The Success Of Sanctions Lessons Learned From The Eu Experience:

The Success of Sanctions Asst Prof Francesco Giumelli, 2013-08-28 The effectiveness of sanctions cannot purely be measured by the way they change the behaviour of their intended target The degree to which sanctions constrain a rogue state's behaviour and the signals they send to future targets should also be prime considerations In this thought provoking book Francesco Giumelli measures the true effectiveness of EU sanctions against a range of states including Belarus Zimbabwe Moldova Uzbekistan the USA and China He demonstrates that focussing purely on behavioural change is limiting especially when considering the actions and motivations of an international organisation and develops a process to evaluate the direct and indirect impact of EU sanctions Giumelli demonstrates the many different ways sanctions have been used by the EU to produce positive direct and indirect results and provides a multi level framework to assess the success of sanctions in the future

Broadening the Debate on EU-Africa Relations Frank Mattheis, John Kotsopoulos, 2020-06-29 Broadening the Debate on EU Africa Relations is designed to expand the scope of our understanding of the multi layered relationship between the European Union and African political actors in order to shape both the academic and policy level discourse The focus on chapters highlighting an African perspective offers an opportunity to redress an imbalance in scholarship and also represents an effort to reinvigorate the EU Africa discourse The contributors scrutinise hitherto underexplored areas from agricultural cooperation to sanctions to scientific collaboration as new insights linger in the less visible margins of the relationship Jointly they push in the same direction to broaden the debate on how subjects are approached in a field of study that has one sidedly focus on the intended actions of the EU To that end three dimensions represent the common thread of the book how to recalibrate African and European perspectives how to proceed on an assumption of mutual influence rather than unidirectionality and how to highlight the intertwined nature of the different drivers of the relationship Recalibrating African and European perspectives by focusing on elements of reciprocity within the broad array of interregional interactions Broadening the Debate on EU Africa Relations will be of great interest to scholars of African Studies African IR and the EU The chapters were originally published as a special issue of the South African Journal of International Affairs

How EU Sanctions Work Francesco Giumelli, 2013 The European Union has devoted growing attention to sanctions since the entry into force of the Maastricht Treaty In total the Council has imposed Common Foreign and Security Policy CFSP sanctions targeting countries economic sectors groups individuals and entities on 27 different occasions The novelty in the area of sanctions is that targets are not only states as in the recent cases of Iran and Syria but they are also individuals and non state entities e g anti terrorist lists President Robert Mugabe and his associates and several companies connected with the military junta in Burma Myanmar Additionally the contexts in which sanctions are utilised can be diverse ranging from the protection of human rights to crisis management and non proliferation Despite the fact that the effectiveness of sanctions has been much debated the EU has developed a sanctioning policy and intensified its adoption of sanctions Sanctions were traditionally seen as a way to impose economic penalties as a means of extracting political concessions from targets but EU sanctions do not always impose a cost nor do they always seek to induce behavioural change To this extent a new narrative may be needed      Employer Sanctions in Europe ,1987

After Vienna Joaquín Roy,Roberto Domínguez Rivera,2007      Monetary and Fiscal Unification in Nineteenth-century Germany Harold James,1997      The New European Union Steve Wood,Stephen Wood,Wolfgang Quaisser,2008 This concise but wide ranging work explores the major political economic and strategic challenges confronting the European Union in the context of a rapidly changing geopolitical environment Steve Wood and Wolfgang Quaisser consider the actors and issues at the center of current developments in the integration process Beginning with some basic conceptual questions for example what is Europe they focus on the Union s increasingly complex politics and economy Their discussion ranges from political economy to policy reform and institutional change to the arena of international relations They also address the more intangible factors of European identity and common political will An intriguing set of possible future scenarios concludes the authors up to date examination of the EU after enlargement      Regulatory Reform in Hungary Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development,2000 OECD s 2000 review of regulatory reform in Hungary It finds that after ten years of determined reform Hungary has constructed the legal and policy frameworks consistent with market democracy and is nearing completion of an historic economic transition This challenging process required extensive regulation and institution building as well as massive deregulation and has generated significant economic benefits Today convergence with the EU and achievement of OECD best practices still represent daunting tasks But in most areas Hungary faces challenges much like those of other OECD countries in establishing the quality regulatory regimes needed to support good government and sustainable economic growth Hungary s main objectives now are to bring market performance into line with its peers through strengthening competition and improving regulatory governance and social protections Further reforms will bring important gains in creating jobs improving sectoral and regional performance and reducing the costs of public policies
