Thomas Heatherwick Making:

Thomas Heatherwick Thomas Heatherwick, Maisie Rowe, 2012 Heatherwick is a Leonardo da Vinci of our times Sir Terence Conran Still just two decades into his career British designer Thomas Heatherwick has been heralded as one of the most original creative talents for many decades He has produced everything from sculptural chairs forged from the world's largest aluminium extruder to a bridge that rolls open and closed and an exuberant seed bank hairy with fibre optic lights the award winning UK Pavilion at the 2010 Shanghai Expo This book is the first to present an exhaustive survey of his studio's output to date over 140 projects Long in development it offers a highly personal in depth and behind the scenes look at all aspects of Heatherwick's creative design and manufacturing processes Projects are organized chronologically and bookended by an introduction setting out the studio's philosophy and a project credits section Each project is fully illustrated and accompanied by a text explaining in Heatherwick's own words the particular design challenge it posed and the creative and practical processes used to address it Thomas Heatherwick Thomas Heatherwick, 2025-01-07 Featuring sixteen new projects and fresh photography this updated and revised volume remains the definitive publication on the internationally acclaimed designer Thomas Heatherwick Geographies of Making, Craft and Creativity Laura Price, Harriet Hawkins, 2018-03-22 This book brings together cutting edge research from leading international scholars to explore the geographies of making and craft It traces the geographies of making practices from the body to the workshop and studio to the wider socio cultural economic political institutional and historical contexts In doing so it considers how these geographies of making are in and of themselves part of the making of geographies As such contributions examine how making bodies and their intersections with matter come to shape subjects create communities evolve knowledge and make worlds This book offers a forum to consider future directions for the field of geographies of making craft and creativity It will be of great interest to creative and cultural geographers as well as those studying the arts culture and sociology Humanize Thomas Heatherwick, 2023-11-07 From one of the world's most innovative designers comes a fiercely passionate manifesto on why so many places have become miserable and boring and how we can make them better for everyone featuring hundreds of photographs and illustrations that will change how you see the world around you We are living through a global catastrophe Buildings affect how we feel moment by moment day by day They have the power to lift us up and make us feel awestruck playful safe and inspired just as they can make us feel alienated and sad But many of the places where we live work learn and heal have become monotonous and disposable We're surrounded by cheap boring buildings that make people stressed sick and unhappy In short much of our world has been crafted in a way that is hostile to human experience Now drawing on his experience of the last thirty years in making bold beautiful objects and buildings Thomas Heatherwick offers both an informed critique of the inhumanity in most of today's contemporary building design and a rousing call for action Looking through Heatherwick's eyes we see familiar landmarks and cityscapes around the world from London Paris Barcelona

Singapore New York Vancouver and beyond both old and new famous and obscure to learn how places can either sap the life out of us or nourish our senses and our psyche The time has come he says to put emotion back at the heart of the design process and the reasons to do so could not be more urgent Design is not superficial it has an impact upon economics climate change our mental and physical wellbeing even the peace and cohesion of our societies As citizens and users we need a world full of architectural diversity that delights and unites us And as makers and designers we can help create a world where cities reconnect with their essential mission to provide human spaces where people mix meet inspire each other and live out their full potential Elegantly crafted by Heatherwick's own studio and fully illustrated with hundreds of black and white photos Humanize is an urgent call to arms for making our world a better place for everyone to live and provides the vision and tools for us to make it a reality

Make, Think, Imagine John Browne, 2019-08-28 Today's unprecedented pace of change leaves many people wondering what new technologies are doing to our lives Has social media robbed us of our privacy and fed us with false information Are the decisions about our health security and finances made by computer programs inexplicable and biased Will these algorithms become so complex that we can no longer control them Are robots going to take our jobs Can we provide housing for our ever growing urban populations And has our demand for energy driven the Earth's climate to the edge of catastrophe John Browne argues that we need not and must not put the brakes on technological advance Civilization is founded on engineering innovation all progress stems from the human urge to make things and to shape the world around us resulting in greater freedom health and wealth for all Drawing on history his own experiences and conversations with many of today's great innovators he uncovers the basis for all progress and its consequences both good and bad He argues compellingly that the same spark that triggers each innovation can be used to
