Women With Wings In The Cabinet:

Women in Executive Power Gretchen Bauer, Manon Tremblay, 2011-03-10 A comprehensive regional study of women in the political executive power Representing Women? Mercedes Mateo Diaz, 2024-10-31 This work discusses questions on political participation representation and legitimacy in the European Union national parliaments Three major empirical questions structure the book What affects women's presence in parliaments Does the number of women in parliament have an effect And are women in parliament representing women Empirical evidences show that institutional reforms need a minimal environment in terms of socio economic development so as to prove effective As opposed to the critical mass theory claiming that a few representatives cannot have an impact on the political outcomes here the empirical evidences suggest that smaller groups can also influence the different components of the legislative process The last part turns to the fundamental question of whether a parliament that is descriptively representative i.e. in which the parliamentarians share certain characteristics with the voters also is a substantively descriptive parliament i.e. in which the parliamentarians mirror the voters' opinions Evidence suggests that the electoral system's level of proportionality influences the extent to which assemblies socially and ideologically mirror their population The book ends by advancing new hypotheses and setting up guidelines for future research

Gender and Representation in Latin America Leslie A. Schwindt-Bayer, 2018 In the past thirty years women's representation and gender equality has developed unevenly in Latin America Some countries have experienced large increases in gender equality in political offices whereas others have not and even within countries some political arenas have become more gender equal whereas others continue to exude intense gender inequality These patterns are inconsistent with explanations of social and cultural improvements in gender equality leading to improved gender equality in political office Gender and Representation in Latin America argues instead that gender inequality in political representation in Latin America is rooted in institutions and the democratic challenges and political crises facing Latin American countries and that these challenges matter for the number of women and men elected to office what they do once there how much power they gain access to and how their presence and actions influence democracy and society more broadly The book draws upon the expertise of top scholars of women gender and political institutions in Latin America to analyze the institutional and contextual causes and consequences of women's representation in Latin America It does this in part 1 with chapters that analyze gender and political representation regionwide in each of five different arenas of representation the presidency cabinets national legislatures political parties and subnational governments In part 2 it provides chapters that analyze gender and representation in each of seven different countries Argentina Chile Costa Rica Uruguay Mexico Brazil and Colombia The authors bring novel insights and impressive new data to their analyses helping to make this one of the most comprehensive books on gender and political representation in Latin America today Women's Empowerment in India Anjoo Sharan Upadhyaya, Åshild Kolås, Eileen Connolly, 2024-03-19 The volume brings together readings describing a range of less traversed aspects and transferences of women's rights and struggles in India and develops a comprehensive understanding of the interface between women's activism and politics. The book documents and discusses diverse ways in which Indian women have struggled for empowerment, political voice and representation and rallied against injustice and discrimination. Against the backdrop of women's assertion of rights and negotiations for empowerment, the chapters in this volume explore diverse facets of collective agency and emanations of women's politico-legal struggles against stereotypes of gender and class in post-independence India. While the donor-driven international community has been eager to celebrate the successes of its global normative agenda setting and best practices approach, this book based primarily on field research by the contributors showcases authentic local ownership and women's own agency, taking seriously the need to understand the cultural context and pay attention to intersectionality. It presents various examples of women's activism for change reflecting on the quotidian struggles and dynamic assertions of voice and political power within and outside of formal political institutions. The book is a contribution to the debate about agency and ownership as key aspects of empowerment, highlighting women who defy dominant narratives. It will be an essential read for students and academics of political science, gender studies, sociology and social sciences and cultural studies. It will also be of interest to readers interested in the history of women's movements and their participation in national and local politics in India.

Feminism and the Women's Movement in Malaysia Maznah Mohamad, Cecilia Ng, Tan Beng Hui, 2006-04-18. Combining both personal and academic insights into the Malaysian women's movement, this study provides an in-depth account of the multiple struggles of the Malaysian women's movement from securing gender equality in a patriarchal society to achieving unity among members of a multi-ethnic society that are further divided along class and religious lines. Most historical versions of national struggles have created icons out of male figures. The authors of this book have provided a corrective to this. They detail the importance of the role of the women's movement led by numerous unsung personalities in promoting social change in Malaysia. The book centres on a crucial argument that in the context of an ethnically fragmented post-colonial authoritarian society, an autonomous woman movement which began in the early eighties had actually achieved significant political success. However, the study observes that by the late 1990s, feminist issues were also readily appropriated by the state and the market and also suggests that the emergence of market feminism poses specific challenges for the future of the Malaysian women's movement. This thorough and engaging account of feminism and the women's movement in Malaysia will capture the interest of scholars, policy makers and activists.

Women in Governing Institutions in South Asia Nizam Ahmed, 2017-08-24. This edited volume examines policies aimed at increasing the representation of women in governing institutions in six South Asian countries. Divided into three parts, it addresses the implications of uniformity and diversity for the substantive representation of women in parliament, civil service and local government. The contributing authors explore the scope and limits of positive discriminatory policies within distinct country contexts and the implications of the lack of such policies in other countries Their findings shed new light on the extent to which the higher presence of women in different governing institutions matters particularly in respect of promoting women s issues and also on the way men and women in different governing institutions look upon each other s roles and adopt strategies for mutual adjustment This innovative collection will appeal to students and scholars of gender studies public policy and administration international relations law and political science

Women Representation in Governance in Nigeria Prof. Abubakar O. Sulaiman,2025-06-16 Despite accounting for 49 47% of the Nigerian population progress towards gender equity and women s empowerment in Nigeria has remained low in contrast to the Sustainable Development Goals SDG Target 5 5 In light of this NILDS under the leadership of Prof Abubakar O Sulaiman and with support from the management of the National Assembly is creating a platform for intellectual discourse and engagements on women socio economic and political empowerment The NILDS International Conference on Women in Governance provided a platform for experts government officials policymakers and other relevant stakeholder across Africa to discuss the challenges that women face in political participation and governance in Nigeria and Africa at large This ultimately led to this evidence based scientific reader that contributes to the corpus of literature in Africa

Governing Women Anne Marie Goetz,2009-01-13 Though the proportion of women in national assemblies still barely scrapes 16% on average the striking outliers Rwanda with 49% of its assembly female Argentina with 35% Liberia and Chile with new women presidents this year have raised expectations that there is an upward trend in women s representation from which we may expect big changes in the quality of governance But getting women into public office is just the first step in the challenge of creating governance and accountability systems that respond to women s needs and protect their rights Using case studies from around the world the essays in this volume consider the conditions for effective connections between women in civil society and women in politics for the evolution of political party platforms responsive to women s interests for local government arrangements that enable women to engage effectively and for accountability mechanisms that answer to women The book s argument is that good governance from a gender perspective requires more than more women in politics It requires fundamental incentive changes to orient public action and policy to support gender equality
