McCombs, Lynda Miller, 2009 The time is right and the need is profound for learner centered practices in schools McCombs and Miller describe the tools available and how a school can use them to make substantial changes that increase student performance Jean W Pierce Professor of Educational Psychology Northern Illinois University A new leadership paradigm for increasing collaboration and boosting achievement In today s educational environment school leaders must find new ways to create a positive school climate for staff and students while helping them meet rigorous testing and accountability requirements The School Leader s Guide to Learner Centered Education introduces a transformative leadership model for creating and sustaining a learner centered school environment Using core principles of educational psychology the authors examine how educators can support student growth development and achievement by focusing on key factors such as cognition metacognition motivation affect and individual differences Numerous reflective exercises assessment tools and real life success stories help readers Provide moral leadership for creating school change Incorporate learning standards without sacrificing student engagement Form learner centered support groups that utilize networking and technology Prepare students for the challenges of global citizenship Promote success for diverse populations and marginalized groups Designed to meet the needs of a rapidly evolving world this new leadership paradigm provides school principals superintendents and district leaders with the means to engage all members of the educational community in a lifelong process of growth improvement and empowerment

Building Bridges, Leading Hearts Ronald R. Rojas, 2024-04-17 Its easy to learn and then apply secular leadership models into the pastoral and ministry sector But is it the best alternative to form Church leaders What is missing when business models are used in ministry This book is about creating more sensitivity on how some of the secular models can unintentionally limit pastoral and ministry effectiveness It suggests a competency approach to address leadership influences that are missing yet essential to ministry and the faith based sector In many ways this book is a guide for securing and developing a more engaging ministry leadership one that emerges from the intersection of the leadership and pastoral theology disciplines Its guiding principle is Leadership is a Spiritual Practice This book is a must have for leadership training programs and anyone engaged in forming for ministry leadership roles

Exploring leadership and ethical practice through... Déirdre Smith, Patricia Goldblatt, 2017-05-19T00:00:00-04:00 Exploring Leadership and Ethical Practice through Professional Inquiry is wonderfully constructed to prompt us to analyze the perplexing problems that inevitably occur when people work in the same institution through the visions theories and moral principles that underlie schools at their best Marvelous and marvelously narrated cases followed by tools for inquiry and lively reflections are well designed to engage aspiring and practicing leaders in honing the ethical principles that will guide their own work Christine Sleeter PhD Professor Emerita California State University Monterey Bay Exploring Leadership and Ethical Practice through Professional Inquiry This collection of case studies is a perfect example of the potential role of professional inquiry as a professional learning approach The truly exceptional achievement of this work is unquestionably the fact that it sought out highly reputed educators in the Ontario national and international education communities It is comforting to see that in spite of their impressive collective knowledge and experience even the commentators do not always agree when it comes to the most important areas of focus The result is a multidimensional overview that can easily lead to provocative discussions This work is a significant addition to the scholarship of educational leadership Serge Demers Director School of Education Laurentian University

Competencies for Leading in Diversity Aiah Foday-Khabenje, 2016-11-14 The patriarchal approach to leadership in the African context is indeed an enigma judging from the unpredictable outcomes and the quest for effective leadership In many ways the secularized big man in the public square is no different from the sacralised great man of God in the church The Lord Jesus Christ calls his followers to servant leadership The secular world has also established the efficacy of the servant leadership approach for cutting edge leadership This book looks at the nature of evangelical associations in their diversity and what it takes for leaders to build unity and harmony for effectiveness especially in the African context

No Challenge Left Behind Paul D. Houston, 2008-05-21 A brilliant distillation of the best thinking from one of the great minds in our field This funny uplifting page turner inspires profound aha moments necessary for being a hope pusher internally while effectively

advocating for children in the larger community Alan M Blankstein President HOPE Foundation Paul Houston thinks like a man of action and acts like a man of thought His writings are packed with the wisdom grace and innovation that have made him one of the true leaders in American public education today Daniel H Pink Author A Whole New Mind This book translates the real issues in public education into sublime teachings for life Anne L Bryant Executive Director National School Boards Association Paul Houston is a crusader for American public education His fresh ideas provide answers to some of the toughest challenges our schools and school leaders face today Richard Riley Former U S Secretary of Education In these timeless essays Houston opens our minds with his powerful thoughts touches our hearts with his understanding and passion and invites us to see public schools and the children we serve in a new light Gail Connelly Executive Director National Association of Elementary School Principals Paul Houston s extensive knowledge of the issues facing today s busy school administrators is unparalleled This collection is indeed a testament to Houston s legacy and his deep love for and commitment to public education Gerald N Tirozzi Executive Director National Association of Secondary School Principals A collection of influential insightful and inspiring articles from an educational leadership expert In this resource retiring executive director of the American Association of School Administrators former superintendent and best selling author Paul D Houston examines the growing complexity of the educational process and the challenge of transforming learning into an engaging meaningful and even joyful experience Houston offers enlightening perspectives on global competition the widening economic gulf between social classes the explosion of information and a landscape of competing expectations This provocative book views education as soul work touching the deepest part of the human spirit and covers What it means to be a leader The challenges of transforming public education How leaders can champion learning and education Lessons from the field
