Women In Sub Saharan Africa Restoring Women To History Restoring Women To History:

Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Iris Berger, E. Frances White, 1999 These four volumes in this major series provide a single source reference to the status of the field of women's history and to ways that the field can be expanded A basic set for all academic libraries Library Journal Academic Newswire Berger and White focus on Sub-Saharan Africa tracing women's history from earliest times to the present By exploring their place in social economic political and religious life the authors highlight the changing societal position of women through shifts over time in ideas about gender and the connections between women's public and private spheres

Women in African Colonial Histories Susan Geiger, Jean Allman, Nakanyike Musisi, 2002-04 While recognising the inherent violence and brutality of the colonial encounter the essays in this anthology show that African women were not simply the hapless victims of European political rule

Restoring Women to History Organization of American Historians, 1990

Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa Kathleen Sheldon, 2016-03-04 African women's history is a vast topic that embraces a wide variety of societies in over 50 countries with different geographies social customs religions and historical situations Africa is a predominantly agricultural continent and a major factor in African agriculture is the central role of women as farmers It is estimated that between 65 and 80 percent of African women are engaged in cultivating food for their families and in the past that percentage was likely even higher Thus one common thread across much of the continent is women's daily work in their family plot. This second edition of Historical Dictionary of Women in Sub-Saharan Africa contains a chronology, an introduction, appendixes, and an extensive bibliography. The dictionary section has over 700 cross-referenced entries on individual African women in history, politics, religion, and the arts; on important events, organizations, and publications; and on topics important to women in general: marriage, fertility, employment, and to African women in particular: market women, child marriage, queen mothers. This book is an excellent access point for students, researchers, and anyone wanting to know more about the Women in Africa.

Women's Roles in Sub-Saharan Africa Toyin Falola, Nana Akua Amponsah, 2012-01-06 This exhaustive exploration of the sociocultural, political, and economic roles of African women through history demonstrates how African women have shaped and continue to shape their societies. Women play essential, critical roles in every society. African women south of the Sahara are certainly no different. Women's Roles in Sub-Saharan Africa adds significantly to our understanding of the ways in which women contribute to the fabric of human civilization. This book provides an in-depth exploration of African women's roles in society from precolonial periods to the contemporary era. Topical sections describe the roles that women play in family, courtship, and marriage; religion; work; literature and arts; and government. Each of the six chapters has been structured to elucidate women's roles and functions in society as partners, as active participants, as defenders of their status and occupations, and as agents of change. Authors Nana Akua Amponsah and Toyin Falola present a thought-provoking work that looks at the complicated victimhood, powerful female paradigm in women and gender studies in Africa, and challenge ideological interest in African historiography that privilege male representation.

Women in Twentieth-Century Africa Iris Berger, 2016-04-25 During a turbulent colonial and postcolonial century, African women struggled to control their own marital, sexual, and economic lives and to gain a significant voice in local and national politics. This book introduces many remarkable women who organized religious and political movements, fought in anti-colonial wars, ran away to escape arranged marriages, and during the 1990s began successful campaigns for gender parity in national legislatures. The book also explores the apparent paradox in the conflicting images of African women as singularly oppressed and dominated by men but also as strong, resourceful, and willing to challenge governments and local traditions to protect themselves and their families. Understanding the tension between women's power and their oppression, between their strength and their vulnerability, offers a new lens for understanding the relationship between the state and society in the twentieth century.

Women, Migration & the Cashew Economy in Southern Mozambique 1945-1975 Jeanne Penvenne, 2015 Analyses the lives and livelihoods of the female cashew shellers in Mozambique's capital in the colonial era during which the industry grew to be a major export and relates how the women played a fundamental but previously underappreciated role in the colony's economy.

Women and Violence Kathleen Nadeau, Sangita Rayamajhi, 2019-11-08 This important and timely reference work examines violence against women and gender-based discrimination around the world, providing a global perspective on why this kind of oppression is still occurring in the 21st century Within the past decade the attention that has been paid to violence against women by international government organizations such as the United Nations and World Health Organization has grown Yet silences around the violent treatment of women remains across the world particularly in those countries where women s rights are not protected and statistics are not available Women and Violence encompasses a global perspective of the history causes and complex underpinnings of gender and violence from a multidimensional and cross disciplinary perspective Chapters focus on a specific world region including North America Latin America and the Caribbean Europe North Africa and the Middle East Sub Saharan Africa Central and East Asia South and Southeast Asia and Oceania Each chapter begins with a general discussion on its world region then focuses on particular forms of violence against women in the more specific contexts of particular countries and in relation to the wider region Readers will be able to make cross cultural comparisons learning how to view gender based violence and women s advocacy against discrimination that is occurring around the world
