Peires, 1982-01-01 In this first modern history of the Xhosa J B Peires relates the story of one of the most numerous and important indigenous peoples in contemporary South Africa from their consolidation through an era of cooperation and conflict with whites whom the Xhosa regarded as uncivilized to the frontier wars that eventuated in their present position as a subordinate group in the modern South African state Back cover The People's Paper Peter Limb, 2012-09-01 This much awaited volume uncovers the long lost pages of the major African multilingual newspaper Abantu Batho Founded in 1912 by African National Congress ANC convenor Pixley Seme with assistance from the Swazi Queen it was published up until 1931 attracting the cream of African politicians journalists and poets Mqhayi Nontsisi Mqgweth and Grendon In its pages burning issues of the day were articulated alongside cultural by ways The People s Paper comprising both essays and an anthology explores the complex movements and individuals that emerged in the almost twenty years of its publication The essays contribute rich new material to provide clearer insights into South African politics and intellectual life The anthology unveils a judicious selection of never before published columns from the paper spanning every year of its life and drawn from repositories on three continents Abantu Batho had a regional and international focus and by examining all these dynamics across boundaries and disciplines The People s Paper transcends established historiographical frontiers to fill a lacuna that scholars have long lamented Xhosa Poets and Poetry Jeff Opland, 1998 Xhosa oral poetry has defied the threats to its integrity over two centuries to take its place in a free South Africa This volume establishes the background to this poetic re emergence preserving and transmitting the voice of the Xhosa poet Fort Hare Papers ,1987 Language and Social History Rajend Mesthrie, 1995 A History of the Xhosa from 1600 to 1850 Jeffrey B. Peires, 1980 Stranger at Home Ashlee Naser, 2011-05 This book is about the poetry vision and deeply inhospitable context of one of South Africa's most talented praise poets The praise poet imbongi is a familiar cultural icon in contemporary South Africa Public events as diverse as presidential inaugurations openings of parliament fashion shows and boxing contests begin with the rousing declamations of charismatic iimbongi Yet until the institution of majority rule praise poets who sought to shock their audiences with dangerous truths could claim none of the prestige enjoyed by their present day counterparts Under apartheid many praise poets either ceased to perform or abandoned the imbongi's duty to diagnose and criticize political and social ills There was however one brilliant Xhosa imbongi called David Manisi a poet widely acclaimed in his youth as the successor to the great SEK Mqhayi who refused to capitulate to the ease of silence or complicity As documented by Jeff Opland in The Dassie and the Hunter UKZN Press Manisi worked tirelessly and in embattled contexts to address his audiences with demands criticisms and aspirations they frequently misunderstood The author of five volumes of Xhosa poetry and performer of inspired and elegantly crafted izibongo praise poems Manisi saw himself as a man of multiple places allegiances and identities at a time when these markers of self were rigidly policed Manisi's entrance on the local Transkeian poetry scene was legendary He was for a time the most famous poet in Kaiser Mathanzima's court He also wrote the first published poem about Nelson Mandela in 1954 hailing him prophetically as Gleaming Road Despite these early accomplishments Manisi ended his career as a lonely performer in American and South African universities He never met Mandela his hero of old Ashlee Naser examines Manisi as an inventive negotiator of rural and urban spaces modernity and tradition performance and publication the local and the foreign

Collected Seminar Papers, 1974 Inyathi Ibuzwa Kwabaphambili Babalwa Magoqwana, Siphokazi Magadla, Athambile Masola, 2024-10-21 This book seeks to create a systematic eclectic historical picture of the present and past women intellectuals activists artists and cultural custodians Using the concept of ukufukama incubate we connect intergenerational knowledge transfer of our elders to the current struggles faced by the younger generation of women We bring together different authors who engage the biographical and intellectual contributions of different African women and their imagination of the democratic South Africa Writing about the various feminist intellectual traditions between the 19th and 21st centuries this book systematically pulls together oral and creative texts to recover the memories of Nosuthu Jotelo Sarah Baartman Nontsizi Mgqwetho Phyllis Ntantala Brigalia Bam Umntwana uMagogo Miriam Makeba Sibongile Khumalo Lebo Mathosa Thandiswa Mazwai Celeste Ntuli Nkosazana Dlamini Zuma Neo Mathabe among the lives and works covered here This range of voices shows that intellectual work is varied and has the ability to sit alongside each other It importantly shows that scholarship emerges through community and conversation which is to say feminist histories are created and recreated through conversations that care about women's voices stories and being in the world Ultimately we think of the women featured in this book as forming a lineage a tradition of black women's survival wisdom which facilitated change and enduring radical transformation that demands theorisation and celebration

Love, Sex, Fleas, God Bruce Clark, 2012-07-01 Bruce Clark is the world's best dad Born and raised as a Scientologist the religion

cult s practices were his only reference points At age 16 disillusionment had set in and he was spewed out onto the streets uneducated and livid Deep into adulthood he remained pretty much like that until the love of a good woman grounded him They got married and at age 47 he was a father His story begins there Love Sex Fleas God is Clark s terrifically sad and funny account of life and parenthood seen through the eyes of one who knows about vulnerability A father who would do anything to protect his children and rear them well and a man who feels a stab every day as his wife leaves for work Tending to infants gently nudging their ascendancy becoming barely more than their launch pad into life Clark s story is What Women Want turned on its feet This book makes you laugh and cry It grips your heart and shows both the adult and child in you how frail and glorious a human life is

The Story of an African Game André Odendaal,2003 THE STORY OF AN AFRICAN GAME is a ground breaking book the first to cover in detail the history and experiences of black African cricketers in South Africa It is long overdue coming 195 years after the first recorded game of cricket in this country was played at the Green Point Common Cape Town in 1808 This is a book that will forever change the way we look at South Africa s cricket history and help us understand where the game is heading in the future

The Marcus Garvey and Universal Negro Improvement Association Papers, Volume XI Marcus Garvey,Universal Negro Improvement Association,1983 These papers contain over 2300 documents relating to the presence and influence of the Universal Negro Improvement Association in the Caribbean from 1911 to 1945

Walter & Albertina Sisulu Elinor Sisulu,2011-09-15 This is well told story and an important historical record of the struggle for a democratic South Africa

The Global First World War Ana Paula Pires,María Inés Tato,Jan Schmidt,2021-04-14 This volume deals with the multiple impacts of the First World War on societies from South Europe Latin America Asia and Africa usually largely overlooked by the historiography on the conflict Due to the lesser intensity of their military involvement in the war neutrals or latecomers these countries or regions were considered peripheral as a topic of research However in the last two decades the advances of global history recovered their importance as active wartime actors and that of their experiences This book will reconstruct some experiences and representations of the war that these societies built during and after the conflict from the prism of mediators between the war fought in the battlefields and their homes as well as the local appropriations and resignifications of their experiences and testimonies

Prophetic Identities Justin Tolly Bradford,2012 The spread of Christianity is often presented as a story of conquest of powerful European missionaries waging a cultural assault on hapless indigenous victims Yet the presence of indigenous men among missionary ranks in the nineteenth century complicates these narratives What compelled these individuals to embrace Christianity How did they reconcile being both Christian and indigenous in an age of empire Tolly Bradford finds answers to these questions in the lives and legacies of Henry Budd a Cree missionary from western Canada and Tiyo Soga a Xhosa missionary from southern Africa Inspired by both faith and family these men found in Christianity a way to construct a modern conception of indigeneity one informed by their ties to Britain and rooted in land and language rather than religion and lifestyle Although they shared a new sense of nativeness the men followed different paths Whereas Budd sought to create a modern Cree village to cope with the upheavals of the 1860s and 1870s Soga tried to foster among his people a politicized and Christianized sense of African nationalism In telling this story Bradford portrays indigenous missionaries not as victims of colonialism but as people who made conscious difficult choices about their spirituality identity and relationship with the British colonial world

The Cambridge Illustrated History of the British Empire P. J. Marshall, 2001-08-02 Up to World War II and beyond the British ruled over a vast empire Modern western attitudes towards the imperial past tend either towards nostalgia for British power or revulsion at what seem to be the abuses of that power The Cambridge Illustrated History of the British Empire adopts neither of these approaches It aims to create historical understanding about the British empire on the assumption that such understanding is important for any informed appreciation of the modern world Through striking illustration and a text written by leading experts this book examines the experience of colonialism in North America India Africa Australia and the Caribbean as well as the impact of the empire on Britain itself Emphasis is placed on social and cultural history including slavery trade religion art and the movement of ideas How did the British rule their empire Who benefited economically from the empire And who lost

The Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics Célestin Monga, Justin Yifu Lin, 2015-07-02 A popular myth about the travails of Africa holds that the continent's long history of poor economic performance reflects the inability of its leaders and policymakers to fulfill the long list of preconditions to be met before sustained growth can be achieved These conditions are said to vary from the necessary quantity and quality of physical and human capital to the appropriate institutions and business environments While intellectually charming and often elegantly formulated that conventional wisdom is actually contradicted by historical evidence and common sense It also suggests a form of intellectual mimicry that posits a unique path to prosperity for all countries regardless of their level of development and economic structure In fact the argument underlining that reasoning is tautological and the policy prescriptions derived from it are fatally teleological low income countries are by definition those where such ingredients are missing None of today's high income countries started its growth process with the required and complete list of growth ingredients Unless one truly believes that the continent of Africa and most developing countries are ruled predominantly if not exclusively by plutocrats with a high propensity for sadomasochism the conventional view must be re-examined debated and questioned This volume the second of the Oxford Handbook of Africa and Economics reassesses the economic policies and practices observed across the continent since independence It offers a collection of analyses by some of the leading economists and development thinkers of our time and reflects a wide range of perspectives and viewpoints Africa's emergence as a potential economic powerhouse in the years and decades ahead amply justifies the scope and ambition of the book
