Traditional Houses Of Rural Britain:

Traditional Houses of Rural Britain Matthew Rice, 1991 Encyclopedia of Traditional British Rural Sports Tony Collins, John Martin, Wray Vamplew, 2005 Providing a social economic and political study of field sports and those other activities and customs labelled as rural sports from the earliest of times to the present day in all of the United Kingdom and Ireland This book brings together several distinct types of traditional rural sports with particular emphasis on the social history and traditional aspects It contains several hundred entries focusing on individual sports and others providing analysis of key concepts themes and terminologies The Encyclopedia of Traditional British Rural Sports is an invaluable reference that provides students scholars and sports enthusiasts with a focussed and authoritative source of information on the history and culture of rural sport in Britain Housebuilding in Britain's Countryside Mark Shucksmith, 1990 Examines the controversial issue of whether looser planning controls are necessary in order to provide affordable housing or whether we should protect the countryside from urban encroachment Traditional Buildings Allen Noble, 2009-09-18 Based on a lifelong professional and personal interest Traditional Buildings presents a unique survey of vernacular architecture across the globe The reader is taken on a fascinating tour of traditional building around the world which includes the loess cave homes of central China the stilt houses on the shores of Dahomey the housebarns of Europe and North America the wind towers of Iran the Bohio houses of the Arawak Indians of the Caribbean and much more Professor s Noble s extensive travels have allowed him to examine many of the building at close quarters and the richly illustrated text includes photographs from his personal collection With its comprehensive and detailed bibliography the work will be welcomed by experts and non specialists alike English Houses 1300-1800 Matthew. H Johnson, 2014-06-11 Houses are more than a shelter from the elements they also offer an unparalleled insight into the beliefs ideas and experiences of the people who built and lived in them In this engaging book Matthew Johnson looks at the traditional houses that still exist throughout the English countryside and examines the lives of the ordinary people who once occupied them His wide ranging narrative takes in the medieval hall and the community it framed the rebuilding and improvement of houses in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries and the rise of the Georgian Order in both architecture and eighteenth century culture This passionate book is animated by the conviction that old houses are much more than just pretty tableaux of an idyllic unchanging rural England Vernacular houses are compared to their larger polite counterparts and English houses are placed in the wider context of the British Isles and the Atlantic world beyond The result is a dynamic compelling account of the development of houses in the English countryside and through this a portrait of changing patterns of social life from medieval to modern times Richly illustrated throughout with photographs and drawings this book will be of interest to anyone who wants to understand the significance of our built heritage and the historic landscape The Literary and Cultural Spaces of Restoration London Cynthia Wall, 1998 In September 1666 the Great Fire destroyed four fifths of the ancient City of London within three days All that had been familiar settled known was suddenly and entirely swept away Londoners faced an emptiness that was not only physical but also historical social financial and conceptual The Literary and Cultural Spaces of Restoration London is the first study to situate the literature of Restoration and early Augustan England within the historical and cultural contexts of the rebuilding of London after the Great Fire Cynthia Wall relates the marked topographical specificity of plays poems and novels to a wider cultural network of responses to changing perceptions of urban space and she shows how the literatures of the period along with the surveying mapping rebuilding and official redescribing of the city attempt to reinvest the city with comprehensible meaning and create new spaces for new genres

Women's Periodicals and Print Culture in Britain, 1918-1939 Catherine Clay, 2017-11-22 This collection of new essays recovers and explores a neglected archive of women's print media and dispels the myth of the interwar decades as a retreat to home and duty for women Britain 1740 - 1950

Richard Lawton, Colin Pooley, 2021-12-02 Originally published in 1992 this book provides students with a well illustrated clearly written text which offers a coherent overview of Britain's development from a pre modern to a modern economy and society The key processes that have shaped the geography of modern Britain are rooted in the significant demographic economic technological and social transitions of the early eighteenth century the impact of which was not fully diffused through the nation until the mid 20th Century This country wide survey examines the nature of this transformation The material in the book is accessible because the book is clearly structured into 3 phases 1740 to the 1830s the 1830s to the 1890s and the 1890s to 1950 For each period the principal aspects of change in population industry the countryside and urban life are examined and regional examples given to support the analysis Agriculture in Britain, 1949 British Speeches of the Day British Information Services, 1945
