Thinking Television Anandam P. Kavoori, 2008 Thinking Television tells the story of an innovative media literacy project focused on the creation of media programming that makes money and makes a difference Woven around critiques of student produced concepts for television that thinks this book offers new directions for critical media literacy popular culture studies and the interdisciplinary concerns of cultural studies

Thinking Through Television Ron Lembo, 2000-10-19 This original and engaging book investigates American television viewing habits as a distinct cultural form Based on an empirical study of the day to day use of television by working people it develops a unique theoretical approach integrating cultural sociology post modernism and the literature of media effects to explore the way in which people give meaning to their viewing practices While recognising the power of television it also emphasises the importance of the social and political factors which affect the lives of individual viewers showing how the interaction between the two can result in a disengagement with corporately produced culture at the same time as an appropriation of the images themselves into people's lives

Thinking Outside the Box Gary R. Edgerton, Brian Geoffrey Rose, 2005-01-01 Thinking Outside the Box brings together some of the best and most challenging scholarship about TV genres exploring their genesis their functions and development and the interaction of disparate genres The authors argue that genre is a process rather than a static category and that it signifies much about the people who produce and watch the shows In addition to considering traditional genres such as sitcoms soap operas and talk shows the contributors explore new hybrids including reality programs teen oriented science fiction and quality dramas and examine how many of these shows have taken on a global reach Identifying historical continuities and envisioning possible trends this is the richest and most current study of how television genres form operate and change

Critical Thinking Activities (Intermediate) Teacher Created Resources, 2001-06 Queer TV Glyn Davis, Gary Needham, 2008-12-03 Queer TV Theories Histories Politics is the first book to explore television in all its scope and complexity its industry production texts audiences pleasures and politics in relation to queerness With contributions from distinguished authors working in film television studies and the study of gender sexuality it offers a unique contribution to both disciplines

Thinking Toward Survival Coralie Koonce, 2010-07 The clock approaches midnight We humans have created a scary scenario for ourselves with Climate change and other ecosystem failures Population growth and consumption that exceeds Earth's carrying capacity Out of control technologies and pollution Ancient habits of war Doomsday weapons depleting resources nationalism What we need is a whole new way of thinking From protecting our grey matter to changing 300 year old paradigms from self reliance to trillion dollar transitions from how we raise our children to how to tame the corporations Koonce offers potential solutions such as Change our universities Develop species consciousness Decentralize Look for creative ideas and models across the world Humanity has what it takes to survive There's no need to despair But there is a burning need to get started on the transformation

Para-Interactivity and the Appeal of Television in the Digital

Age Oranit Klein-Shagrir, 2017-08-15 Para Interactivity and the Appeal of Television in the Digital Age focuses on broadcast television's attempts to transition from a mass medium to one which addresses viewers as potentially active participants in simulated interactive communication. It explores both the transformations and the continued popularity of television in an age of social media and competition from interactive digital media. It presents the concept of para interactivity which contains features or elements that echo interactive communication processes considered characteristic of digital media and participatory culture translated into television's language. This novel idea helps to understand contemporary television and identify current and traditional strategies it employs in order to survive in a changing media environment. Think! Michael R. LeGault, 2006-08-01 This isn't the time to Blink. It's time to THINK before it's too late. Outraged by the downward spiral of American intellect and culture, Michael R. LeGault offers the flip side of Malcolm Gladwell's bestselling phenomenon Blink, which theorized that our best decision making is done on impulse without factual knowledge or critical analysis. If bestselling books are advising us to not think, LeGault argues, it comes as no surprise that sharp incisive reasoning has become a lost art in the daily life of Americans. Somewhere along the line, the Age of Reason morphed into the Age of Emotion; this systemic erosion is costing time, money, jobs, and lives in the twenty-first century, leading to less fulfillment and growing dysfunction. LeGault provides a bold, controversial, and objective analysis of the causes and solutions for the erosion of growth and market share at many established American companies, big and small, which appear to have less chance of achieving the dynamic expansion of the past. Permissive parenting and low standards that have caused an academic crisis among our children, body weights rise while grades plummet, America's growing political polarization, which is a result of our reluctance to think outside our comfort zone, faulty planning and failure to act on information at all levels that has led to preventable disasters such as the Hurricane Katrina meltdown, a culture of image and instant gratification fed by reality shows and computer games that has rendered curiosity of the mind and spirit all but obsolete, stress aversion to taking risks, and therapy that are replacing the traditional American can-do mind set. Far from perpetuating the stereotype of the complacent American, LeGault's no-holds-barred analysis asks more of us than any other societal overview. America can fulfill its greatest potential starting today, and we need smart teachers, smart health care workers, smart sales representatives, smart students, smart mechanics, and smart leaders to make it happen. Now is the time to THINK because a mind truly is a terrible thing to waste.
