What does Ian McEwan have in common with Barbara Kingsolver? Or The Shack's William Paul Young with The Way the Crow Flies? Ann Marie MacDonald. All four spent significant portions of their formative years overseas as expatriates; all four are third culture kids. These authors share experiences of cultural and geographical displacement that fracture constructions of home and identity as their fiction attests. This study surveys 17 authors with expat backgrounds to define third culture literature, a burgeoning yet unrecognized branch of international writing characterized by expressions of dislocation, loss, and disenfranchisement. By explicating how the shared cultural details of these writers emerge in literary themes and images, this work introduces third culture literature as a separate field, reinterpreting the work of major writers from across the globe.

Doris Lessing Alice Ridout, Susan Watkins, 2011-10-20 Despite winning the Nobel Prize for Literature Doris Lessing has received relatively little critical attention One of the reasons for this is that Lessing has spent much of her lifetime and her long published writing career crossing both national and ideological borders This essay collection reflects and explores the incredible variety of Lessing s border crossings and positions her writing in its various social and cultural contexts Lessing crosses literal national borders in her life and work but more controversial have been her crossings of genre borders into sci fi and space fiction and her crossing of ideological borders such as moving into and out of the Communist Party and from a colonial into a post colonial world This timely collection also considers a number of the most interesting recent critical and theoretical approaches to Lessing s writing including work on maternity and abjection in relation to The Fifth Child and The Grass is Singing eco criticism in Lessing s Ifrakan novels and postcolonial re writings of landscape in her African Stories The Year China Changed Tom Scovel,2013
