Thomas, 2018-01-30 FINALLY a scholarly description of the development of Black preaching in the United States that is accessible to the average reader but also contributes to the academic conversation about both style and theological content Written from the perspective of a seasoned practitioner and tenured practical theologian Thomas surveys Black preaching as it has responded to various social and historical time periods Starting with the brutality of chattel slavery early formations in segregated Southern life rapid migration to and urbanization in Northern cities and various events throughout the post civil rights era the book gives convincing details and examples of how the Black preacher helped to guide and sustain the masses of African American people through the wilderness of social change At the heart of the book three prime examples are presented as models of the real genius of Black preaching The reader will never again think about Reverend Martin Luther King Jr Malcolm X and the Reverend Jesse Jackson in the same way A special chapter is devoted to the contributions of Black women preachers along with a closing chapter that makes new proposals for the future The book is a provocative and critical analysis of why Black preaching still matters Making a Scene in the Pulpit Alyce M. McKenzie, 2018-10-23 How can preachers ensure that their sermons continue to engage listeners in a world defined by visual media and the short segmented delivery of information Alyce McKenzie harnesses the element of drama and the human fascination with scenes to offer ministers a modern means of sermon development and delivery McKenzie's core strategy is to invite listeners into scenes whether from Scripture or contemporary life and once they are there to point them toward the larger story of God's relationship with humankind Creating such scenes unifies the whole process of preaching she says from the preacher's daily life observations to interpretation of scenes from Scripture to sermon shaping sequencing and delivery The process culminates in a specific understanding of the purpose of the sermon to send listeners out into the scenes they'll play in their lives for the next week equipped to act out their parts in ways that are kinder more just and more courageous than last week
