Interesting Stuff

Saturn is the second largest planet, and the least dense in the solar system. It is the most distant planet that can be seen without special equipment such as a telescope. In 1610, Saturn was observed through a telescope for the first time by Galileo Galilei who mistook the rings as planets. His initial sketch looked something like this: ●●●

Saturn has 82 known moons including Titan, the second largest moon in the solar system (bigger than planet Mercury). Titan is the only known moon to have a substantial atmosphere (primarily composed of nitrogen, much like Earth's). It is also the only other satellite to possess lakes, rivers and seas (made up of of liquid ethane and methane).

Saturn's Rings

Saturn's famous rings may appear to be solid, but they're actually made up of millions of particles of rock and ice. These range in size from microscopic dust particles, to chunks bigger than a school bus. There are seven main rings with spaces between them, the rings are named alphabetically in the order they were discovered. The rings, working outward from the planet, are known as D, C, B, A, F, G, E. The outermost E ring, is the largest planetary ring in our solar system, extending about 1 million km. The Cassini Division is a 4,700 km wide gap separating rings A and B.

Fun Fact: Each of Saturn's rings orbits the planet at a different speed. They also have their own atmosphere of molecular oxygen (O₂) independent from the planet's atmosphere.
