Thinking for Results Ralph Waldo Trine, 2016-06-19 THIS IS THE PRINCIPLE You are constantly thinking To think is to place energy in action All active energy tends to produce certain results Then the question is what those results are to be Are they to be favorable or detrimental superior or inferior for you or against you This you can determine by thinking according to design by thinking for a definite purpose by placing in action energies that will act for your advantage by training all the powers of your mind to work for your purpose This book was among the first ones ever written by Larson and contains a very nice summary of his philosophy on the power of thought and the importance of keeping always good thoughts as the way to have a happy fulfilling life full of results
