Thurber,2020-03-05 Ice skates made from animal bones were used in Europe for millennia before metal bladed skates were invented Archaeological sites have yielded thousands of examples some of them dating to the Bronze Age They are often mentioned in popular books on the Vikings and sometimes appear in children s literature Even after metal skates became the norm people in rural areas continued to use bone skates into the early 1970s Today bone skates help scientists and re-enactors understand migrations and interactions among ancient peoples This book explains how to make and use them and chronicles their history from their likely invention in the Eurasian steppes to their disappearance in the modern era

Sowing Modernity Peter D. McClelland,2018-09-05 Contrary to those who regard the economic transformation of the West as a gradual process spanning centuries Peter D McClelland claims the initial transformation of American agriculture was an unmistakable revolution He asks when a single crucial question was first directed persistently pervasively and systematically to farming practices Is there a better way McClelland surveys practices from crop rotation to livestock breeding with a particular focus on the change in implements used to produce small grains With wit and verve and an abundance of detail he demonstrates that the first great surge in inventive activity in agronomy in the United States took place following the War of 1812 much of it in a fifteen year period ending in 1830 Once questioning the status quo became the norm for producers on and off the farm according to McClelland the march to modernization was virtually assured With the aid of more than 270 illustrations many of them taken from contemporary sources McClelland describes this stunning transformation in a manner rarely found in the agricultural literature How primitive farming implements worked what their defects were and how they were initially redesigned are explained in a manner intelligible to the novice and yet offering analysis and information of special interest to the expert      Bone, Antler, Ivory and Horn Arthur MacGregor,2014-10-30 Artefacts made from skeletal materials since the Roman period were before this book neglected as a serious area of study This is a comprehensive account which reviews over fifty categories of artefact The book starts with a consideration of the formation morphology and mechanical properties of the materials and illuminates characteristics concerning working with them Following chapters discuss the organisation of the industry and trade in such items including the changing status of the industry over time Archaeological evidence is combined with that from historical and ethnological sources with many illustrations providing key visual reference Originally published in 1985      Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress,1976      Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress,1974-10 Beginning with 1953 entries for Motion pictures and filmstrips Music and phonorecords form separate parts of the Library of Congress catalogue Entries for Maps and atlases
