The Sounds of Capitalism Timothy D. Taylor, 2024-05-31 From the early days of radio through the rise of television after World War II to the present music has been used more and more to sell goods and establish brand identities And since the 1920s songs originally written for commercials have become popular songs and songs written for a popular audience have become irrevocably associated with specific brands and products Today musicians move flexibly between the music and advertising worlds while the line between commercial messages and popular music has become increasingly blurred Timothy D Taylor tracks the use of music in American advertising for nearly a century from variety shows like The Clicquot Club Eskimos to the rise of the jingle the postwar upsurge in consumerism and the more complete fusion of popular music and consumption in the 1980s and after The Sounds of Capitalism is the first book to tell truly the history of music used in advertising in the United States and is an original contribution to this little studied part of our cultural history

A Democratic Approach to Religion News Ahmed Topkev, 2024-03-26 This book introduces the first systematic and unified four dimension democratic approach to newspaper religion reporting It explores the coverage of faith with a particular focus on Christianity and Islam in the British and Turkish national press The results of framing analysis conducted through content analysis of 1 022 news articles reveal that in both countries alongside the contrasting portrayals of the minority religions even the dominant religions had a disproportioned employment of the four dimensions spiritual world life political and conflict It contributes to scholarship not only empirically but also theoretically and methodologically with its theoretical and methodological contribution surpassing its empirical findings As such it will transcend geographical and temporal boundaries making it appealing and relevant to an international audience of academics professionals and students in the fields of journalism religion democracy media communication society and culture as well as individuals from various backgrounds
