourism The papers included in this collection follow one of two threads explicitly supporting specific research frameworks or implicitly presenting new and emerging theoretical perspectives through empirical research on the geographical topics. These begin with three overview papers from themes that emerged from recent annual meetings of the Association of American Geographers including evolutionary economic geography, EEG, political ecology and community resilience. Each of these theoretical and conceptual frameworks is leading to new explorations and insights in a wide variety of geographical and social science research including tourism studies. These are followed by a series of papers that extend our knowledge and thinking on a range of key geographical topics including development and underdevelopment by Saarinen, Rogerson, sustainable tourism planning by Torres Delgado, Saarinen encounters with the natural environment by Hill and the geography of place names by Light as well as economic geography and new technologies and their applications to spatial behavior research. The papers in this special issue are especially relevant to tourism scholars and very much represent the types of perspectives that Tourism Geographies seek to promote. This book was published as a special issue of Tourism Geographies.

Abstracts of the Annual Meeting -- American Anthropological Association, 1996      The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies Julie Wilson, 2012-03-15. Geographical analysis of tourism spaces and places is advancing fast. In terms of human geography the various recent academic turns have led to fresh examination of existing debates and have advanced new theoretical ideas in geography that are more salient than ever for tourism studies. The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies seeks to examine such recent developments by providing a state of the art review of the field, documenting advances in research and evaluating different perspectives, approaches, techniques and contexts. The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Geographies considers recent disciplinary developments including post-disciplinarily in geography in relation to the study of tourism. It also analyzes the fledgling relationships of the new mobilities paradigm, critical tourism studies and cultural political economy to tourism spaces and places as well as acknowledging a spatial turn in poststructuralist social sciences more generally. In addition it evaluates how postcolonial, feminist, sensory, performative and queer perspectives have diversified research in the tourism geographies field. Spatial analysis, time geography, placemaking and landscape concerns are addressed and issues such as transport, environmental discourses and development are also analyzed. Finally the volume's contributions highlight key areas for advancing research and map out the dimensions of future trajectories in tourism geographies in different theoretical and thematic contexts. Written by leading scholars in the tourism geographies field, this text will provide an invaluable resource for all those with an interest in tourism geographies, encouraging dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and areas of study.
