Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons, 1915 Contains the 4th session of the 28th Parliament through the 1st session of the 48th Parliament Fatal Attractions, Abjection, and the Self in Literature from the Restoration to the Romantics Laura Alexander, 2019-03-18 This book examines Julia Kristeva's theory of abjection in several works by early British writers from the Restoration to the Romantic era This period saw an increased emphasis on understanding the self Poems with anxious speakers or narratives featuring characters with considerable psychic pressures emerged as writers responded to ideas on consciousness by natural philosophers The pursuit of self knowledge also reached greater imaginative depths inspiring new artistic movements including sensibility with its attention to expressions of the suffering self and the Gothic a mode of art that examines the self's deepest fears Romantic writers theorized about artistic genius creating a cult of the self that has never left us Kristeva offers a more complete psychoanalytic vocabulary for understanding the self's unconscious motivations in literature written during this period and this book provides readers interested in early British literature philosophy and literary theory with a constructive perspective for thinking about literary depictions of the self in crisis Representing Religious Pluralization in Early Modern Europe Andreas Höfele, 2007 The title of this volume indicates more than a referential relationship Representing Religious Pluralization entails not just the various ways in which the historical processes of pluralization were reflected in texts and other cultural artefacts but also crucially the cultural work that spawned these processes. Reflecting driving, shaping, and subverting religious systems, representation becomes a divisive force in Reformation Europe as religious pluralization erupts in a contest over how to conceive, to symbolize, and to perform religious belief. The essays in this book offer a broad range of perspectives on the pluralizing effects of cultural representation as well as on the various attempts at containing them.
