Transforming Citzenships Transforming Citzenships:

Transforming Citzenships Isaac West,2014 Transforming Citzenships engages the performativity of citizenship as it relates to transgender individuals and advocacy groups Instead of reading the law as a set of self executing discourses Isaac West takes up transgender rights claims as performative productions of complex legal subjectivities capable of queering accepted understandings of genders sexualities and the normative forces of the law Drawing on an expansive archive from the correspondence of a transwoman arrested for using a public bathroom in Los Angeles in 1954 to contemporary lobbying efforts of national transgender advocacy organizations West advances a rethinking of law as capacious rhetorics of citizenship justice equality and freedom When approached from this perspective citizenship can be recuperated from its status as the bad object of queer politics to better understand how legal discourses open up sites for identification across identity categories and enable political activities that escape the analytics of heteronormativity and homonationalism

Migrant Women Transforming Citizenship Umut Erel,2016-04-22 Migrant Women Transforming Citizenship develops essential insights concerning the notion of transnational citizenship by means of the life stories of skilled and educated migrant women from Turkey in Germany and Britain It interweaves and develops theories of citizenship identity and culture with the lived experiences of an immigrant group that has so far received insufficient attention By focusing on the British and German contexts it introduces a much needed European and comparative perspective whilst exploring the ways in which diverging concepts and policies of citizenship allow for a differentiated examination of ethnicity gender multiculturalism and citizenship in Europe Presenting a significant and welcome contribution to our understanding of the complexities of multiculturalism it challenges Orientalist images of women as backward and oppressed Through engagement with the changing realities of education work intimacy family and social activism this volume provides a situated account of how the concepts of citizenship transnationality and culture play out in actual social relations With its rich empirical material the book explores how migrant women create new practices and meanings of belonging across boundaries Critiquing dominant multiculturalist and anti multiculturalist accounts this book suggests how citizenship debates can be reframed to be inclusive of migrant women as actors As such it will appeal to those working across a range of social sciences including sociology and the sociology of work race and ethnicity citizenship cultural and gender studies as well as anthropology and social and public policy

Transforming Citizenship Raymond A. Rocco,2014-07-01 In Transforming Citizenship Raymond Rocco studies the exclusionary inclusion of Latinos based on racialization and how the processes behind this have shaped their marginalized citizenship status offering a framework for explaining this dynamic Contesting this status has been at the core of Latino politics for more than 150 years Pursuing the goal of full equal and just inclusion in societal membership has long been a major part of the struggle to realize democratic normative principles This illuminating research demonstrates the inherent limitations of the citizenship regime in the United States for incorporating Latinos as full societal members and offers an alternative conception associative citizenship that provides a way to account for and challenge the pattern of exclusionary belonging that has defined the positions of the Latinos in U S society Through a critical engagement with key theorists such as Rawls Habermas Kymlicka Walzer Taylor and Young Rocco advances an original analysis of the politics of Latino societal membership and citizenship arguing that the specific processes of racialization that have played a determinative role in creating and maintaining the pattern of social and political exclusions of Latinos have not been addressed by the dominant theories of diversity and citizenship developed in the prevalent literature in political theory The Demographic Transformations of Citizenship Heli Askola,2016-09-15 This book examines how demographic changes including low birth rates continuing immigration and population ageing are transforming ideas about citizenship and belonging Debating Transformations of National Citizenship Rainer Bauböck,2018-09-12 This open access book discusses how national citizenship is being transformed by economic social and political change It focuses on the emergence of global markets where citizenship is for sale and on how new reproduction technologies impact citizenship by descent It also discusses the return of banishment through denationalisation of terrorist suspects and the impact of digital technologies such as blockchain on the future of democratic citizenship The book provides a wide range of views on these issues from legal scholars political scientists and political practitioners It is structured as a series of four conversations in which authors respond to each other This exchange of arguments provides unique depth to current debates about the future of citizenship
