Time, Will, and Mental Process Jason W. Brown, 2007-08-28 In this volume distinguished neurologist Jason W Brown extends the microgenetic theory of the mind by offering a new approach to the problem of time and free will Brown bases his work on a unitary process model of brain and behavior He examines the problem of subjective time and free will the experiential present the nature of intentionality and the creative properties of physical growth and mental process

Communicating with One Another Sabine Kowal, 2009-03-02 In contrast to traditional approaches of mainstream psycholinguists the authors of Communicating with One Another approach spontaneous spoken discourse as a dynamic process rich with structures patterns and rules other than conventional grammar and syntax Daniel C O Connell and Sabine Kowal thoroughly critique mainstream psycholinguistics proposing instead a shift in theoretical focus from experimentation to field observation from monologue to dialogue and from the written to the spoken They invoke four theoretical principles intersubjectivity perspectivity open endedness and verbal integrity Their analyses of historical and original research raise significant questions about the relationship between spoken and written discourse particularly with regard to transcription and punctuation With emphasis on political discourse media interviews and dramatic performance the authors review both familiar and unexplored characteristics of spontaneous spoken communication including 1 The speaker's use of prosody 2 The functions of interjections 3 What fillers do for a living 4 Turn taking Smooth and otherwise 5 Laughter applause and booing from individual listener to collective audience 6 Pauses silence and the art of listening The paradigm shift proposed in Communicating with One Another will interest and provoke readers concerned about communicative language use including psycholinguists sociolinguists and anthropological linguists

The Collected Works of L. S. Vygotsky L.S. Vygotsky, 1987 Presents a theoretical work originally written in the 1920s long believed to be lost by a Soviet psychologist He responds to the proliferation of different schools within the field with the formulation of a unified theory based on Marxism For scholars in psychology and the history of psychology Vygotsky's Psychology-Philosophy Dorothy Robbins, 2001-05-31 This book is an introduction to Vygotsky and his theories of language and second language acquisition Employing a dual framework of metatheory and metaphor the author focuses on Vygotsky's cultural historical perspective contrasted with the sociocultural heritage more prevalent in the West and its emphasis on history as change and thought as related to action Included also is a comparison of Vygotskian and Chomskyan theories of language and grammar

Time, Will, and Mental Process Jason W. Brown, 2010-12-06 In this volume distinguished neurologist Jason W Brown extends the microgenetic theory of the mind by offering a new approach to the problem of time and free will Brown bases his work on a unitary process model of brain and behavior He examines the problem of subjective time and free will the experiential present the nature of intentionality and the creative properties of physical growth and mental process

The Collected Works of L. S. Vygotsky Lev Semenovich Vygotskii, 1987 Language for Those Who Have Nothing Peter Good, 2006-04-11 The aim of Language for those who have Nothing is to think psychiatry through the writings of Mikhail Bakhtin Using the concepts of Dialogism and Polyphony the Carnival and the Chronotope a novel means of navigating the clinical landscape is developed Bakhtin offers language as a social phenomenon and one that is fully embodied Utterances are shown to be alive and enfolded and their meanings realised in the context of given social dimensions The organisation of this book corresponds with carnival practices of taking the high down to the low before replenishing its meaning anew Thus early discussions of official language and the chronotope become exposed to descending levels of analysis and emphasis Patients and practitioners are shown to occupy an entirely different spatio temporal topography These chronotopes have powerful borders and it is necessary to use the Carnival powers of cunning and deception in order to enter and to leave them The book provides an overview of practitioners who have attempted such transgression and the author records his own unnerving experience as a pseudopatient By exploring the context of psychiatry's unofficial voices its terminology jokes parodies and everyday narratives the clinical landscape is shown to rely heavily on unofficial dialogues in order to safeguard an official identity

Psychoenvironmental Forces in Substance Abuse Prevention Lorand B. Szalay, Jean Bryson Strohl, Kathleen T. Doherty, 2006-03-07 Psychological vulnerabilities and environment influences are the most powerful forces shaping the behavior and choices of students to use harmful substances This book employs computer assisted Associative Group Analysis technology of comparative imaging and cognitive mapping to identify these factors and offers new perspectives for more comprehensive risk assessments and effective prevention

Dialogical Genres Daniel C. O'Connell, Sabine Kowal, 2012-07-09 This work gives a thorough revision of history through a psychological approach to verbal interaction between listeners and speakers This book offers a large amount of information on the psychology of language and on psycholinguistics and focuses on a new direction for a psychology of verbal communication Empirical research includes media interviews public speeches and dramatic performances

The Bilingual Mind Rafael Art Javier, 2007-08-06 As bilingual individuals enter the educational system and the clinical landscape they struggle with intricate often painful questions of identity culture and assimilation Professionals working with these individuals need to complement their knowledge of specific cultural issues with the psychological processes that all bilingual speakers share The Bilingual Mind Thinking Feeling and Speaking in Two Languages fills a critical gap in the cross cultural literature by illuminating the bilingual experience in both its social and clinical contexts Rafael Javier makes a convincing empirically founded case for what he terms the bilingual mind with its own particular approach to cognition memory and emotional and social development From this framework he proceeds to salient but seldom examined questions such as What are the effects of bilingualism on cognitive development Is some degree of language shifting always present in bilingual thinking Do interpreters improve or compromise communication What assessment instruments are best suited to bilingual individuals What are the key issues in providing appropriate treatment interventions to bilingual patients How can professionals be better trained to work with this population. Given the prevalence of and controversies surrounding bilingualism today, the author intends his text to benefit a wide range of therapists, education professionals, and scholars. The Bilingual Mind will prove as valuable to the frontline clinician and the evaluator as to the linguistic student and the policymaker designing the future of bilingual services.
