Transformation Human Rights Fact Finding:

The Transformation of Human Rights Fact-Finding Philip Alston, Sarah Knuckey, 2015-11-23 Fact finding is at the heart of human rights advocacy and is often at the center of international controversies about alleged government abuses. In recent years human rights fact finding has greatly proliferated and become more sophisticated and complex while also being subjected to stronger scrutiny from governments. Nevertheless, despite the prominence of fact finding, it remains strikingly under studied and under theorized. Too little has been done to bring forth the assumptions, methodologies, and techniques of this rapidly developing field or to open human rights fact finding to critical and constructive scrutiny. The Transformation of Human Rights Fact Finding offers a multidisciplinary approach to the study of fact finding with rigorous and critical analysis of the field of practice while providing a range of accounts of what actually happens. It deepens the study and practice of human rights investigations and fosters fact finding as a discretely studied topic while mapping crucial transformations in the field. The contributions to this book are the result of a major international conference organized by New York University Law School's Center for Human Rights and Global Justice. Engaging the expertise and experience of the editors and contributing authors, it offers a broad approach encompassing contemporary issues and analysis across the human rights spectrum in law, international relations, and critical theory. This book addresses the major areas of human rights fact finding such as victim and witness issues, fact finding for advocacy enforcement and litigation, the role of interdisciplinary expertise and methodologies, crowd sourcing, social media, and big data, and international guidelines for fact finding. The fighting parties and international humanitarian relief actors in non international armed conflicts namely from the moment of the initiation of international humanitarian relief actions till their authorisation and throughout the consecutive stages of the delivery of relief From the practice of frontline humanitarian negotiations this book reconceptualizes how those rights and duties are coming into being and how compliance with agreements on humanitarian access and other international humanitarian law and international human rights norms can be ensured and or their normativity can be strengthened

Proving International Crimes Yvonne McDermott,2024-08-19 Proving International Crimes elucidates how international criminal tribunals have tackled the immense and complex task of proving international crimes such as genocide war crimes and crimes against humanity The challenges posed by the scale and scope of these crimes and the distance in time and space between their commission and their prosecution are well known Nevertheless investigators lawyers scholars and policy makers often look to the law and practice of international criminal tribunals to establish what standards need to be met in the collection preservation presentation and analysis of evidence to prove international crimes In offering a comprehensive account of the law and practice of evidence before international criminal courts and tribunals to date as well as recommendations for future practice this book aims to inform domestic regional and international accountability processes for crimes going forward This book demonstrates that owing to the flexibility built in to the legal and procedural frameworks of international criminal courts and tribunals the law of international criminal evidence is often unpredictable and uncertain To this end McDermott argues for the development of a coherent epistemic framework driven by two guiding principles rectitude of decision and the highest standards of fairness Narratives of Mass Atrocity Sarah Federman,Ronald Niezen,2022-09-08 Offers a narrative approach to post conflict intervention showing how legalism following mass violence encourages dangerous binaries The Oxford Handbook of the International Law of Global Security Robin Geiß,Nils Melzer,James Gerard Devaney,2021 A unique overview of the relationship between international law and global security Major areas of coverage include armed conflict human rights the environment and technology Book jacket In Defense of Politicization of Human Rights Elvira Domínguez-Redondo,2020-06-01 In Defense of Politicization of Human Rights The UN Special Procedures constitutes the first comprehensive study of the United Nations Special Procedures covering their history methods of work institutional status relationship with other politically driven organs and processes affecting their development Special Procedures have existed since 1967 nearly as long as United Nations Treaty Bodies but have received only fragmented analysis normally focused on a few thematic mandates until the creation of the Human Rights Council in 2006 In seeking to debunk commonly held views about the role of politics in human rights at international level In Defense of Politicization of Human Rights constitutes the first comprehensive study of the United Nations Special Procedures as a system covering their history methods of work institutional status relationship with other politically driven organs and processes affecting their development The perspective chosen to analyze the human rights mechanisms most vulnerable to political decisions determining their creation renewal and operationalization casts a new light on the extent to which these remain the cornerstone of global accountability in protecting the inherent dignity and worth of individuals as well as groups International human rights mechanisms efficiency is normally linked to the work of independent experts keen to push the boundaries of accountability against recalcitrant States determined to defend their sovereignty As a corollary progress in this field is associated to the creation and maintenance of political free spaces Another common presumption is a belief in a differentiated North versus South approach to the promotion and protection of human rights that find common ground within the prevalent human rights discourses repeated by governmental and non governmental actors Through the lenses of the United Nations Special Procedures In Defense of Politicization of Human Rights challenges these and other presumptions informing doctrinal studies policies and strategies to advance international human rights Because of the Special Procedures growing salience and impact in the world of international human rights this book is likely to become required reading for any student or practitioner of international human rights

The Right to The Truth in International Law Melanie

Klinkner,Howard Davis,2019-07-26 The United Nations has established a right to the truth to be enjoyed by victims of gross violations of human rights The origins of the right stem from the need to provide victims and relatives of the missing with a right to know what happened It encompasses the verification and full public disclosure of the facts associated with the crimes from which they or their relatives suffered The importance of the right to the truth is based on the belief that by disclosing the truth the suffering of victims is alleviated This book analyses the emergence of this right as a response to an understanding of the needs of victims through to its development and application in two particular legal contexts international human rights law and international criminal justice The book examines in detail the application of the right through the case law and jurisprudence of international tribunals in the human rights and also the criminal justice context as well as looking at its place in transitional justice The theoretical foundations of the right to the truth are considered as well as the various objectives appropriate for different truth seeking mechanisms The book then goes on to discuss to what extent it can be understood constructed and applied as a hard legally enforceable right with correlating duties on various people and institutions including state agencies prosecutors and judges

NGOs, Knowledge Production and Global Humanist Advocacy Alistair Markland,2020-03-02 NGOs Knowledge Production and Global Humanist Advocacy is an empirically and theoretically rich account of how international non governmental organisations produce knowledge of and formulate understandings about the world around them The author applies critical and sociological perspectives to analyse the social and political limits of knowledge generated in support of global advocacy efforts aimed at enhancing human rights and preventing violent conflicts It is found that despite their transnational networks and claims to humanist universality the proximity of global advocates to Western power structures and elite social spaces delimits their worldviews and curtails the potential for radical departures from mainstream political thinking This book will be of interest to scholars and students of international relations human rights the sociology of knowledge peace and conflict studies and critical security studies A
