Metaphor, Metonymy and Lexicogenesis Andrew Goatly, 2024-11-15 This book investigates the interaction between new English lexis and metaphor metonymy figures meticulously defined and contrasted in terms of similarity contiguity It advances three main hypotheses i derived lexis is more likely to be figurative in meaning and usage than the bases from which it is derived ii derivation obscures the figurative origins of this lexis to varying degrees depending on differing processing strategies iii lexicalisation is determined by Relevance in Sperber and Wilson's sense to the needs of a culture or its powerful interest groups where culture following Norman Fairclough is characterised as an ensemble of recognised action discourse genres This volume is distinctive in exploring the relations between grammar and metonymy and providing numerous examples of metaphorical and metonymic

Washing the Brain Andrew Goatly, 2007-01-01 Contemporary metaphor theory has recently begun to address the relation between metaphor culture and ideology In this wide ranging book Andrew Goatly using lexical data from his database Metalude investigates how conceptual metaphor themes construct our thinking and social behaviour in fields as diverse as architecture engineering education genetics ecology economics politics industrial time management medicine immigration race and sex He argues that metaphor themes are created not only through the universal body but also through cultural experience so that an apparently universal metaphor such as event structure as realized in English grammar is in fact culturally relative compared with e g the construal of cause and effect in the Algonquin language Blackfoot Moreover event structure as a model is both scientifically reactionary and as the basis for technological mega projects has proved environmentally harmful Furthermore the ideologies of early capitalism created or exploited a selection of metaphor themes historically traceable through Hobbes Hume Smith Malthus and Darwin These metaphorical concepts support neo Darwinian and neo conservative ideologies apparent at the beginning of the 21st century ideologies underpinning our social and environmental crises The conclusion therefore recommends skepticism of metaphor's reductionist tendencies

Szarmach, 2007 The twelve essays in this volume proceed from a modern fantasy epic back in time to oral epics that have been transmitted through the technology of manuscripts and central in the collection are two articles that address Chaucer's Middle English courtly epic Troilus and Criseyde. Each in its own way presents a global perspective on its subject whether by comparing texts by considering textual transmission through translation or by contrasting medieval issues with developing global movements. These articles are presented as evidence of the international cooperation that has been fostered by the work of Paul Szarmach in the international community of medievalists and of the success of his vision in opening up the borders of a discipline that too long has been Eurocentric and not global in its perspective from the Introduction.
