Zooarchaeology Medieval Iberian Archaeological International:

The Archaeology of Iberia Margarita Diaz-Andreu, Simon Keay, 2013-12-02 For many archaeologists Iberia is the last great unknown region in Europe Although it occupies a crucial position between South Western Europe and North Africa academic attention has traditionally been focused on areas like Greece or Italy However Iberia has an equally rich cultural heritage and archaeological tradition This ground breaking volume presents a sample of the ways in which archaeologists have applied theoretical frameworks to the interpretation of archaeological evidence offering new insights into the archaeology of both Iberia and Europe from prehistoric time through to the tenth century The contributors to this book are leading archaeologists drawn from both countries They offer innovative and challenging models for the Paleolithic Neolithic Copper Age Bronze Age Iron Age Roman Early Medieval and Islamic periods A diverse range of subjects are covered including urban transformation the Iron Age peoples of Spain observations on historiography and the origins of the Arab domains of Al Andalus It is essential reading for advanced undergraduates and those researching the archaeology of the Iberian Peninsula

Mediterranean Landscapes in Post Antiquity Sauro Gelichi, Lauro Olmo-Enciso, 2019-06-27 The study of landscape has in recent years been a field for considerable analytical archaeological experimentation Although the Mediterranean is the home of classicism it has seen the implementation of projects of this new kind and in regions of Spain and Italy after some delay the proliferation of landscape archaeology studies

International Handbook of Underwater Archaeology Carol V. Ruppe, Jane F. Barstad, 2013-11-11 Although underwater archaeology has assumed its rightful place as an important subdiscipline in the field the published literature has not kept pace with the rapid increase in the number of both prehistoric and historic underwater sites The editors have assembled an internationally distinguished roster of contributors to fill this gap In addition to both geographical and topical approaches the chapters also focus on technology law public and private institutional roles and goals and the research and development of future technologies and public programs

Agrarian Archaeology in Northwestern Iberia Juan Antonio Quirós Castillo, 2023-04-06 Devoted to the archaeological study of the societies and agrarian landscapes of Northwestern Iberia in the longue dur e this book brings together the results of some of the main projects carried out in recent decades from off site records providing a fresh perspective for the understanding of historical landscapes

The Oxford Handbook of Later Medieval Archaeology in Britain Christopher Gerrard, Alejandra Gutiérrez, 2018-01-11 The Middle Ages are all around us in Britain The Tower of London and the castles of Scotland and Wales are mainstays of cultural tourism and an inspiring cross section of later medieval finds can now be seen on display in museums across England Scotland and Wales Medieval institutions from Parliament and monarchy to universities are familiar to us and we come into contact with the later Middle Ages every day when we drive through a village or town look up at the castle on the hill visit a local church or wonder about the earthworks in the fields we see from the window of a train The Oxford Handbook of Later Medieval Archaeology in Britain provides an overview of the archaeology of the later Middle Ages in Britain between AD 1066 and 1550 61 entries divided into 10 thematic sections cover topics ranging from later medieval objects human remains archaeological science standing buildings and sites such as castles and monasteries to the well preserved relict landscapes which still survive This is a rich and exciting period of the past and most of what we have learnt about the material culture of our medieval past has been discovered in the past two generations This volume provides comprehensive coverage of the latest research and describes the major projects and concepts that are changing our understanding of our medieval heritage

The Archaeology of Peasantry in Roman Spain Jesús Bermejo Tirado, Ignasi Grau Mira, 2022-01-19 This volume aims to present an updated portrait of the Roman countryside in Roman Spain by the comparison of different theoretical orientations and methodological strategies including the discussion of textual and iconographic sources and the analysis of the faunal remains The archaeology of rural areas of the Roman world has traditionally been focused on the study of villae both as an architectural model of Roman otium and as the central core of an economic system based on the extensive agricultural exploitation of latifundia The assimilation of most rural settlements in provincial areas of the Roman Empire with the villa model implies the acceptance of specific ideas such as the generalization of the slave mode of production the rupture of the productive capacity of Late Iron Age communities or the reduction in importance of free peasant labor in the Roman economy of most rural areas However in recent decades as a consequence of the generalized extension of preventive or emergency archaeology and survey projects in most areas of the ancient territories of the Roman Empire this traditional conception of the Roman countryside articulated around monumental villae is undergoing a thorough revision New research projects are changing our current perception of the countryside of most parts of the Roman provincial world by assessing the importance of different types of rural settlements In the last years we have witnessed the publication of archaeological reports on the excavation of thousands of small rural sites farms farmsteads enclosures rural agglomerations of diverse nature etc One of the main consequences of all this research activity is a vigorous discussion of the paradigm of the slave mode of production as the basis of Roman rural economies in many provincial areas A similar change in the paradigm is taking place with some delay in the archaeology of Roman Spain After decades of preventive emergency interventions there is a considerable quantity of unpublished data on this kind of rural settlements However unlike the cases of Roman Britain or Gallia Comata no synthesis or national projects are undertaking the task of systematizing all these data With the intention of addressing this current situation the present volume discusses the results and methodological strategies of different projects studying peasant settlements in several regions of Roman

Spain International Handbook of Historical Archaeology Teresita Majewski, David Gaimster, 2009-06-07 In studying the past archaeologists have focused on the material remains of our ancestors Prehistorians generally have only artifacts to study and rely on the diverse material record for their understanding of past societies and their behavior Those involved in studying historically documented cultures not only have extensive material remains but also contemporary texts images and a range of investigative technologies to enable them to build a broader and more reflexive picture of how past societies communities and individuals operated and behaved Increasingly historical archaeology refers not to a particular period place or a method but rather an approach that interrogates the tensions between artifacts and texts irrespective of context In short historical archaeology provides direct evidence for how humans have shaped the world we live in today Historical archaeology is a branch of global archaeology that has grown in the last 40 years from its North American base into an increasingly global community of archaeologists each studying their area of the world in a historical context Where historical archaeology started as part of the study of the post Columbian societies of the United States and Canada it has now expanded to interface with the post medieval archaeologies of Europe and the diverse post imperial experiences of Africa Latin America and Australasia The 36 essays in the International Handbook of Historical Archaeology have been specially commissioned from the leading researchers in their fields creating a wide ranging digest of the increasingly global field of historical archaeology The volume is divided into two sections the first reviewing the key themes issues and approaches of historical archaeology today and the second containing a series of case studies charting the development and current state of historical archaeological practice around the world This key reference work captures the energy and diversity of this global discipline today

Archaeology of East Asian Shipbuilding Jun Kimura, 2016-04-12 North American Society for Oceanic History John Lyman Book Award in Naval and Maritime Reference Works and Published Primary Sources Honorable Mention In this innovative study Jun Kimura integrates historical data with archaeological findings to examine a wide array of eleventh through nineteenth century ships from China Korea and Japan Chinese junks and Japanese sailing ships were known throughout the world and this work illustrates why their innovative designs have survived the centuries Kimura presents an extensive dataset of excavated coastal and oceangoing ships that traveled the Yellow Sea the East China Sea and the South China Sea Three detailed case studies include the Shinan and Quanzhou wrecks and the Takashima underwater site Using travel documents cargo manifests iconographic paintings and other descriptive resources as well as the archaeological evidence of hull components wooden timbers and iron remains Kimura sheds new light on East Asian shipbuilding traditions

Islamization and Archaeology José C. Carvajal López, 2023-05-04 This fresh approach to the study of Islamization proposes an innovative conceptual framework that treats the subject as a particular case of cultural change The aim of the volume is to make Islamization amenable to archaeological and historical analyses of changes in material conditions of life without forsaking the specific history of Islam Islam and Islamization must be understood in their particular social context

but also in relation to the conditions that hold them together over large geographical and chronological expanses Archaeologists and historians have considered Islamization from a range of different perspectives from conversion to cultural change though these studies have tended to be underpinned by a normativist conception of Islam In contrast Jos C Carvajal Lopez takes a hermeneutical stance wherein Islam is the result of exploration and adopts a New Materialist theoretical analysis to explore Islamization and its impact on identities communities and their material culture The consequences for the study of Islamization are examined through examples that include some of the author's own experiences This innovative take on Islamization is not exclusively interested in the spread of the religion or of the polity and therefore it overcomes the theoretical limits imposed by the concepts of religious conversion and ideological imposition This book will appeal to scholars interested in associating cultural and religious change and in particular those working on Islam whether within or outside the discipline of archaeology

The Pepper Wreck Filipe Vieira de Castro, 2005-03-21 In 1606 a Portuguese ship Nossa Senhora dos M rtires put into Lisbon laden with peppercorns porcelain and other products from Cochín A large vessel for the time the merchantman displaced twelve hundred tons and carried three to four masts The ship foundered during a storm in a northern channel of the Tagus River Within hours the currents and the storm had torn it asunder and spread its precious cargo along the shores of the estuary The Pepper Wreck tells the story of the ship s excavation by crews working in cold water and fast currents between 1997 and 2000 four centuries after Nossa Senhora dos M rtires went down Author Filipe Vieira de Castro discusses the nautical history of Iberia with special attention to shipbuilding and the development of the nau a type of round ship used by the Portuguese on routes to the East He also considers life aboard the ships describing a typical menu musing on the incidence of disease and distinguishing the privileges of the different social classes and the perquisites the more privileged enjoyed Turning to the excavation of the ship Castro describes the site the shifting laws governing archaeology in the region and the fast currents that limited divers to working during ebb tides The objects found with the wreck from pottery to astrolabes contribute substantially to knowledge of early modern shipbuilding techniques Valuable to historians of seafaring and of Iberia and to those interested in Portuguese trade with the East Indies this carefully wrought and generously illustrated volume is a veritable treasure trove for archaeologists

Social complexity in early medieval rural communities Juan Antonio Quirós Castillo, 2016-12-31 This book presents an overview of the results of the research project DESPAMED funded by the Spanish Minister of Economy and Competitiveness The aim of the book is to discuss the theoretical challenges posed by the study of social inequality and social complexity in early medieval peasant communities in North western Iberia

The Oxford Handbook of Industrial Archaeology Eleanor Casella, Michael Nevell, Hanna Steyne, 2022 Through international and multi period chapters this volume explores the origins and development of industrialization from its emergence in 18th century Europe to its contemporary ubiquity It interrogates the widespread exploitation of natural resources that forged industrialization and its environmental and social legacy in our globalized world

Historical Archaeologies of Transhumance across Europe Eugene Costello, Eva Svensson, 2018-03-05 Transhumance is a form of pastoralism that has been practised around the world since animals were first domesticated Such seasonal movements have formed an important aspect of many European farming systems for several thousand years although they have declined markedly since the nineteenth century Ethnographers and geographers have long been involved in recording transhumant practices and in the last two decades archaeologists have started to add a new material dimension to the subject This volume brings together recent advances in the study of European transhumance during historical times from Sweden to Spain Romania to Ireland and beyond that even Newfoundland While the focus is on the archaeology of seasonal sites used by shepherds and cowherds the contributions exhibit a high degree of interdisciplinarity Documentary cartographic ethnographic and palaeoecological evidence all play a part in the examination of seasonal movement and settlement in medieval and post medieval landscapes Notwithstanding the obvious diversity across Europe in terms of livestock distances travelled and socio economic context an extended introduction to the volume shows that cross cutting themes are now emerging including mobility gendered herding collective land use the agency of non elite people and competition for grazing and markets The book will appeal not only to archaeologists but to historians geographers ethnographers palaeoecologists and anyone interested in rural lifeways across Europe

The Archaeology of the 11th Century Dawn M Hadley, Christopher Dyer, 2017-02-10 The Archaeology of the 11th Century explores this formative period of English history and in particular the impact of the Conquest of England by the Normans The volume examines how the Normans contributed to local culture religion and society through a range of topics including food culture funerary practices the development of castles and their impact and how both urban and rural life evolved during the eleventh century Through its nuanced approach to the complex relationships and regional identities which characterized the period this collection stimulates renewed debate and challenges some of the long standing myths surrounding the Conquest
