Innovation and the Arms Race Matthew

Evangelista, 2023-08-15 Innovation and the Arms Race investigates the causes and mechanisms of the technological arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union Challenging the commonly held notion that Soviet weapons innovation processes simply mirror those of the United States Matthew Evangelista shows that the United States usually leads in introducing new military technology while the Soviets typically react to American initiatives Evangelista bases his study of pivotal nuclear weapons development decisions on a variety of US and USSR primary sources including the memoirs of weapons designers and scientists declassified intelligence analyses Soviet Academy of Science documents and Nikita Khrushchev's taped reminiscences He finds that in the United States impetus for innovation comes from the bottom at the initiative of corporate or government researchers and military officials whereas the centralized Soviet system produces innovations from the top in response to foreign developments A revelatory analysis of US military policy Soviet American relations and weaponry development Innovation and the Arms Race bears lessons for the study of great power competition and military innovation today Target America Steve Zaloga, 1993 From the development of the A bomb and the role of espionage surrounding it to the dire environmental consequences of its nuclear power program the development of nuclear technology and weaponry in the former Soviet Union is impressively researched in this important pioneering study

Rivals: The U.S., Soviet Union, and the Arms Race Frank Green, 2024-12-18 Imagine a world on the precipice of annihilation where the fate of humanity hangs in the balance of a single miscalculation This is the world of the Cold War where two superpowers the United States and the Soviet Union engaged in a deadly game of brinkmanship fuelled by suspicion paranoia and the relentless pursuit of ultimate power This book delves into the heart of this terrifying period exploring the escalating arms race that threatened to engulf the world in nuclear fire It unveils the complex strategies technological breakthroughs and ideological clashes that shaped this tumultuous era Step into the secret laboratories and war rooms witness the development of awe inspiring weapons like the hydrogen bomb and understand the psychological impact of living under the constant threat of mutually assured destruction The book reveals the human stories behind the political machinations showcasing the lives of scientists politicians and ordinary citizens caught in the crossfire of this global conflict It examines the motivations behind the arms race dissecting the intricate web of fears and ambitions that drove both superpowers towards the brink But beyond the dangers it also explores the unintended consequences like the rise of global nuclear proliferation and the enduring legacy of mistrust that still casts a shadow over international relations today Through meticulously researched accounts and captivating narratives this book offers a compelling and insightful look into the Cold

War arms race It is a reminder of the fragility of peace and the enduring human capacity for both innovation and destruction

The Arms Race and Sino-Soviet Relations Walter C. Clemens, 1968 Target America Steven J. Zaloga, 1993-06-01

Provides a detailed examination of how the former Soviet Union became a superpower Takes the reader step by step through the development of Soviet nuclear weapons technology and the development of the systems needed to deliver those weapons to targets in the U S Drawing on secret recently declassified Soviet documents and articles as well as recent revelations from KGB and CIA files Zaloga sheds new light on the role of Klaus Fuchs and the Rosenbergs the so called atomic spies of the late 40s and early 50s A chapter on the 1962 Cuban missile crisis provides a unique perspective on that critical Cold War showdown Photos

The Second Superpower Gerard Holden, 1985 Arsenals of Folly Richard Rhodes, 2007-10-09

Pulitzer Prize winning author Richard Rhodes delivers a riveting account of the nuclear arms race and the Cold War In the Reagan Gorbachev era the United States and the Soviet Union came within minutes of nuclear war until Gorbachev boldly launched a campaign to eliminate nuclear weapons setting the stage for the 1986 Reykjavik summit and the incredible events that followed In this thrilling authoritative narrative Richard Rhodes draws on personal interviews with both Soviet and U S participants and a wealth of new documentation to unravel the compelling shocking story behind this monumental time in human history its beginnings its nearly chilling consequences and its effects on global politics today

Khrushchev and the Arms Race Lincoln P. Bloomfield, Walter C. Clemens, Franklyn Griffiths, 1966 Stalin and the Bomb David Holloway, 1994-01-01

Stalin and the Bomb represents a comprehensive history of Soviet nuclear policy from developments in physics in the 1920s to the emergence of nuclear deterrence in the 1950s The author looks at how the bombs were built and the role that espionage played

The Arms Race John Turner, 1988 The Nuclear Years Chalmers McGeagh Roberts, 1970

Nuclear Proliferation, the Military-Industrial Complex, and the Arms Race Kaitlyn Duling, 2017-07-15

The Cold War introduced new military arsenal weapons of mass destruction The United States and the Soviet Union invested billions of dollars into the development of sophisticated and destructive weapons Creating a dangerous military arsenal became another objective After the Soviet Union detonated its first atomic bomb the United States tested the first hydrogen bomb This book examines how nuclear proliferation and the arms race influenced the trajectory of the Cold War

Arms in the '80s John Turner, Stockholm International Peace Research Institute, 2020-11-19

In the 1980s the world spent an enormous amount on preparations for war Year by year more and more resources went into the military sector More and more complex weapon systems were devised At the time of all research scientists and engineers in the world more than one in four was working for the military Throughout the 40 years since the end of World War II the technological arms race continued Then began moving faster The United States lead the way followed by the Soviet Union Between them they possessed some 50 000 nuclear warheads more than enough to destroy the world They planned to increase the number to make the weapons more accurate and to base them on new weapon platforms closer to the borders of the other side Some people preferred not to think about these things Many however were becoming increasingly concerned wondering about the future for themselves and for their children Originally published in 1985 this book was for those who wanted to know what was happening What new missiles were being built What was happening in outer space What are the facts about chemical weapons What progress was being made if any in Geneva Vienna and Stockholm where the powers were negotiating on these matters Weapons of Peace Craig E. Blohm, 2003 Discusses the development of nuclear weapons the race for nuclear supremacy deployment of these weapons during the Cold War and disarmament Arms Races in International Politics Thomas Mahnken, Joseph Maiolo, David Stevenson, 2016-01-14 This volume provides the first comprehensive history of the arms racing phenomenon in modern international politics drawing both on theoretical approaches and on the latest historical research Written by an international team of specialists it is divided into four sections before 1914 the inter war years the Cold War and extra European and post Cold War arms races Twelve case studies examine land and naval armaments before the First World War air land and naval competition during the 1920s and 1930s and nuclear as well as conventional weapons since 1945 Armaments policies are placed within the context of technological development international politics and diplomacy and social politics and economics An extended general introduction and conclusion and introductions to each section provide coherence between the specialized chapters and draw out wider implications for policymakers and for political scientists Arms Races in International Politics addresses two key questions what causes arms races and what is the connection between arms races and the outbreak of wars The Other Side of Arms Control Alan B. Sherr, 2020-11-19 How does the Soviet Union view the costs and benefits of nuclear arms control What factors motivate Soviet negotiations with the Western world on this crucial issue And what precisely does the Soviet Union hope to accomplish through nuclear arms control Originally published in 1988 The Other Side of Arms Control provides an in depth examination of this too infrequently discussed aspect of the arms race and the ongoing negotiations to halt it In The Other Side of Arms Control Alan B Sherr argues that the time is now right for significant substantive progress to be made on nuclear arms control the Soviet leadership under Mikhail Gorbachev has demonstrated greater flexibility and willingness to compromise on a number of difficult issues including verification But more important circumstances within and outside the Soviet Union now make progress on arms control crucial to Soviet political and economic goals as well as foreign policy objectives Written in accessible nontechnical language The Other Side of Arms Control will be of historical interest to students teachers policymakers and others concerned with the future of nuclear arms control
