Women Scientists In Fifties Science Fiction Films:

Women Scientists in Fifties Science Fiction Films Bonnie Noonan, 2015-02-18 In the 1950s science was rapidly advancing and so were scientific opportunities for women. Modern science fiction films reflected these simultaneous social developments. This book proposes that the social ideology of the 1950s, which was partly concerned with gender issues, saturated the B science fiction films of that era and inspired a new appreciation for the role of women in scientific advancements and other social achievements. Drawing on feminist literary and cultural theory, the author argues that the emergence of the modern American science fiction film in 1950 and the situation of post World War II female scientists together created a film genre. That genre was explicitly amenable to exploring the tension between a woman's place in her home and her place in the work force, particularly in scientific fields. Early chapters provide a general introduction to the science fiction genre and specifically describe 1950s B science fiction films as they resonate with concerns proper to feminist theory. Subsequent chapters offer detailed historically situated readings of 10 B science fiction films from the 1950s that feature women in science. The cinematic representations of female scientists are compared and contrasted with real female professionals of the time, illuminating the changing gender dynamics reflected in popular film in the 1950s. Films analyzed include Rocketship X, M It Came from Beneath the Sea, Them, Tarantula, The Deadly Mantis, Beginning of the End, Kronos, Cat Women of the Moon, World Without End, and Queen of Outer Space. Gender in Science Fiction Films, 1964-1979 Bonnie Noonan, 2015-06-15 The 1950s era of science fiction film effectively ended when space flight became a reality with the first manned orbit of Earth in 1962. As the genre's wildly speculative depictions of science and technology gave way to more reality-based representations, relations between male and female characters reflected the changing political and social climates of the era. Drawing on critical analyses, film reviews, and cultural commentaries, this book examines the development of science fiction film and its representations of gender from the groundbreaking films of 1968, including 2001: A Space Odyssey, Barbarella, and Planet of the Apes, through its often overlooked Middle Period, which includes such films as Colossus: The Forbin Project (1970), The Stepford Wives (1975), and A Boy and His Dog (1975). The author examines intersections of gender and race in The Omega Man (1971) and Frogs (1972), gender and dystopia in Soylent Green (1973) and Logan's Run (1976), and gender and computers in Demon Seed (1977). The big budget films of the late 1970s, Close Encounters of the Third Kind, Alien, and Star Wars, are also discussed. Masculinity in Contemporary Science Fiction Cinema Marianne Kac-Vergne, 2017-12-14 If science fiction stages the battle between humans and non-humans, whether alien or machine, who is elected to fight for us? In the classics of science fiction cinema, humanity is nearly always represented by a male, and until recently, a white male. Spanning landmark American films from Blade Runner to Avatar, this major new study offers the first ever analysis of masculinity in science fiction cinema. It uncovers the evolution of masculine heroes from the 1980s until the present day and the roles played by their feminine counterparts. Considering gender alongside racial and class politics, Masculinity in Contemporary Science Fiction Cinema also situates filmic examples within the broader culture. It is indispensable for understanding science fiction and its role in contemporary cultural politics. Science Fiction Cinema and 1950s Britain Matthew Jones, 2017-11-30. For the last sixty years discussion of 1950s science fiction cinema has been dominated by claims that the genre reflected US paranoia about Soviet brainwashing and the nuclear bomb. However classic films such as Invasion of the Body Snatchers 1956 and It Came from Outer Space 1953 and less familiar productions such as It The Terror from Beyond Space 1958 were regularly exported to countries across the world. The histories of their encounters with foreign audiences have not yet been told. Science Fiction Cinema and 1950s Britain begins this task by recounting the story of 1950s British cinema goers and the aliens and monsters they watched on the silver screen. Drawing on extensive archival research Matthew Jones makes an exciting and important intervention by locating American science fiction films alongside their domestic counterparts in their British contexts of release and reception. He offers a radical reassessment of the genre demonstrating for the first time that in Britain which was a significant market for and producer of science fiction these films gave voice to different fears than they did in America. While Americans experienced an economic boom low immigration and the conferring of statehood on Alaska and Hawaii Britons worried about economic uncertainty mass immigration and the dissolution of the Empire. Science Fiction Cinema and 1950s Britain uses these and other differences between the British and American experiences of the 1950s to tell a new history of the decade's science fiction cinema exploring for the first time the ways in which the genre came to mean something unique to Britons. 100 Science Fiction Films Barry Keith Grant, 2019-07-25. A comprehensive guide to science fiction films which analyzes and contextualizes the most important examples of the genre from Un voyage dans la lune 1902 to The Road 2009. Smart Chicks on Screen Laura Mattoon D'Amore, 2014-09-08. While women have long been featured in leading roles in film and television the intellectual depictions of female characters in these mediums are out of line with reality. Women continue to be marginalized for their choices overshadowed by men and judged by their bodies. In fact the intelligence of women is rarely the focus of television or film narratives and on the rare occasion when smart women are showcased their portrayals are undermined by socially awkward behavior or their intimate relationships are doomed to perpetual failure. While Hollywood claims to offer a different more evolved look at women these movies and shows often just repackage old character types that still downplay the intelligence and savvy of women. In Smart Chicks on Screen: Representing Women's Intellect in Film and Television Laura Mattoon D'Amore brings together an impressive array of scholarship that interrogates the portrayal of females on television and in movies. Among the questions that the volume seeks to answer are: In what ways are women in film and television limited or ostracized by their intelligence? How do female roles reinforce standards of beauty submissiveness and silence over intellect problem solving and leadership? Are there women in film and television who are intelligent without also being objectified? The thirteen essays by international interdisciplinary scholars offer a wide range of perspectives examining the connections and disconnections between beauty and brains in film and television Smart Chicks on Screen will be of interest to scholars not only of film and television but of women's studies reception studies and cultural history as well

The Eternal Future of the 1950s Dennis R. Cutchins, Dennis R. Perry, 2023-07-07 Science fiction cinema once relegated to the undervalued B movie slot has become one of the dominant film genres of the 21st century with Hollywood alone producing more than 400 science fiction films annually Many of these owe a great deal of their success to the films of one defining decade the 1950s Essays in this book explore how classic 50s science fiction films have been recycled repurposed and reused in the decades since their release Tropes from Don Siegel's Invasion of the Body Snatchers 1956 for instance have found surprising new life in Netflix's wildly popular Stranger Things Interstellar 2014 and Arrival 2016 have clear though indirect roots in the iconic 1950s science fictions films Rocketship X M 1950 and The Day the Earth Stood Still 1951 and The Shape of Water 2017 openly recalls and reworks the major premises of The Creature From the Black Lagoon 1954 Essays also cover 1950's sci fi influences on video game franchises like Fallout Bioshock and Wolfenstein

American Science Fiction Film and Television Lincoln Geraghty, 2009-12-15 American Science Fiction Film and Television presents a critical history of late 20th Century SF together with an analysis of the cultural and thematic concerns of this popular genre Science fiction film and television were initially inspired by the classic literature of H G Wells and Jules Verne The potential and fears born with the Atomic age fuelled the popularity of the genre upping the stakes for both technology and apocalypse From the Cold War through to America's current War on Terror science fiction has proved a subtle vehicle for the hopes fears and preoccupations of a nation at war The definitive introduction to American science fiction this book is also the first study to analyze SF across both film and TV Throughout the discussion is illustrated with critical case studies of key films and television series including The Day the Earth Stood Still Planet of the Apes Star Trek The Next Generation The X Files and Battlestar Galactica

1950s "Rocketman" TV Series and Their Fans C. Miller, A. Van Riper, 2012-08-30 The fourteen essays featured here focus on series such as Space Patrol Tom Corbett and Captain Z Ro exploring their roles in the day to day lives of their fans through topics such as mentoring promotion of the real world space program merchandising gender issues and ranger clubs all the while promoting the fledgling medium of television

Film Genre Reader IV Barry Keith Grant, 2012-12-01 From reviews of the third edition Film Genre Reader III lives up to the high expectations set by its predecessors providing an accessible and relatively comprehensive look at genre studies The anthology's consideration of the advantages and challenges of genre studies as well as its inclusion of various film genres and methodological approaches presents a pedagogically useful overview Scope Since 1986 Film Genre Reader has been the standard reference and classroom text for the study of genre in film with more than 25 000 copies sold Barry Keith Grant has again revised and updated the book to reflect the most recent developments in genre study This fourth edition adds new essays on genre definition and cycles action movies science fiction and heritage films along with a comprehensive and updated bibliography The volume includes more than thirty essays by some of film's most distinguished critics and scholars of popular cinema including Charles Ramírez Berg, John G. Cawelti, Celestino Deleyto, David Desser, Thomas Elsaesser, Steve Neale, Thomas Schatz, Paul Schrader, Vivian Sobchack, Janet Staiger, Linda Williams, and Robin Wood.
