Translation Quality Assessment An Argumentation Centred Approach Perspectives On Translation:

Translation Quality Assessment Malcolm Williams, 2004 Outlining an original discourse based model for translation quality assessment that goes beyond conventional microtextual error analysis this ground breaking new work by Malcolm Williams explores the potential of transferring reasoning and argument as the prime criterion of translation quality Assessment through error analysis is inevitably based on an error count an unsatisfactory means of establishing and justifying differences in quality that forces the evaluator to focus on subsentence elements rather than on the translator's success in conveying the key messages of the source text Williams counters that a judgement of translation quality should be based primarily on the degree to which the translator has adequately rendered the reasoning or argument structure An assessment of six aspects of argument structure is proposed argument macrostructure propositional functions conjunctives types of arguments figures of speech and narrative strategy Williams illustrates the approach using

Evaluating the Evaluator Hansjörg Bittner, 2019-11-28 This book offers a theoretical framework for assessing translation quality grounded in supportive argumentation The volume outlines a systematic framework for translators and translation critics to substantiate their decisions and judgments on a translation's quality and in the case of negative criticism put forward a more effective translation solution The book traces the decision making process underpinning translation practice considering the different factors surrounding a particular translation to inform the most appropriate translation strategy such as the temporal and geographical relationship between source and target texts special provisions required by clients timeframe qualifications and sociocultural and political issues The framework posits that such factors should underpin any arguments used by the translator in adopting a given strategy and in turn that any criticism of a translation's quality must be in line with the same argumentative structure Applied to a corpus of translation examiners reports of translation the book demonstrates how this framework can act as a tool to be scaled to fit the needs of the different actors of a translation translators critics and scholars This book will be of interest to scholars in translation studies and practicing translators

Translation in Transition Arnt Lykke Jakobsen, Bartolomé Mesa-Lao, 2017-09-15 Translation practice and workflows have witnessed significant changes during the last decade New market demands to handle digital content as well as technological advances are leading this transition The development and integration of machine translation systems have given post editing practices a reason to be in the context of professional translation services Translators may still work from a source text but more often than not they are presented with already translated text involving different degrees of translation automation This scenario radically changes the cognitive demands of translation Technological development has inevitably influenced the translation research agenda as well It has provided new means of penetrating deeper into the cognitive processes that make translation possible and has endorsed new concepts and theories to understand the translation process Computational analysis of eye movements and keystroke behaviour provides us with new insights into translational reading processes of literality effects of directionality similarities between inter and intralingual translation as well as the effects of post editing on cognitive processes and on the quality of the final outcome All of these themes are explored in depth in the articles in this volume which presents new and valuable insights to anyone interested in what is currently happening in empirical process oriented translation research

Positionalities of Translation Studies Garda Elsherif, Joanna Sobesto, 2025-06-12 This volume explores historical cultural linguistic and anthropocentric influences on Translation Studies TS It brings together nuanced individual self reflexive case studies and juxtaposes them in order to provoke discussion on the role of contemporary researchers in the discipline of TS As well as reflecting on the historical and geographical dimensions of the situatedness of TS the book builds on existing reflections on the local political and linguistic positions of TS and examines the practical and methodological consequences of these discussions By considering insights and perspectives from various disciplines the contributors refer to the current state of the art in TS and reconstruct the discussions held on Eurocentrism anthropocentrism and the historicity of TS that have been discussed in isolation so far This volume maps potential relations between them and introduces an analytical concept of positionality that highlights commonalities among various discourses As well as theoretical and historical analysis the contributors ask how to methodologically deal with this inevitable positioning of research in contemporary research practice The contributions cover various aspects of positionalities and its influences on translation research including gender anthropocentrism experiential knowledge and geopolitics They also explore various histories of translation studies in different temporal spatial and linguistic settings such as China Chinese Iran Persian the Netherlands English Ukraine Ukrainian Russian and France French thereby highlighting that TS as a discipline is not a monolith but consists of various histories interconnected with each other

Quality aspects in institutional translation Tomáš Svoboda , Łucja Biel , Krzysztof Łoboda , 2017 The purpose of this volume is to explore key issues approaches and challenges to quality in institutional translation by confronting academics and practitioners perspectives What the reader will find in this book is an interplay of two approaches academic contributions providing the conceptual and theoretical background for discussing quality on the one hand and chapters exploring selected aspects of quality and case studies from both academics and practitioners on the other Our aim is to present these two approaches as a breeding ground for testing one vis vis the other This book studies institutional translation mostly through the lens of the European Union EU reality and more specifically of EU institutions and bodies due to the unprecedented scale of their multilingual operations and the legal and political importance of translation Thus it is concerned with the supranational international level deliberately leaving national and other contexts aside Quality in supranational institutions is explored both in terms of translation processes and their products the translated texts

PROCEEDINGS OF THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON GLOBALIZATION: CHALLENGES FOR TRANSLATORS AND INTERPRETERS Zhiqing Zhang, Youbin Zhao, Xinjie Wang, 2020-05-26 With the implementation of the Belt and Road Initiative and the development of Guangdong Hong Kong Macau Greater Bay Area the demand for translators and interpreters continues to grow in China The breakthrough in artificial intelligence which has contributed to an enormous improvement in the quality of machine translation means challenges and opportunities for translators and interpreters as well as studies of translation and interpreting Studies of translation and interpreting have been further expanded and diversified in the era of globalized communications The interrelation between translation and globalization is essential reading for not only scholars and educators but also anyone with an interest in translation and interpreting studies or a concern for the future of our world s languages and cultures By focusing on the connection between the two various researches have been conducted in all forms of communication between languages including translation interpreting cross cultural communication language teaching and the various specializations involved in such activities This has resulted in The Third International Conference on Globalization Challenges for Translators and Interpreters co organized by the School of Translation Studies Jinan University on its Zhuhai campus and South China Business College Guangdong University of Foreign Studies November 16 17 2019 The response to the conference was once more overwhelming which was partly attributed to the previous two conferences held successfully under the same title Apart from five keynote speakers over one hundred and fifty participants came from universities institutions or organizations from mainland China Spain New Zealand as well as Hong Kong and Macao to attend the event contributing over 130 papers in total Among the keynote speakers are internationally renowned scholars in translation studies such as Dr Roberto Valde n professor of English Linguistics at the University of Oviedo Spain and the Chief Editor of Perspective Studies in Translatology Dr Sun Yifeng chair professor of Translation Studies and head of the English Department at the University of Macau Dr Tan Zaixi distinguished professor of Shenzhen University and Chair Professor of Beijing Foreign Studies University and Professor Emeritus of Hong Kong Baptist University After careful evaluation and compilation 90 papers have been selected for this conference proceedings which was summarized into the following four topics Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice Translation and Cross cultural Studies Evaluation of Translation and Interpretation and Studies on the Teaching of Translation By no means is it difficult to find some interesting and thought provoking papers under each topic For example concerning Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice To Translate or not to Translate That is the Question On Metaphor Translation in Chinese Political works by Dong Yu explains that in judging whether or not a Chinese metaphor can be translated into English an indispensable step is to decide whether or not the two cultural connotations can be connected But this can easily be influenced by subjective factors Yu has suggested some ways in which subjective factors could be controlled to some extent so that the translator could be more confident in his or her decision He has also suggested three steps The first step is to assume that the cultural connotation of the Chinese metaphor can be connected with that of its English version For example the metaphor in could be translated as rain or shine The second step is to find out whether or not this translated version is acceptable both linguistically and culturally in English The third step is to consider the systematicity of the metaphor in regard with the context in both the source and target texts This involves a process of recontextualization When it comes to Translation and Cross cultural Studies On Translation of the English Guide interpreter from the Perspective of Intercultural Communication by Fengxia Liua and Xiaoning Bi points out that inbound tourism serves as a window through which foreign tourists get to know China so the interaction between the guide interpreters and foreign tourists are the typical activity of cultural communication Foreign language speaking guides are usually regarded as people to people ambassadors or cultural ambassadors who have played an essential role in the international tourist industry Therefore they argue that it is extremely important for tourist guides to cultivate their cross cultural communication awareness enhance their overall communicative competence observe and distinguish east and west differences with multi dimensional perspective transcend cultural barriers and learn to use translation skills Studies on the Teaching of Translation is another interesting topic that has attracted enormous attention such as Business Translation Teaching from the Perspective of Metaphors by Dandan Li which explores application of conceptual metaphor theory in the translation process of business lexicons business discourse and business English culture so as to provide a new perspective in business English pedagogy Another study entitled Cognitive Studies in Translation by Xin Huang analyzes the cognitive studies of translation interpreting processes over the past three decades with focus on the issues examined the findings reached as well as the recent development She explains that cognitive studies of translation process examine the translation competence on line translation behaviors such as how the eye gazes and how the words are typed and the brain activities when doing translation Special interests are paid to the working memory problem solving the executive function and some linguistic relative factors such as text difficulty Over the past thirty years the interest in the field has been gaining considerable momentum and increasing issues have been involved Finally she concludes that with the advancement of technologies and interdisciplinary approaches the black box the previously unforeseeable cognitive activities of how human process translation can be unfolded Considering the importance of integrating theory with practice the proceedings are therefore compiled in such a way as to be balanced and inclusive in the hope of summarizing current accomplishments as well as providing certain insights for teaching and further research in the field of translation and interpretation studies
